NEWSPAPER MEN CALLED BY JURY IN LINGLE QUIZ

Russell and Stege Also Summoned.

$55,825 IN REWARDS.

Rewards totaling $55,825 are offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Alfred Lingle, Tribune reporter. Of the $25,000 reward offered by The Tribune, $10,000 will be paid to any person who will give confidential information identifying the slayer of Lingle. All information should be sent to the headquarters established by State's Attorney Swanson in room 503 Temple building, 77 West Washington street. Telephone State 3729.

The grand jury, inquiring into some circumstances of the Lingle murder case and into charges of racketeering made against several Chicago newspaper men by a St. Louis reporter, today will hear further testimony from newspaper men and from police officials.

The grand jurors, in inviting the witnesses, gave no details as to the reasons impelling the invitations, but it was recognized that some were called to explain their own affairs, and others to discuss phases of the Lingle inquiry.

Three witnesses were heard yesterday. They are Robert M. Lee, city editor of THE TRIBUNE; Harry C. Read, city editor of the Chicago Evening American, and Harry Reutlinger, an assistant to Mr. Read.

Others to Appear Today.

Witnesses summoned for today are Walter A. Strong, publisher of the Chicago Daily News; Leland H. Reese, gangland reporter for the News; Richard J. Finnegan, managing editor of the Daily Illustrated Times; William H. Stuart, political editor of the Chicago Evening American; Ted Tod, crime reporter for the Chicago Herald and Examiner; Roscoe Conkling (Duffy) Cornell, circulation manager for the Herald and Examiner; Capt. William F. Russell, former commissioner of police, and Capt. John Stege, former chief of detectives.

Samuel Ettelson, corporation counsel, also was invited, but he had previously arranged to leave the city over the week-end and the jurors notified him he need not appear until Monday. An effort is being made to notify Jimmy Murphy, veteran police reporter, formerly with the Times, of the jury's request that he appear, but Murphy was reported out of the city.

Two other newspaper men, Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, and Henry Justin Smith, managing editor of the Daily News, it was announced, may be invited later to go before the grand jury.

Reutlinger Is First Witness.

Reutlinger was the first witness yesterday. He and Mr. Read arrived together at the Criminal courts building, accompanied by Attorney Edward Woods. Reutlinger was in the grand jury room about 50 minutes. Upon emerging he at first declined to be interviewed.

Later, however, he decided to make a statement. He said he had told the jury of his conversations with Harry Thompson Brundidge, reporter for the St. Louis Star, whose articles declaring several Chicago newspaper men were "itchy palmed" racketeers inspired the grand jury's inquiry.

"Brundidge visited at my home," Reutlinger said. "I told the jury that he made repeated efforts to get what he termed the 'inside dope' on Chicago newspaper men, and finally, in jest, I told him some wild tales which no reasonable man would have taken seriously.

Just a Joke, He Says.

"Mr. Brundidge was either deceived, the victim of this hoax, or he made the charges maliciously. Everything was said in a joking way, and I have plenty of witnesses to prove this is so.

"I told the jurors that I would answer any questions; that I had nothing to hide or be ashamed of. I was not required to sign an immunity waiver."

Mr. Lee then entered the grand jury room, remaining an hour and 20 minutes. Interviewers met him as he came out, and he conversed amiably with them, but he declined to discuss his testimony.

Read Last to Testify.

Mr. Read was the third and last witness, his testimony consuming an hour's time. He also would not discuss what he told the grand jury.

It was noted that Cornell, circulation manager of the Herald and Examiner, former city editor of that paper, is in for a busy day today, for

THE LAW IS BRINGING THE DEAR ONES DOWN

Auto Hits Two Baby Buggies; Infant Killed

A car driven by Marnius A. Jensen, 35 years old, an automobile mechanic of 1509 Wilmette avenue, Wilmette, last evening struck a woman and then crashed into two baby carriages at Roscoe street and Sheridan road, just north of Belmont yacht harbor.

Coco Necta Polichrones, 2½ months old daughter of Mrs. Helen Polichrones, 859 Newport avenue, was killed, and Mrs. Nettie Hirsch, 65 years old, 631 Rockwell street, seriously injured. The woman is at the John B. Murphy hospital. Jensen was held by the town hall police.

Mrs. Polichrones with Coco Necta in her cab was standing in the parkway in the center of Sheridan road, just south of Roscoe street. Beside her was her mother, Mrs. Ann Seretis, also with a baby cab. In it was George Petroponel, 14 months old son of Mrs. Mary P. Petroponel of Pontiac, Ill. She is Mrs. Seretis' other daughter.

Hits Two Baby Carriages.

Jensen, who says he has driven a car for fifteen years and never before had an accident, was headed south. His story was that as he approached Roscoe at a speed of around 30 miles, Mrs. Hirsch suddenly stepped from behind a car.

Jensen swerved to the left to avoid her, but, apparently panicstricken, she ran directly into his path, he said. He knocked her down, and his car jumped the curb. It hit the baby carriage propelled by Mrs. Seretis first, taking off one of its wheels. Little George Petroponel was scratched and bruised.

Before he could apply his brakes he had rammed Mrs. Polichrones' cab almost head on. It was wrecked. Coco Necta was hurled to the street with a fractured skull. She was dead when examined by physicians at the John B. Murphy hospital. Neither Mrs. Polichrones nor Mrs. Seretis was injured.

Phone Official Dies.

Joseph H. Conrath, 40 years old, 552 North Eleanor place, Peoria, an official of the Illinois Bell Telephone company, died yesterday at St. Margaret's hospital in Hammond of injuries received June 12 when his automobile skidded and crashed into a water hydrant, near Calumet City.

Miss Hazel Weiss, 22 years old, 6530 North Mozart street, died in an Elgin hospital as a result of an accident near St. Charles.

The deaths yesterday raised Cook county's motor toll for the year to 542. The other victims:

Mrs. Kate Sayre, 4728 North Rockwell. Died at St. Francis hospital, Evanston, from injuries received in an auto accident July 5 at Golf and Telegraph roads, Glenview.

Lawrence Smith, 6 months old, 8816 Avenue J. Died at South Chicago hospital from injuries received in a collision between two autos last Saturday at 93th street and Ewing avenue.

CLAIMS BODY IN SOUTH IS TERRY DRUGGAN'S; POLICE HERE DENY IT

Brookhaven, Miss., July 24.—(AP)—A former Chicago resident today tentatively identified a body being held here as that of Terry Druggan, Chicago gangster. A. R. Glover, the Chicagoan, used newspaper pictures to substantiate his statements.

Previously the body, which was found beside the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroad tracks here last Saturday, was thought to be that of J. E. Smith, Louisville, Ky., because of marks in the clothing.

Glover, who claims to have been a frequent visitor at police stations during his residence in Chicago, said he was positive that the dead man was Druggan.

The body was picked up along the tracks last Saturday. It was brought to Brookhaven early this week and hundreds of persons have viewed it with no added clew to its identity being uncovered until today.

Investigating the information given them today, local officers telegraphed to Chicago this afternoon for a description of Druggan, but at midnight had received no reply. When found the body was clad in cheap clothing and was thought to be that of a hobo killed by a train he was riding.

NOT DRUGGAN, POLICE SAY.

The Chicago police said this morning that they placed no credence in the report that the body at Brookhaven was Druggan's. At the bureau of identification it was said a photograph of the dead man's features and finger prints had been received from Brookhaven authorities, but that neither corresponded with those on record under Druggan's name at the bureau. Capt. William F. Waugh, Druggan's attorney, said he did not know his client's whereabouts, but was convinced the dead man was not Druggan.

2 DIE, 17 HURT AS ROLLER COASTER JUMPS THE TRACK

Omaha, July 24.—(AP)—Two persons were killed and 17 were injured here tonight when a roller coaster train at Krug park plunged off the track and dropped 35 feet to the ground.

The dead are C. H. Stout, 50, and Ruth Farrell, 14, both of Omaha. Both died in a hospital. Two others among the injured are expected to die.

The train, composed of four cars, had just left the starting stand and was being pulled up the first incline by a cog chain, Ben Meister, an eyewitness said. As the crowded cars reached the midway point in the pull the leading car left the track and the other three cars followed. Some of the cars overturned and their passengers were pinned underneath as they struck the ground.

Hoover Bars U. S. Envoys' Liquor Bills

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 24.—[Special.]—President Hoover put an official stamp of disapproval today upon the foaming mugs and sparkling glasses of American diplomats abroad with a decree forbidding their use of Uncle Sam's money for the purchase of liquor.

If the officials and attachés at nearly 100 American missions and consular offices in foreign capitals choose to drink and serve drinks they must pay for it out of their own pockets under the executive order. Expense accounts including items for any "alcoholic beverages" are taboo.

After a six year fight for funds to pay for official entertaining congress at its recent session voted an appropriation of $92,000 for that purpose. The drys sought to write a liquor ban into the appropriation bill, but as it passed the President was given authority to prescribe regulations covering expenditures of the money. His order today setting forth the regulations met with the approval of the prohibitionists.

Taxi Fare Also Taboo.

Liquor was one of four items of expense forbidden in the White House order, which also prohibited the expenditure of governmental money for the purchase, hire, or operation of passenger automobiles, for club or association dues, or for printing or engraving expenses.

Among the legitimate expenses, however, were listed receptions on American national holidays; dinners and other functions given on special occasions, such as visits of warships or special commissions; tips and gratuities where such are "desirable for maintenance of the prestige of the United States"; flowers for weddings, births and deaths in the families of important personages; and other entertainment expenses "of a character to promote the representation of the United States abroad."

Part of Dry Campaign.

The President's ruling against liquor expense accounts is expected to cause disappointment in some of the foreign consulates, where the cost of serving cocktails, dinner wines and other refreshment outlawed by American Volsteadism is said to be a heavy drain on the pocketbooks of diplomatic officials. It is in line, however, with other steps which recently have been taken to compel government employés to personally observe the prohibition law.

One of these steps was a war department order decreeing that army enlisted men and officers must not violate the dry laws and another an order by Attorney General William Mitchell that department of justice employés are expected to be dry sympathizers as well as politically dry.

Jury Decides Infants Are Switched.

The Bamberger-Watkins baby mixup took a sensational turn last evening just after a committee of medical experts in the case announced they had solved the problem of parentage by science.

BAMBERGER—who flees with baby.

Charles Bamberger, a bricklayer and father of one of the infants involved, took flight and with him went his family including the baby which the experts, at their conference yesterday, had decided was unquestionably the offspring of William Watkins. Early this morning the fugitive family had not been found.

The Bambergers' flight left Health Commissioner Kegel, sponsor of the scientific substitute for Solomon's wisdom nonplussed, while Mr. Watkins was wrathful. Mr. Watkins, a traffic manager now unemployed, said he would probably appeal to the courts, both for restoration of his son and for damages.

WATKINS—who believes experts.

It was 11 a. m. when Messrs. Bamberger and Watkins met with the experts in Dr. Kegel's office to determine whether the boys born June 30 in the Englewood hospital had been exchanged between Mmes. Bamberger and Watkins by error. Dr. Kegel barred reporters.

Predicts Hot Fight.

"This is going to be a hot fight," the commissioner explained. "Remarks might be passed which would make monkeys out of all of us, so you newspapers boys had better stay out."

As the conference went on without intermission for lunch, it became evident that Dr. Kegel's anticipation was near fulfilment. Shortly after noon Mr. Bamberger quit the conference room in haste and perturbation.

Medical Experts Agree.

Three hours later a reporter edged into the conference and soon all were in. Explaining Mr. Bamberger's departure, the commissioner said the father had suddenly become ill and that otherwise the case was moving swiftly towards satisfactory solution.

The pathologist, opthalmologist, dermatologist, obstetrician, and pathologist he had appointed to the baby jury were in agreement, Dr. Kegel announced. Their unanimous opinion was that the babies had been given to the wrong mothers.

A dissenting expert was at hand, however. Inspector Ferdinand Watzek, the Vienna detective called here by Northwestern university's crime laboratory, took the stand and avowed through an interpreter that, medical opinion notwithstanding, his fingerprint study of the case proved that Baby Bamberger and Baby Watkins had not been exchanged.

Watzek Is Positive.

He would risk his reputation as Europe's foremost sleuth on the accuracy of his method of determining parentage by comparison of fingerprints, the inspector declared. He had practiced the method in many European courts in determining the parentage of children and his findings had never been challenged.

In this instance, however, they were. Watzek, known from his entry into the case as a "Bamberger witness," because he upheld that parent's conviction that each mother had her own son, was followed on the stand by Capt. M. P. Evans, the oldest Chi-

Huston to Quit on August 7, He Announces

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 24.—[Special.]—The resignation of Claudius H. Huston as chairman of the Republican national committee will be laid before a special meeting of the executive committee of the national committee in Washington Aug. 7. This announcement was made tonight after a conference at the White House between Mr. Huston and President Hoover.

Indications are that Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.] will be elected chairman of the national committee to succeed Mr. Huston. It became known today that Senator Fess had canceled steamship reservations for Europe after consenting to take charge of the party's affairs.

Announcement in His Name.

The formal announcement was contained in a statement given out by James F. Burke of the national committee in the name of Mr. Huston. It read as follows:

"I have just had a satisfactory talk with the President and we are in entire accord on our program. The President has approved my decision to call a meeting of the executive committee of the Republican national committee on Aug. 7, at which time I intend to submit my resignation as Republican national chairman."

Mr. Huston's return to Washington tonight was the result of a visit paid to him in New York last night by Mr. Burke, general counsel, and Joseph R. Nutt, treasurer, of the national committee. After two conferences with the President yesterday Mr. Burke and Mr. Nutt left for New York, interviewed Mr. Huston and returned to Washington this morning. They saw Mr. Hoover at once and assured him that the Huston resignation would be forthcoming.

Calls on President.

Soon after he reached here this evening Mr. Huston went to the White House and spent a half hour with the President. After he left the formal statement was issued by Mr. Burke.

While all the information as to the conferences is lacking, the impression is that President Hoover made a direct request for Mr. Huston's retirement for the good of the party. One of the stories afloat is that Messrs. Nutt and Burke told Mr. Huston that his refusal might result in the President writing a public letter calling upon him to resign.

The Huston case has been a puzzle ever since the movement for Mr. Huston's retirement was begun last spring after testimony was given before the senate lobby committee that funds of the Tennessee River Improvement association, of which he was president, had been placed to his private credit with a stock brokerage house in New York with which he had a trading account. The amounts deposited were refunded subsequently to the Tennessee River Improvement association.

Sues to Stop Tom Thumb Golf Course in Wilmette

Charles S. Macferran, vice president of the National Bank of the Republic, filed suit in Superior court yesterday to enjoin H. J. Popperfus, builder of Tom Thumb miniature golf courses, from constructing a course adjacent to Macferran's home at 430 Laurel avenue, Wilmette. The suit declares the neighborhood is a residential district and that the crowds which will be attracted to the course will disturb the quiet of the community.

Disasters Pile Up

TRENTO, Italy, July 24.—(AP)—To add to the vagaries of nature that have visited Italy with calamities during the last two days, snow fell unseasonably today on the peaks of the Dolomites.

A storm swept the region around this city, and was particularly severe in the Alpine valleys.

The Adige river overflowed its banks under heavy rains and other streams are swollen almost to the flood point. So far the waters have caused no damage.

ROME, July 24.—(AP)—On top of an earthquake that devastated a wide area in southern Italy, taking close to 3,000 lives, yesterday, northeastern Italy tonight suffered from the violence of a tornado that killed 12 persons in the region of Treviso, near Venice. More than 100 were injured.

The forces of nature seemed to be at war with the populace at both extremities of the kingdom.

The tornado tore down many buildings at Barco di Sesgana, Bervesa, Selva, and Volpago, and it is feared more victims are buried under the ruins. Heavy damage was caused over a stretch of 25 miles.

Turns Attention from Quake.

The task of coping with this new catastrophe made a definite tabulation of killed and injured in the south out of the question for the night. The ministries affected announced just before midnight there would be no recapitulation until tomorrow afternoon of the loss to life and property.

At the ministry of the interior the official total of known dead thus stood for the night at 2,013.

Unofficial reports said that 3,025 bodies had already been found. Officials, while reticent, obviously believed that hundreds of bodies were still buried under the debris of homes in remoter communities.

King to Visit Victims.

King Victor Emmanuel left tonight for the stricken south, where he was born, before learning of the disaster in the north. His movements were prudently veiled, but his special train is expected to arrive sometime tomorrow in Avellino province, where the worst conditions were reported.

Accompanied by Minister of Public Works Crollalanza, the ruler will make an automobile tour through the area.

Prince Boncompagni Ludovisi, governor of Rome, also left for Avellino. He will bring back with him the largest possible number of children left homeless or orphaned by the disaster, and the city of Rome will help to care for them.

From the Bay of Naples and the Gulf of Salerno on the west almost to the Gulf of Manfredonia on the Adriatic lies a zone of devastated and stricken towns, hamlets and houses stretched like an open wound around the "ankle" of the Italian boot. At least 35 towns and villages are desolate.

Gale Scares Naples.

At Naples today a gale that approached hurricane force, washing waves over the sea wall, added to the terror of the inhabitants, whose nerves were on edge from a night of anguish. Many slight structures were blown down. The storm subsided as quickly as it arrived and a dreary drizzle set in.

The volcano of Posruola, a smoky mountain obscured by the fame of its mighty neighbor Vesuvius, was in eruption today. Seismologists say it was kicked into action by yesterday's earthquakes.

DOCTOR HERO TELLS STORY

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NAPLES, July 24.—Dr. Frederic O. Jovizzo, federal secretary of Villanova, on which the cataclysm wreaked some of its worst vengeance, is one of the heroes of yesterday's earthquake. Suffering from a grave injury to his leg, Sig. Jovizzo was brought to the Pellegrini hospital here. He was dragged away after he had aided 200 injured.

Dr. Jovizzo described the horrors of the abysmal night of the quake to THE TRIBUNE today.

"I felt the shock and was awakened by the house crumbling over us. With my wife, I remained buried under masonry for some time, senseless. When I recovered I crawled out from the burden of plaster and brick and found my wife and daughter were still alive. We crawled from the ruins, but a stone fell injuring my leg.

Big Stones Fill Streets.

"All about us were ruins and dead bodies and black night. We stumbled across a street sown with big stones and met some peasants who told us of the evacuation of the inhabitants of the stricken area under the direction of troops."

Succor arrived shortly after and the doctor's wife and daughter were taken to Naples to a hospital. He remained after insisting on aiding in the rescue work.

Villanova has 400 dead and hundreds of injured out of its small population of less than 3,000. It exists no more as to town, as hardly a wall has resisted the catastrophe. The town tonight is described as a horrible spectacle. Cries and groans still issue from the piles of rocks.

Survivors Hunt Relatives.

Semi-nude figures frantically try to remove the rocks, looking for lost relatives and crying with tragic obsession.

Just south of Villanova is another group of towns which suffered heavily—Flumeri, San Sossio Baronia, San Nicolo Baronia, and Trevico. Entire families have been wiped out, and there is hardly a family that is not mourning some loss. For the most part here the homeless victims are being sheltered in tents erected in the open fields, while others are evacuated to Naples and Foggia, where the people have opened their houses to them.

The crops and the coming harvest, it is reported, have not been damaged by the quake.

Duce Forbids Charity Aid.

Forbidding public subscriptions for the victims, Premier Mussolini called a council of ministers today for the purpose of making provisions for the disaster. Il Duce is giving his entire attention to the catastrophe while relief work is under the direction of Minister of Public Works Crollallanza, who comes from the stricken area.

Relief headquarters have been established at Rochetta Santa Venera, north of Malfi, and all communications from relatives in America should be addressed there.

The stricken area has been divided into four military zones of command, and in appearance today it resembles the rear of a battlefield. Trains of food and medical supplies and doctors and nurses are being rushed hourly to the area, and field hospitals and dressing stations have been set up at many places. Scouting planes have been mobilized to aid relief workers.

Destroy Tottering Ruins.

Part of the relief work today consisted of demolishing cracked houses to prevent further danger. The whole of the Italian peninsula has volunteered as one man to aid in succor.

The duchess of Aosta, accompanied by the authorities, visited Villanova and Ariano today, comforting the injured and bereaved, and King Emmanuel left tonight to visit the quake district.

The Fascist militia, the Italian Red Cross and the local authorities have acted with vigorous promptitude and have relief work now well organized and in hand. Telegraph and telephone communications were established today between Rome and many of the less damaged towns of the district.

Guard Against Epidemic.

All today long motor trains carrying bread, meat and water, with doctors and medical supplies, poured out of Naples, Foggia, Potenza and Bari to the quake area. Anti-tetanus injections are being given to every one who has a scratch. Among those slightly injured in the quake was the duchess of Apulia at Naples, it was learned today. The duchess sustained injuries to her hand when she fell.

NEW DISASTER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MELFI, Italy, July 24.—The first long train of dead, numbering 210 bodies, left this stricken city today for Potenza, where funeral services will be held for them. Twenty bodies have been interred here, but the cemetery was too small for all of the vast harvest of death.

As the work of disentombing bodies from the débris of buildings goes on, Melfi, a cathedral town, offers a desolating spectacle, with one whole section of the town completely destroyed. The proprietor of the railroad station restaurant was killed with his three sons.

People are now sitting in the streets, watching the rescue work and the transport of the bodies, hearing the wounded shrieking with pain and imploring aid. Every one has his own dramatic episodes of how he escaped to recount, while others, weeping over the bodies of relatives, implore Providence to send them a like fate.

Mothers Hunt Children.

Mothers are madly searching the ruins for their lost sons, clutching madly those who have been saved to their breasts. The young children do not understand the disaster, but are appalled by the misery everywhere, and are crying from fear.

Along the roads and in the open fields the people sit, dazed and unbelieving yet that such a catastrophe has descended on their town.

First aid has come to Melfi principally from Foggia. The first train took five hours to do the 40 miles, being forced to proceed slowly and cautiously because of the rails being shaken by the quake. The aqueduct here was interrupted, but has been repaired, restoring the water supply. The public fountains are playing in the sections of the town which was not destroyed.

Describes Razed Area.

VILLANOVA, Italy, July 24.—(AP)—In a 255 mile automobile drive the Associated Press correspondent today took in the devastation wreaked yesterday by an earthquake that took more than 3,000 lives in one of the most beautiful sections of Italy.

Traveling up from Naples through brilliantly green valleys, the car passed village after village lying wholly or partly waste. The worst spectacle of all was reserved for this evening, when this little town of Villanova came into view.

Nearly every house was completely demolished. With the shops, small homes and humbler buildings, the palace of the marquis Villanova and the town church all crumbled.

The houses lay fallen in the most erratic and varying fashions. Windows in some were surprisingly still intact. Against a few upright but damaged walls shutters swung and banged in the wind.

Troops Ration Survivors.

All the remaining habitants were marshaled by soldiers this evening and formed into a rations line. After they had been fed they were driven from the village out into the open, where shelters of canvas tents and blankets were hastily erected.

Then the soldiers threw a guard about the deserted town, permitting no one to enter. A similar procedure was followed at half a dozen other ruined towns in the region, such as Aquilona, Lacedonia, and Ariano. The reason for such a precaution was the prevention of looting.

The devastated countryside gives the impression of being in a state of siege. Solders are bivouacked on the surrounding hills, and at every street corner of the deserted towns sentries are posted. Along the roads run wires that lead to portable telegraph and wireless sets manned by soldiers and black shirt militia.

Tonight every person in the region for miles around slept out of doors. Men and women erected flimsy shelters on sidewalks and in gutters. Many of these huts were blown down by a strong wind similar to that which lashed Naples in the morning.

Tide and Rain Flood India City; Cause $1,000,000 Loss

KARACHI, India, July 24.— (AP) — Property losses estimated at more than $1,000,000 were caused in this area today by floods due to a rainfall of approximately six inches in the last 24 hours.

Huge stocks of grain, sugar, and cotton have been wiped out by a tide which swirled through the streets and cut off telegraphic communication with the rest of India.

Refugees Pour In.

A wide area in the upper Sind is under water. Incessant rains have swollen the Indus river and its tributary streams and canals. Retaining embankments have given way at several points. The towns of Larkhana, Shikapur and Khanpur were submerged tonight and refugees from them were pouring into Karachi.

One breach in the Indus dike in the western Nara division of the Larkhana measured 100 feet long and eight feet in depth. It gave rise to great alarm.

The Larkhana-Jacobabad railway was washed out in two places. The Begari canal was reported to have burst its bonds.

Rain Swells English Flood.

WHITBY, Yorkshire, England, July 24.—(AP)—Four days of incessant rain tonight had left this seaside city in the grip of the flood, with hundreds homeless and destitute through the valley of the River Esk. Today's downpour, a veritable cloudburst, furnished a climax of the storm and temporarily put an end to relief work.

Whitby, a seaport and the seat of important manufacturing of jet ornaments and fisheries products, was paralyzed.

The Esk, at whose mouth Whitby is situated, flowed in a raging torrent. Small dwellings, scores of skiffs, and a vast amount of débris were piled high in the streets by the tide, and great trees of the picturesque countryside lay uprooted in the fields.

Relief Measures Fail.

The hamlet of Sleights, isolated when its bridges were washed out, had no relief because rescuers were unable to improvise a span across the river. Attempts were being made tonight to build some sort of a pontoon bridge.

Similar conditions prevailed in a lesser degree at Stokesley, where rain fell heavily, producing conditions worse than in the last five years.

Villages and homesteads were completely cut off from communication, country roads being deep under water or blocked by landslides.

Mexicans Flee in Panic as Quake Shakes Town

MEXICO CITY, July 24.—(AP)—Dispatches today reported that an earthquake last night shook the town of Pinotepa, state of Oaxaca. It was preceded by subterranean rumblings and accompanied by torrential rain. The inhabitants fled from their houses in panic. No casualties were reported.

HERE'S A RECORD FOR TREE SITTING IN MEN'S CLASS

Clarence Buckmeyer, 22 years old, son of C. F. Buckmeyer, Summit poultry farmer, telephoned THE TRIBUNE at 11:10 last night, and asked to talk to a reporter. The conversation:

"This is Sitting Buck. I've just come down from my tree—a poplar—at 64th street and Cicero avenue. I was up 247 hours. I think I hold the world's endurance record for men sitters. I would have sat longer only the cops said if I didn't come down they would call out the fire department. It was a shame."

"What do you want us to do about it?"

"I don't know. But don't forget that name, 'Sitting Buck'."

The police last night cut several limbs from a tree at Kedzie and Maypole avenues in order to dislodge Tony Cerceo, 12 years old, 3251 Maypole avenue, and Fred Zollner, 13, 131 North Kedzie avenue, who had been in the tree for a week.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Carl J. Appell ruled yesterday that parents are liable to fines and imprisonment if they were found guilty of permitting their children to injure their health.

Rivalry with Skunk.

Lexington, Ky., July 24.—(AP)—L. T. Brumagen, young Lexington tree sitter, was forced to abandon his perch today when a polecat disputed ownership of the tree.

Brumagen had been up 56 hours when the skunk arrived and took a liking to the tree. The tree sitter's ground crew came to his rescue and killed the prowling animal, but Brumagen and his ground crew then voted to vacate immediately.

LIGHTNING BURNS 4 GOLF PLAYERS AND 3 CADDIES

Head of Baking Company Seriously Hurt.

Nashua, N. H., July 24.—(AP)—Four business men and three of their caddies were burned, one seriously, tonight by lightning which struck the flagpole on a rest house near the eleventh green at the Nashua Country club golf course. They had taken refuge in the house from a storm.

Benjamin Laform, president of the Nashua Baking company, was seriously burned and was taken to St. Joseph's hospital. His brother, treasurer of the company; Peter Desautels, superintendent of the Nashua division of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, and August U. Burque, a jeweler, suffered minor burns and were treated at home.

Three of four caddies who were with the men were treated at the hospital and sent home.

Fifty Stunned by Bolt.

Stamford, Conn., July 24.—[Special.]—During a freakish thunderstorm this afternoon at Sunaim farm, where the annual horse show was in progress, a bolt of lightning hit the ground between the exhibitors' stand and the stables, stunning about fifty persons standing around, then leaped to the stables, killing one horse and knocking two others unconscious. Two grooms who were hit by the bolt required hospital treatment.

Four Hurt in Seaplane.

Northport, N. Y., July 24.—(AP)—Four persons were injured late today as a seaplane, flying from Portland, Me., to New York, was forced down in a thunderstorm in Long Island sound near here.

Gilbert Ottley and Bromley Stone, wealthy New York sportsmen, were severely shaken up and bruised when the plane struck the water hard just after a blinding flash of lightning, which was believed to have struck one of the pontoons.

The co-pilots, Fred Rolph and Elton Jewett, both of Portland, suffered minor injuries.

BACKS TRUCK INTO PIT; DROWNS.

Mishawaka, Ind., July 24.—[Special.]—Raymond Kersch, 26, was drowned today when a truck he was backing into a gravel pit caved in the bank, turned over backward, and plunged into thirty feet of water in the pit.

ITALY DECLINES U. S. OFFERS OF HELP TO EARTHQUAKE VICTIMS

New York, July 24.—(AP)—The Italian government, through Emanuel Grazzi, consul general in New York, today declined offers of assistance to victims of the earthquake in southern Italy.

The American Red Cross today had offered aid in a cablegram to the Italian Red Cross in Rome.

"Effective measures of relief have been immediately taken by his excellency Premier Mussolini and are being carried out," the consul general's statement said. "Public spirit is high, and the population is cooperating with the authorities with perfect discipline.

"The royal government declines with extreme gratefulness all offers to send relief to the stricken population, the Fascist government having already taken all necessary measures to this effect."

LONDON REVEALS PRINCE OF WALES IS FLYING SOLO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 24.—According to the aviation correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, the prince of Wales has recently made a number of flights unaccompanied by a pilot or any other person.

The solo flights have been only of short duration and have not taken him far from the airdrome. News that the prince has actually flown alone has caused considerable surprise in aviation circles, as it was always officially understood that he was accompanied by a pilot.

The prince's solo flights were made in his own Tomtit, a two seater plane, which he recently entered in the King's cup race in his own name, piloted by Squadron Leader Don. The machine completed the course but failed to show up among the leaders.

Asks Garden Clubs' Aid in War Against Ragweed

Garden clubs were urged to cooperate in the eradication of the ragweed in the Chicago district, and particularly along the banks of the drainage canal, yesterday by Mrs. William D. Richardson of the Chicago Woman's club. She addressed a meeting of the Illinois Garden club in the Palmer house. Through planting of native flowers where ragweed has been removed the spread of the weed may be curbed, she said. Mrs. E. H. Gleason of Ravinia presided at the meeting.

BERLIN-CHICAGO FLYERS SPEED TO BRITISH COAST

Make Good Time on First Leg of Journey.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 24.—Despite storms and fog Wolfram Hirth, German glider expert, and his companion and navigator, Oscar Weller, made good time today in their tiny blue-gray plane, D-1753, to Cologne, the first leg of their journey from Berlin to Chicago, with stops at intervening points. They left Cologne, after a long stop, for England and were prepared to spend the night on the coast should the weather be bad over the channel.

"We want to be trail blazers for air tourists across the ocean," Hirth said before leaving. "We are not record hunters. We know our airplane is small and there are some difficult stretches ahead of us.

"We don't intend to be foolhardy. We will start only in fair weather, and therefore our flight to Chicago may take longer than expected.

"Naturally we hope we won't have to indulge in long stops while en route. But if we do we will make use of the time to study local conditions, and reconnoiter for possible landing and taking-off places for future sportsmen and air tourists. I have done quite a lot of pioneer work for tourists flying in Europe—and that experience will help me, too."

It was difficult to start from the German capital. For two hours the flyers waited for the weather to clear up, and then decided to start regardless of rain.

The plane, including Hirth and Weller and fuel, weighed 1,672 pounds. They took off easily and will be able to carry more weight when they leap on bigger hops, like those to Iceland Greenland and Labrador.

Before leaving, Hirth showed navigation aids he has built into the machine upon recommendation of Capt. Hermann Koehl, who flew in the Junkers plane to America with Baron von Huenefeld and Maj. James Fitzmaurice. Among them are small indicators at the side of the cockpit which will enable the flyers to measure speed and direction with the help of smoke bombs they are carrying.

MANY CHICAGOANS WITH RELATIVES IN ITALIAN QUAKE ZONE

Although many Italian families in Chicago have relatives in the area in Italy affected by the earthquake, few inquiries about the safety of any individuals have reached such centers as the Italian consulate and Italian chamber of commerce yesterday. Dr. Giuseppe Castruccio, Italian consul general, expressed the opinion that many had sent cables direct, and also that it was too soon after the catastrophe to know the extent of the damage in specific districts.

DETROIT SLAYING SPURS POLICE TO WAR ON LAWLESS

BULLETIN.

Detroit, Mich., July 25.—(AP)—Jack Brown, 34, released recently from the Detroit House of Correction, where he served sixty days for assault and battery, was shot and killed early today while sitting in an automobile on 4th avenue with a woman companion, Miss Evelyn Littlefield, 34. Police said Brown was slain by a jealous suitor of Miss Littlefield. She refused to name the slayer.

Detroit, Mich., July 24.—[Special.]—The eleven bullets which were fired early yesterday morning into the body of Jerry Buckley awoke both police officers and citizens from the lethargic state they have occupied for the last several months while murders—12 of them in two weeks—and other major crimes have continued unchecked.

Today Police Commissioner Thomas C. Wilcox outlined his program at a city council public hearing.

According to his statement, every gangster found carrying a gun will be arrested and every precinct inspector who permits one blind pig, gambling house, or vice resort to operate in his territory will be demoted or discharged. Today the central vice squad established by Mayor Bowles was abolished and in its place was reestablished the old system of precinct responsibility, "so crime and vice can be fought more effectively."

Says He'll Clean Up City.

The police commissioner, who will be dismissed if Mayor Bowles is defeated in the coming election, states he is determined to clean up the city and bring to justice the slayers of Buckley, radio crusader and one of the leaders of the movement to recall Bowles.

On orders of Gov. Fred W. Green, there arrived at the State Fair grounds today every available state trooper in Michigan to coöperate with city officials in ridding Detroit of criminals.

Gov. Green said he expected to spend considerable time in Detroit during the next few weeks while the members of his cleanup squad get under way. Bodyguards now are with Mayor Bowles continually, also Police Commissioner Wilcox, Commissioner of Public Works John Gillespie, as well as other leaders in the recall movement, including Robert Oakman, who is living aboard his yacht. Each member of his crew was given a pistol today.

Handbooks Locked Up.

Soon after Wilcox's announcement the raids started. Leading handbooks in the downtown district were closed and locked. Ninety per cent of the blind pigs closed during the day. One owner said: "No horses, no beer, no nothing. It looks like a tough town."

In searching for a motive for the assassination of Buckley the latest theory of detectives working on the case is that Buckley came to his death at the hands of Sicilian gangsters.

The Detroit News published a story today quoting Commissioner Wilcox as admitting that his statement last night that he held a signed affidavit in which a bootlegger accused Buckley of taking $4,000 from him was false. According to the News story, Wilcox said that the affidavit was not signed "as yet."

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

COPENHAGEN, July 24.—Clarence H. Mackay's new $200,000 yacht, the Machinoch, has been seized by the Danish authorities and will be sold at a compulsory auction on July 31, because of an unpaid bill for Diesel motors. Mr. Mackay has brought the case before the Danish Court of Arbitration, but a judgment cannot be rendered until after the auction has been held.

The Machinoch was designed according to the American capitalist's own specifications and ordered from the American firm of Humphrey. The Humphreys company, however, transferred the work to Christensen's shipyard at Marstal, Denmark, with its own representatives as overseers. Later, when the motors from Burmeister & Wain, the famous Danish Diesel works, arrived, Mr. Mackay's representatives raised many objections and refused to pay the Burmeister & Wain bill.

In order to force payment of the claim the Danish firm allowed the authorities to seize the Machinoch and offer it at auction. It is believed the Burmeisters themselves will buy the yacht unless there is a settlement in the meantime.

RAID FORTIFIED GAMING PLACE; 25 ARE ARRESTED

Police Sergeant Louis Caparelli and a squad from the state's attorney's office yesterday afternoon raided a fortified gambling resort, protected by two steel doors and with a peephole for observation, in the basement under Al Bloom's Royal restaurant at 701 North Clark street.

The raiders, who forced the doors with sledge hammers after an attendant professed inability to unlock them, found about 125 men around card tables or studying the racing sheets on the wall. Twenty-five men were arrested and the others were released.

HOW LEAVES FORTUNE TO CREATE ORDER AND PROMOTE JUSTICE

Cincinnati, O., July 24.—[Special.]—Nicholas Klein, labor lawyer and administrator of the estate of James Eads How, millionaire St. Louis idealist who died Tuesday, revealed today that How had left his fortune to be devoted to "producing justice and a classless order throughout the world." How to produce such an order, or rather the approach to the solution, puzzles Klein.

"I want suggestions from any one and every one as to how to go about introducing a classless order," said Klein. "In the 25 years of acquaintance with Dr. How I learned of his deep sincerity. Because of my knowledge of the man and, of course, out of respect for his idealism I am trying to find the way to a solution of the problem that Dr. How wrestled with throughout his life."

One Hobo at How's Funeral.

Washington, D. C., July 24.—[Special.]—Forgotten in death by the countless men he had befriended during his lifetime, James Eads How, known as the "Millionaire Hobo," was carried by paid pallbearers from All Souls Unitarian church today after simple funeral services. How died at Staunton, Va., Tuesday.

When the body of the man who devoted a fortune to aiding down and outers was brought into the church there was but one representative of the hobo clan present.

GIRL TELLS WHY SHE FLED 'U' TO ESCAPE WEDDING

Mathematician Fiance Too Severe, Dancer Says

Seven weeks ago Señorita Kyra Carrillo, a dancer, disappeared mysteriously from a dormitory on the University of Chicago campus on the eve of her scheduled wedding to Edward J. McShane, a graduate student and holder of a fellowship at the university.

McShane appealed to Hyde Park police. He said he had met his intended bride aboard boat on his way from Havana, Cuba, to New Orleans. She was of Egyptian parentage, he said, adding that her father was a wealthy sugar planter in Cuba. For weeks the search was pressed and then abandoned.

Dancer Found, Explains.

"It was our temperaments—O, so different," she exclaimed.

"Me? I like to make—what you call—joy!

"He? O, so precise!

"I love to play, to sing, to dance. Him? O, so quiet—so old man like—such a straight face. I like to throw my clothes on the floor—any old place. Him? Always fixing tie—like this."

Won't Return, She Says.

So the señorita fled, convinced that their clashing temperaments would lead to trouble later, she explained. When asked if she would return to McShane, she answered emphatically "No!"

The dancer denied she is Egyptian, saying she is of Spanish descent.

McShane, who taught a few classes in mathematics at the university, is said to have gone to New Orleans.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 24.—British speed cops are to be organized under a new traffic law just passed by parliament and may be equipped with both still and movie cameras to secure evidence against reckless drivers.

The new law abolishes the speed limit, but prescribes heavy penalties for dangerous motor driving. Capt. Sir William Brass, Conservative member, asked the home secretary in the house of commons this afternoon whether he had considered the suggestion to supply the new traffic police with cameras with which to secure the evidence.

Home Secretary J. R. Clynes replied that the suggestion was worthy of careful consideration. Commander Kenworthy, Laborite, suggests that portable cinecameras were better and Mr. Clynes said that this would also be taken into consideration.

Two Naval Academy Girl Smugglers Ordered Fired

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 24.—[Special.]—Dismissal from the academy has been recommended for two Annapolis midshipmen as punishment for smuggling two girls, disguised in uniforms, into the academy mess hall three weeks ago.

The midshipmen are Lawrence L. Myatt of Quincy, Mass., and Miller S. Burgin of San Antonio, Tex. Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams received the recommendation from Annapolis and announced today that he had approved and forwarded it to the White House for the signature of President Hoover.

Senator Walsh Intercedes.

The dismissal penalty was approved by Secretary Adams over an appeal for leniency by Senator David I. Walsh [Dem., Mass.], who interceded because one of the youths came from his state. Senator Walsh said he considered the instance a thoughtless prank and not deserving of such a severe punishment.

While no official statement from Annapolis has been made regarding the case, the story is that the two girls, both blondes and said to be of socially prominent families in Washington, were dressed in midshipmen's uniforms and brought into the mess hall by their friends, who are in the third class.

The mission of the girls was to visit two second class men and when the call for mess rang they, too, decided they would eat. There was a hasty search for equipment. The girls' hair was bound tightly to their heads and jeuses and trousers were found for them. The prank came to an end when an officer detected them and had them quietly escorted from the room.

Escorts Are Sent to Prison.

A day or two later the two escorts were confined to the prison ship and their table mates were placed under technical arrest. The captain of the table, a two striper, was said to face the possibility of no September leave and loss of his stripes.

Rear Admiral S. S. Robinson, superintendent of the academy, undertook an investigation of the case, with the recommendation for dismissal of the two midshipmen as a result.

MANUFACTURER IS SUED FOR $50,000 BY GIRL DANCER

A suit for $50,000 damages was filed in Superior court yesterday by Miss Eleanor Witte, 1220 North State street, a cabaret dancer, against Sidney W. Anderson, machinery manufacturer. The bill declares Miss Witte was severely injured in an auto accident while riding with Anderson last June 18. According to Attorney Charles A. Scott, who filed the bill, Anderson is married and lives in Winnetka.

Miss Witte says Anderson was a guest at the Club Minuet, 943 Rush street, where she was an entertainer, and at 5 a. m. offered to take her for a ride. He was intoxicated, she charges, and at Lake Shore drive and North avenue his automobile crashed into a lamp post. She says she suffered injuries to her hip which may end her career as a dancer.

COMMONS PASS NAVAL TREATY; GOES TO LORDS

LONDON, July 24.—(AP)—The London naval treaty legislation was approved tonight by the house of commons, passing the committee stage and third reading. It now will go to the house of lords.

The treaty bill was passed unchallenged. Its passage yesterday through the second reading had made its acceptance tonight a formality. The proceedings were very brief.

Winston Churchill, former Conservative chancellor of the exchequer, made an important statement on his party's policy. Referring to repeated rulings from the chair that the treaty itself could not be discussed with the bill, he said that the fact of the bill's passage must not be taken as an indication that opinion in the house was undivided where the actual treaty was concerned.

$325,000 GEMS TOSSED TO WINDS IN PLANE CRASH

LONDON, July 24.—(AP)—The Daily Express says that jewels valued at $325,000 were scattered over the ground near Meopham, Kent, at the time of Monday's airplane disaster, in which six persons, including three of the nobility, perished.

The jewelry belonged to the late Viscountess Ednam and the late Mrs. Loeffler, both of whom were wearing pearl necklaces and diamond brooches. Those of the Viscountess Ednam were valued at $125,000 and those of Mrs. Loeffler at $200,000.

The accidental discovery of a few gems by a villager reminded friends of the dead women that they had their jewelry with them.

BOYCE, INVENTOR, SUED BY HUSBAND OF WIFE'S SISTER

Charges Misconduct and Love Theft.

New York, July 24.—[Special.]—Harrison H. Boyce, multi-millionaire inventor of the Boyce motometer, which helps other people control the temperature of their automobile engines, let his own temperature soar unchecked in the case of his wife's sister, it was charged in papers filed in Supreme court in a $1,000,000 action charging alienation of her affections. The sister's husband, John J. Athana, is the plaintiff.

After having misconducted himself with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Jacquelyn Athana, 22, Boyce, aged 49, now has induced her to leave her husband and take up a separate residence on lower Fifth avenue, according to the papers in the suit.

That the suit had been started first became known when Mrs. Athana, through her attorney, sought to vacate a subpoena served on her July 15 at Westport, N. Y.

Boyce Denies Charges.

Boyce, in his answer to the charges, denies any wrongdoing. The inventor still is living with his wife, Mrs. Nancy Boyce, at a fashionable Park avenue address.

"I shall stand by both my sister and my husband," the wife said today.

"I am a moral and upright woman," states an affidavit filed in behalf of Mrs. Athana.

On one occasion, Mrs. Athana and Boyce misconducted themselves aboard the capitalist-inventor's yacht, The Alone, the husband charges. On another, he said, they traveled to Florida together, and registered as man and wife at the Oglethorpe hotel, Brunswick, Ga., on a stop-over en route. In February of this year they celebrated Washington's birthday by checking in as man and wife at the Hotel Kimball, Springfield, Mass., the husband's affidavits continue.

Husband Has Some Questions.

The subpoena which Mrs. Athana wishes vacated on grounds of improper service calls upon her to appear for examination before trial. Some of the questions her husband wishes to ask her are set forth as follows:

"Did Boyce not offer her money and jewels last February, in an attempt to induce her to go to Europe with him?

"Did he not actually give her money, jewelry, and clothing?

"Did Boyce not urge her to leave her husband, and to ask her husband for a divorce?

"Did she not go to her husband and ask him to consent to a divorce?

Says Husband Misconstrued.

Mrs. Athana in her affidavit attached to Boyce's reply to the suit, asserts that a series of innocent acts has been misconstrued by her husband and that she is Boyce's legal ward as well as his sister-in-law, and is represented by his attorney.

Boyce, who became wealthy when he disposed of his invention to General Motors, could not be reached today for comment. He is president of the Leander Realty Development corporation with which Athana formerly was connected.

The inventor's marriage to Mrs. Athana's sister is his second. In 1922 he was divorced at Mineola, L. I., by Mrs. Marguerite Boyce.

ETTELSON RULES FOR REINSTATING OF LIEUT. BARKER

Police Lieut. George Barker is entitled to immediate reinstatement in the department, Corporation Counsel Ettelson ruled yesterday after the dismissal of charges against the officer by the civil service commission. Barker was suspended on July 2 because he escorted Jack Zuta, vice lord, from the detective bureau when Zuta asked police protection. Gunman tried to kill Zuta in a subsequent State street gun battle.

The corporation counsel held that Lieut. Barker should receive his salary from yesterday. "He is not entitled to any salary for the period for which he was legally suspended," read the opinion, given at the request of Acting Police Commisioner Alcock.

"We observe," the opinion further stated, "that your suspension of Lieut. Barker is for the time 'pending investigation of charges.' With the termination of the case by the civil service commission, the investigation of charges is terminated. Therefore, the expressed time of the suspension having expired, the suspension is no longer operative."

CHARGE ROEMER WITH ASSAULT IN GUN FIGHT

John H. Roemer, 60 years old, prominent attorney, Yale university graduate, and former lecturer at the University of Wisconsin, was booked for assault with a deadly weapon yesterday at the detective bureau. Roemer is in the American hospital recovering from a bullet wound in the head received last Friday night when he engaged in a gun battle with a policeman while intoxicated.

Roemer was seen running north on Sheridan road last Friday night, following Miss Susan Keim of the Beverly hotel and her escort, Gerald Laycock, 7142 Harvard avenue. He was waving a gun in the air when accosted by Policeman Edward Sternberg who attempted to disarm him. In the struggle Sternberg was shot in the hand, after which he shot Roemer twice in the head. At the hospital Roemer said he could not remember the fight, declaring he was intoxicated at the time.

MIAMI SETS TRIAL OF ALBERT CAPONE WITH 3 OTHERS FOR AUG. 1

Miami, Fla., July 24.—(AP)—Vagrancy charges, pending for several months against Albert Capone, brother of "Scarface" Al Capone, and three associates, were scheduled today for a hearing in Dade County court on Aug. 1.

Albert was arrested on March 20 with three men who gave their names as J. Vincent, L. J. Brennan, and Louis Cowen, when deputy sheriffs raided the Palm island estate of Capone and seized a quantity of liquor. Vincent, it later developed, was "Gunner Jack" McGurn, said to be Capone's right hand man in Chicago gangdom. He was returned to Chicago to face charges of carrying weapons before he was tried here.

Brennan and Cowan are believed by court officials to be out of the city. The understanding being the latter is at his home in Cicero, Ill. Each is under bond of $500.

GIRL CASHIER IS VICTIM OF A NEW RACKET

Unless you're a restaurant cashier you may not fall victim to the newest thing in rackets. Miss Billie Michel, cashier at the La Salle cafeteria at 324 North Michigan avenue, told yesterday how it's done.

"I had a call to send some sandwiches to room 811, at 307 North Michigan, across the street," she related. "The man asked me to send change for $5. As the boy with the tray stepped off the elevator, a man straightened up at the door of 811, as though just locking it. He paid the boy, Lawrence Sauches, $1.65 for the sandwiches, got the change from the $5, and handed him a sealed envelope which he said contained the $5 bill, address to 'Miss Marie, cashier.' Then he asked Lawrence to take the sandwiches up to Miss Kase on the seventeenth floor.

"There wasn't any Miss Kase. The envelope contained—only another envelope."

Foster Pleads Not Guilty.

Frank Foster, one of the Moran-Zuta-Aiello gangsters under indictment for the murder of Alfred [Jake] Lingle, reporter for THE TRIBUNE, was arraigned yesterday before Chief Justice Denis J. Normoyle, along with fifteen other prisoners charged with other murders.

Foster, who appeared calm, simply answered "yes," when he was asked if he had been advised that he was charged with murder, and again when asked if he was legally represented. He has retained Attorneys Harold Levy and Emmett Byrne. Asked whether he would plead guilty or not guilty, Foster replied, "Not guilty." Judge Normoyle then assigned the Foster case to Judge Daniel P. Trude.

COL. RANDOLPH URGES VOTERS TO "CLEAN HOUSE" AT POLLS

Chicago needs a house cleaning, "from the top down," and the elections of November and early next spring present wonderful opportunities for Chicago voters to accomplish this, Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, declared yesterday in an address before the Kiwanis club at the Hotel Sherman.

"We must elect decent city and county officials if we expect to receive visitors for the Century of Progress exposition in 1933," said Col. Randolph. "Events of the last few months have caused our city's reputation, but not its character, to scrape bottom."

Col. Randolph declared in favor of a full presentation of crime news by the Chicago newspapers. He said the papers of New York and of Detroit have "soft pedaled" in their news columns much of the crime news of those cities.

He Accidentally Shoots Self Toying with a Gun

Mrs. Grace Resch, bride of three months, borrowed a neighbor's revolver when she thought she heard a prowler around her home at 2449 Clybourn avenue. She slept with it under her pillow. Her husband joked with her as he fingered the gun. Suddenly it was discharged, wounding him in the abdomen. His condition is critical.

Oliver Gets Added Stay; Probation to Be Asked

The stay of execution granted to County Assessor Gene G. Oliver, sentenced on Wednesday to 18 months' imprisonment for evasion of income taxes, was extended from Sept. 15 to Sept. 22 by Federal Judge Woodward yesterday. State Senator James J. Barbour, Oliver's attorney, announced that a motion for probation will be made at that time.

WAR SECRETARY HITS REFUSAL OF WATERWAY LOAN

Emmerson Taken to Task by Hurley.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 24.—[Special.]—Suggestions by Gov. L. L. Emmerson of Illinois today drew caustic comments from Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley. The text of a letter from the governor rejecting a proposal that the state loan $2,000,000 to the federal government to speed up construction of the Illinois waterway was made public by Mr. Hurley, who asserted that in his opinion the refusal was based on slim legal grounds.

Secretary Hurley, although he has not yet received a report from the army engineers on the proposition, was critical of a scheme proposed by Gov. Emmerson by which the money would be advanced if the federal government and the state would jointly renew present state contracts. Mr. Hurley asserted with some heat that he "would not assume any responsibility for contracts or agreements entered into prior to the assumption of the project by the federal government."

"If there is any controversy in connection with these matters," said Mr. Hurley, "it is something that must be settled by the state of Illinois, and the federal government will not be responsible for contracts, claims or wages prior to the date congress passed the authorization for taking over the project from the state."

Hurley Is "Surprised."

Mr. Hurley said he was "surprised that the state of Illinois could not advance the money, as it was understood that when congress passed the authorization the unused funds which had been appropriated by the state for the project would be available after it was taken over by the federal government."

Gov. Emmerson in his letter to Secretary Hurley under date of July 16 said he agreed that "it is highly important that the unfinished work on the federal project in the Illinois river be resumed at the earliest possible date and prosecuted diligently toward completion, including an immediate start on the construction of the bridges which will be required, that the whole work may proceed with a view to the earliest possible opening of navigation through the waterway."

"With regard to the suggestion," said Gov. Emmerson, "that the state of Illinois advance the sum of $2,000,000 from the reserve in the Illinois waterway fund, retained by the state for the purpose of meeting the cost of the construction of the ten bridges which will be required to be built on account of the construction of the waterway, I am advised that there is no warrant of law for such action on the part of the state."

Emmerson Regrets Refusal.

Springfield, Ill., July 24.—(AP)—News that Secretary of War Hurley had refused to take over Illinois' contracts still to be fulfilled on the Illinois waterway project was received with regret by Gov. Louis L. Emmerson today.

"Of course, the state will do anything possible to help the waterway," said Gov. Emmerson. "But it must be consistent with the laws of Illinois and it must safeguard the funds needed for bridges over the waterway."

Low Rivers Peril Navigation but Decree Holds Back Water From Overflowing Lakes

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 24.—[Special.]—With the great lakes dammed up by the Supreme court decree reducing diversion at Chicago and overflowing with water four feet higher than in 1926, the lower Mississippi is falling too low for navigation.

The United States Steel corporation, the Lake Carriers' association, the Niagara Falls power companies and other interests in the five billion dollar combine that instigated the suit against the Chicago diversion are rejoicing in more water in the lakes than they can use for navigation and power development while the farmers and manufacturers of the Mississippi valley are in danger of being deprived of enough water to float their cargoes to tidewater.

Government Line Handicapped.

Maj. Gen. T. Q. Ashburn, chairman of the government owned Inland Waterways corporation, said today that the prodigious fall in the Mississippi river in the last few weeks has produced navigation difficulties for the government and other barge lines. While the fall in the river is due in part to the drought, Gen. Ashburn is of the opinion that the reduction in the diversion of lake water at Chicago is chiefly responsible for the condition. The diversion at Chicago was reduced on Jan. 1 last and again on July 1 to the aggregate extent of 2,000 cubic feet of water per second in compliance with the Supreme court decree.

"The water in the lower Illinois is very low and getting lower," said Gen. Ashburn. "Our barges are still operating to full capacity, but with difficulties due to shallowing channels. If the water should fall much lower our traffic might be interfered with considerably and result in a loss of revenue in addition to depriving shippers of cargo facilities.

Too Much Water in Lakes.

"Yet while the barge lines on the Mississippi are suffering from a lack of sufficient water and are threatened with even a worse situation there is too much water in the lakes and water that would save us from our plight on the Mississippi if we could only get it.

"I have always been of the opinion that the low water stage in the Mississippi is vitally affected by the diversion at Chicago. Of course, when the water is high in the river we do not need the diversion to maintain navigable conditions. But when the water is low we do need it. The navigation difficulties we have had during low water in the river were not serious until the government began to reduce the diversion at Chicago a few years ago. Conditions were bad last year, almost wholly as a result of the reduced diversion in my opinion. They are bad again this year, and it looks as if they would be worse as a result of the further reduction in diversion that has taken place in the last six months.

"Last year I submitted a plea to the war department to allow an increased diversion during the low water period in the Mississippi. My petition was denied and I feel that it is useless to renew the appeal this year."

Officers in the river and harbor division of the corps of engineers differ with Gen. Ashburn as to the effect of the Chicago diversion upon the stage of water in the lower Mississippi. The volume of discharge in the Mississippi at St. Louis is 40,000 cubic feet of water per second in low water and 180,000 at mean water stage. The engineers say that the 3,500 subic feet of water per second to which the diversion at Chicago has been reduced in the last few years would reduce the channel depth at St. Louis only a fraction of an inch.

The Mississippi has fallen 12 feet at Cairo since June 23, ten feet at Memphis, and 9 feet at New Orleans. There has been a commensurate fall in the lower Illinois river.

Hughes Opinion Supports Ashburn.

The view of Gen. Ashburn that the stage of water in the Mississippi is vitally affected in lower water periods by the volume of diversion at Chicago is supported by what Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes had to say regarding the lower Illinois river in his master's report to the Supreme court in the lake level case.

"The lower Illinois river from Utica to Grafton on the Mississippi (230 miles)," said the Hughes report, "is shallow, sluggish stream carrying from 500 to 1,000 cubic feet per second of natural water flow. In its natural state it is inadequate for modern river navigation. The federal project depth has been 7 feet, but this could not have been maintained without at least 8,500 cubic feet per second from Lake Michigan, which gives in the lower Illinois about 4 feet of the low water depth of 7 feet. The Chicago diversion has increased the navigable capacity of the river. This stretch of the river is adaptable to improvement as an open channel, but if there were no diversion at Chicago a large amount of improvements and several locks and dams would have to be provided."

Reports on Diversion Effect.

Maj. Putnam, army engineer at Chicago, reported in 1924 that a diversion of 8,000 second feet increased the depth of the Illinois river 5 feet at La Salle, 2.2 feet at Beardstown, and 1.2 feet at Grafton.

For many years the diversion at Chicago was in excess of 10,000 cubic feet of water per second. Five years ago the volume was reduced by the war department to 8,500 second feet. By further reductions on Jan. 1 and July 1 it has been cut to 6,500 second feet.

The amount of diversion to be permitted at Chicago was the bone of contention in the fight over the Illinois waterway item in the rivers and harbors bill in the last session of congress. The Illinois senators and other supporters of the lakes to the gulf waterway project contended for a provision which would allow the war department to fix the volume necessary to the waterway. The lake states that fought Chicago to the Supreme court and won, supported the Blaine amendment designed to hold the diversion down to 1,500 cubic feet per second eventually. According to Gen. Ashburn's theory a diversion as low as 1,500 second feet would paralyze navagation in the Illinois and Mississippi rivers at low water periods.

Others Vote for Dam.

In addition to the senators of lake states which would benefit from the development of the lakes to the gulf waterway the following Mississippi valley senators voted for the Blaine amendment:

Brock [Dem., Tenn.], Capper [Rep., Kas.], Howell [Rep., Neb], Norris [Rep., Neb.], Ransdell [Dem., La.], Steck [Dem., Ia.].

The levels of the great lakes have gone above the highest previous records for many years. There is so much water in the lakes that a prodigious amount of damage has been done to riparian interests at most of the ports and at resorts situated elsewhere.

The lakes were at their lowest in 1926 when the lake states began their fight against the Chicago diversion. They began rising long before the Supreme court decided that the diversion must cease because it had reduced lake levels six inches. Lake Superior is now 2½ feet above the 1926 level, Lake Michigan and Lake Huron 3.7 feet, Lake Erie and Lake Ontario 4 feet.

RIGHT TO RUN FOR OFFICE WON IN CARD GAME

Rival Pledges His Aid in Sheriff's Race.

Herkimer, N. Y., July 24.—(AP)—Fortune lay in the cards tonight for Daniel F. Strobel. He won not only the right to enter the primaries as a candidate for the Republican nomination for sheriff of Herkimer county, but the good will and support of the man he beat in a game of "Pitch," otherwise known as high-low-jack.

Friends for Years.

To a little tavern outside this village they went, Strobel, Fred Sauer, against whom he was to play, with the principal place on the Republican county ticket at stake, and a retinue of followers. They have been friends for a quarter century, and neither would enter a political fight against the other. So they decided to leave it to the cards.

Strobel and Sauer faced each other as grimly as any duelists. Strobel took some friendly jeering when his match hand shook as he attempted to light a cigaret. Sauer was twitted because he couldn't decide whether to leave his hat off or on. The goal was eleven points. Strobel got there first.

Others Play Pinochle.

At an adjoining table three other Republicans played pinochle to decide who next would hold the appointive office of county purchasing agent. Maurice Kraus, with 1,000 points, emerged the victor over M. L. Hyde, and John Flank.

There will be seven other Republicans against Strobel in the primaries.

FORMER U. S. DRY OFFICIAL LEADS WET DRIVE HERE

Col. Ira Reeves Secretary of Crusaders.

Col. Ira Louis Reeves, educator, author, soldier, yesterday was appointed secretary of the Crusaders in the Chicago district. His job will be to lead an organization of young Chicagoans in a war to overthrow the 18th amendment—a law which Col. Reeves three years ago tried to enforce.

Col. Reeves' position then was prohibition administrator for New Jersey. He took the job, he said, because he wanted to help enforce the prohibition law, still clinging to an early hope that prohibition could be successful. He declares the lessons learned as a government enforcement officer have brought him into the fight for repeal.

"No one," said Col. Reeves yesterday, "no matter whether he be wet or dry, could have gone through what I went through and have seen what I saw and still have faith in the prohibition law."

Talks on "Prohibition Dishonesty."

In an interview yesterday he recalled the vicissitudes of a prohibition officer which finally led to his resignation. He talked chiefly of what he called "the psychology of prohibition dishonesty."

"Seventy per cent of the men employed in prohibition enforcement are engaged in watching the other 30 per cent," he said. "As administrator in New Jersey I had 140 men under me and I was sure of the honesty of only a half dozen. The lack of loyalty and dishonesty, while despicable, is understandable.

"There are many tricks in prohibition enforcement work — tricks that open the way for incalculable graft. Many of my men I caught at conspiracies and shakedown schemes. But none was convicted. Some were discharged and a number of there are back on the force.

Failed to Get Support, Claim.

"We got no support from any source. The amount of coöperation I got from the churches in my whole term as administrator was practically nil. As far as the Anti-Saloon league was concerned, the most it did was to recommend men for the force who were weaklings or worse and entirely unsuited for the work.

"Every time I made a major raid a score of so-called investigators were immendately sent down from Washington. They cluttered up the headquarters and made it practically impossible to function. There was constant interference from Washington and always there was the implication that there were certain violators whom the government did not want bothered."

Veteran of Six Wars.

Col. Reeves was obtained for his local post by J. Russell Forgan, executive commander of the Crusaders here.

Col. Reeves has taken part in every major United States military campaign from the Bannock Indian war in 1891 to the world war. He was wounded in the Philippine insurrection and was cited for "bravery and unexcelled energy" in that campaign. He is a member of the French Legion of Honor, author of numerous books, and a former university professor. He heads an engineering firm with offices in Florida and Chicago.

"The Crusaders," the new secretary said, "do not intend to use the bludgeon as the Anti-Saloon league does. Our members are intelligent people and we plan to advise them of conditions.

"Our first work will be to fight for the repeal of the Volstead act and the Jones law and eventually the repeal of the 18th amendment."

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 24.—[Special.]—Intuition, radio, and a couple of coast guard destroyers intercepted four cargoes of assorted liquors worth $350,000 today along the rum burdened Atlantic seaboard, and tonight the forces of the federal government have approximately 40,000 quarts of high proof booze, a yacht, a couple of smacks, and twenty prisoners.

The fine assortment of whiskies, brandies, benedictine, chartreuse [yellow and green], Curacao and Cointreau was picked up, along with the men who were attempting to smuggle it into arid territory at a Brooklyn pier, off Block island and in the Ambrose channel and the Smyrna river near Wilmington, Del.

The French liner Patria contributed 4,000 bottles of choice stomach warming cordials, hidden under tons of coal, probably serving as ballast for the ship as she rested at her Brooklyn barth.

Disguised as Fisherman.

The New Bedford sloop Blanche, disguised as a "sword fisherman," was heading in from a hard day's work when the destroyer Downs hailed her, early this morning. The Blanche gave up 8,000 bottles of assorted liquors and rode several inches higher in the water. Five of the crew were arrested.

The fishing smack Antonia was plugging along in Ambrose channel when a coast guard cutter hailed her and asked, "How's the fishing?" "Great," signaled the Antonia's skipper. "Let's have a look," was flashed back. The government got 12,000 quarts of Scotch and rye and four more prisoners.

About the same time of the day two prohibition agents and Special Officer Nelson Staats of Smyrna were hiding behind the weeds along the river bank near Wilmington just like any other duck shooters. Along came a large launch and slipped into a canning factory's slip. Out came the "duck hunters" and up came 10,000 bottles of Scotch, rye and French brandy. Twenty-five men quit the boat and took to the brush, but ten of them were captured.

Calls It "Elemental."

It was in the Brooklyn pier raid, however, that the fine art of liquor nabbing reached its height. The entire matter was characterized as "elemental" by Deputy Surveyor John H. McGill at the customs house.

Mr. McGill is given to dreams and visions that assay 100 per cent. Only a few months ago he had a vision of $120,000 worth of Scotch buried under a pile of coal. The Scotch was there when his men dug to the bottom of the ship's bins. This time Mr. McGill was tinkering with a short wave radio set that once was the pride of a bootleggers' band.

Suddenly out of the static Mr. McGill heard a cryptic message. It was, "4,000—Patria—midnight—down deep."

Telephones His Orders.

"Elemental," laughed the man with the mesmeric mind, as he lifted his telephone receiver.

"Go," ordered Mr. McGill, "to Brooklyn and there awaits the Patria. Board her and visit the coal bins. Dig and dig deep."

Three hours later a begrimed squad of customs diggers reported to their chief. He did not need his intuition to know they had been digging.

'HARD BOILED' GOLDING UNDER INVESTIGATION

Dry Agent's Girl Employe Reported Responsible.

Washington, D. C., July 24.—[Special.]—Capt. George W. [Hard Boiled] Golding, prohibition agent at Albany, has not been suspended, but is on leave pending investigation of charges against him which were forwarded to Washington about a week ago, according to Howard R. Jones, assistant prohibition director. Golding made his "hard boiled" reputation while a dry agent for Uncle Sam in Chicago.

In the meantime, Mr. Jones said, the Albany office, of which Golding is the head, will be directed by Prohibition Agent Koehler, who has been placed in charge temporarily. Officials here refused to confirm or deny the report that complaint of misconduct on the part of Golding had been made against him by a young woman stenographer in the Albany office. Golding is now in Washington.

Women Employés Return.

Albany, N. Y., July 24.—[Special.]—The Albany Times Union tonight published a story in which it declared a woman is responsible for the temporary suspension from duty of Capt. George E. Golding, agent in charge of the Albany force of special prohibition agents, who has not been at his office for ten days. Golding was formerly enforcement agent at Chicago.

Two of the three women employés in the Albany prohibition office, who were reported to have declined to report to work several days ago, have returned to duty.

"The mystery of Golding's absence from his office," says the Times Union, "from which he was gone a week or ten days, was cleared up in Washington today when Prohibition Director Amos W. W. Woodcock admitted to newspaper men that Golding had been relieved and that formal charges made against him by a young woman were to be filed in a few days."

The prohibition authorities previously had denied the stories about Golding's suspension.

Chicago Hunt Asked for Necklace Stolen Abroad

Chief of Detectives Norton was asked yesterday by an insurance company to canvass forty downtown pawn shops for possible trace of an $85,000 pearl necklace with a marquis diamond clasp which was stolen on July 8 from Mrs. Cora B. Hyman, 179 Lake Shore drive, widow of a Chicago jeweler, at Carlsbad, Czecho-Slovakia. The necklace was taken along with $11,000 worth of other jewelry from her room in the Hotel Imperial. The insurance company said it had no definite information the necklace had been brought to Chicago.

WEALTHY PEORIA GAMBLER FREED BY HIS KIDNAPERS

Reported $100,000 Was Paid for Release.

Peoria, Ill., July 24.—[Special.]—William Urban, Peoria gambling house keeper and baseball pool operator, who was kidnaped by four men Monday near Radnor, eight miles northwest of here, returned to his home this morning, unharmed, but $100,000 poorer because of the experience, according to reports.

Urban denied he knew the names of his abductors when he telephoned the office of Sheriff Grant Minor of Peoria county, soon after his return home. He said he had been held captive in a house on the outskirts of Chicago. He was released yesterday after one of the kidnapers told him that publicity given the affair was making things dangerous for them.

"I was allowed to dress and they put me in my car and drove around for quite a while," Urban said. "Finally they stopped on a side road and told me to count to 1,000 slowly and remove the blindfold which they had placed on me. They said I could drive straight ahead to the outskirts of Chicago. I was in my car in which the men took me to Chicago.

"After reaching Chicago Heights I telephoned my partner, Frank Dougherty, and asked him to meet me in Chicago Heights, as I thought it would not be advisable to drive my own car home."

Urban said that at no time did his abductors mistreat him. Although he was silent on the subject of ransom, it was reported from reliable sources that $100,000 was withdrawn from a Peoria bank yesterday by associates of the baseball pool operator.

GANDHI SENDS SECRET MESSAGE TO REVOLT CHIEFS

May Contain Basis for Peace in India.

BOMBAY, India, July 24.—(AP)—All India would like to know what was written on a sheet of paper given by Mahatma Gandhi, leader of India's civil disobedience move, to two "peacemakers." Sir Tej Sahadur Sapru and Mr. Jayakar, after a four hour conference in Poona jail today. Sapru and Jayakar, Liberal leaders, have been trying to bring about a settlement of the civil disobedience campaign.

The paper was a message written by Gandhi to the Pandits Motilal Nehru and Jawaharlal Nehru, his co-leaders, who are imprisoned at Allahabad. The two Liberals will visit these two lieutenants of Gandhi next.

Pair Guard Secret.

The message may be nothing more than a fraternal greeting; then again it may contain matter on which may be based the hopes of a future peace for India. Sapru and Jayakar are guarding their secret.

Events at Poona have focused attention on the conference with the Mahatma to the exclusion of other Indian centers. The country as a whole has remained tranquil during the last 24 hours.

The two Liberals today issued the following statement:

"We visited Gandhi yesterday and today and have had prolonged interviews with him. We laid before him all the facts in our possession. He has given us a message in writing for the pandits, Matilal Nehru and Jawaharlal Nehru, which we are taking to Allahabad."

Merchants Call Strike.

The Piece Goods Merchants' association has decided to declare a strike, beginning next Saturday, as a protest against what is described as the repressive policy of the government.

The strike is to continue for an indefinite period. The decision of the association affects 440 foreign cloth dealers in the city of Bombay.

The association has hitherto imported about $70,000,000 worth of foreign cloth, most of it British, annually.

PAPA BAMBERGER IN FLIGHT WITH 'WATKINS' BABY

Experts Declare Infants Are Switched.

cago police official in service and director of the police bureau of identification for forty years. With a flourish and a smile, Dr. Kegel handed the veteran Inspector Watzek's fingerprint exhibits in the baby case.

Calls Finger Prints "Smears."

Disdaining the microscope which Inspector Watzek had used in tracing resemblances in the prints of mothers and babes, Capt. Evans glanced casually at the exhibits. A faint smile curled his lips as he answered Dr. Kegel's question.

"Why, I wouldn't call these finger prints at all. They're more like a collection of smears. I never heard of the finger print theory Mr. Watzek described. If it had been widely used in the European courts, I'd know about it."

Thereupon the conference ended, the experts went home, and Dr. Kegel started for the Bamberger residence at 5523 South Paulina street. Before starting he assured Mr. Watkins that after he spoke to Mr. Bamberger the baby trade, which the experts decreed, would go through without a hitch.

Start for Bamberger Home.

"If Bamberger doesn't hand over my son, I'll go and get him by force," Mr. Watkins belligerently declared. Then he went home to his wife and the baby the experts had declared to be Baby Bamberger. The Watkins home is at 1610 West 82d street.

A cluster of news and camera men, about fifty children, and a few curious parents of the neighborhood were about the Bamberger front yard when the commissioner's chauffeured sedan arrived. The youngsters set up an awed whispering as the commissioner approached with jaunty step, swinging his cane.

Commissioner Is Late.

"You're a little late commissioner," a photographer volunteered. "Bamberger bundled his wife and two kids into his car twenty minutes ago, and got away before we could pick up the trail. The baby, too? Sure. Mrs. Bamberger had him in her arms."

A neighbor suggested the father might have taken refuge at the home of his brother, Frank Bamberger, 621 West 60th street. The newsmen jumped to their cars, but Dr. Kegel stood, undecided and frowning.

"I'm not a detective," he finally said. "I can't go chasing him—haven't the authority."

"Sick of Science Business."

Arrival of the reporters at the Bamberger home twenty minutes before Dr. Kegel apparently forewarned him to flight. He appeared at the door in his shirt sleeves and denied Dr. Kegel's statement that illness had compelled him to leave the conference.

"Sick, yes," exclaimed Mr. Bamberger. "I'm sick of this science business. I had it out with Kegel before the conference and told him nobody is going to take away my baby. My wife knows it's our baby and I guess a mother's instinct is as good as the experts, who contradict themselves. Watzek is the expert I stand by."

"Humbug," was Mr. Bamberger's last shot before slamming the door. A few minutes later the assemblage saw him help his family into the car and depart. Dr. Kegel broke the distressing news to Mr. Watkins two hours later at his home.

Watkins Threatens to Sue.

"I'll sue Bamberger for a writ of habeas corpus," Dr. Kegel quoted Watkins as threatening. "And I'll sue the hospital for damages. Talk about Bamberger's wife being hysterical. Here's Bamberger chasing around in the hot sun with my baby, and my wife sitting at home nursing his baby."

From Mrs. John P. Loughnane, wife of an attorney who had represented both Bamberger and Watkins, came a rumor early this morning that her husband was seeking to effect a secret meeting between the fathers for a secret exchange of the babies. Mrs. Loughnane said the lawyer had telephoned her that he would be away perhaps all night on the case.

TWO MEN LET WOMAN STARVE; HELD BY POLICE

Victim Weighs 38 Pounds When Taken to Hospital.

Into a small frame building at 4948 Gunnison avenue yesterday trooped a squad of policemen. They gaped at the scene before them. Huddled in a chair sat Jacob Pfeiffer, 73 years old, released some time ago from the insane asylum at Kankakee. Near him was Joseph Shea, 37 years old, a silent, morose figure. They both were gazing at a bundle of clothing on a bed. Infrequent, human-like gasps issued from the bundle.

Patrolman Andrew Kreuzer peered at the bundle. A few minutes later an ambulance from the Belmont hospital arrived and carried away the shrunken figure within the clothing.

Victim of Starvation.

Dr. S. O. Myerson of the hospital staff made the following report:

"The patient has been identified as Miss Dina Schreimer, 55 years old. She is apparently a victim of starvation, weighing only 38 pounds. A normal woman of her height and age would weigh about 150 pounds."

Informed that the woman would probably die, Dr. Harry O'Conner, superintendent of the hospital, ordered that every method known to science be employed in an effort to save her life.

Pfeiffer and Shea were arrested and held at the Shakespeare avenue police station. Policeman Kreuzer said they probably would be sent to the psychopathic hospital. An investigation revealed that they had watched the woman starve for months. She was the aunt of Shea and the sister-in-law of Pfeiffer.

Police said Miss Schreimer has a small amount of insurance. A report that the two men had spent $2,000 which Miss Schreimer had deposited in a bank was being investigated.

The men said Miss Schreimer had refused to take food for several months. And during those months, they admitted, they had spent most of their time in the house, watching her starve.

At the Belmont hospital the woman was fed with an eye dropper containing a solution of half milk and water. Intravenous injections of a glucose saline solution were made. She was speechless and deaf, but retained her sight.

Late last night Miss Schreimer died.

BRAZIL REMITS $3,000,000 FINE ON YANKEE BANK

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, July 24.—(AP)—A $3,000,000 fine imposed by a federal bank inspector on the National City Bank of New York for alleged infractions of the banking laws through exchange transactions in the Sao Paulo branch several months ago has been remitted by decision of the minister of finance, with the approval of President Washington Luis.

The bank inspector last January investigated certain exchange transactions and declared that he had found irregularities for which he imposed the huge fine. The National City bank placed $3,000,000 in the Banco de Brazil on March 14 as a guarantee of payment and then appealed the decision, with the result that it was reversed by the minister of finance.

The decree announcing a reversal, however, stated that the regular fine would be imposed for the lack of necessary revenue stamps, but that this would not be more than a few thousand dollars.

COURT APPROVES $3,000,000 IN CAR EXTENSIONS

South Side Lines Take Lead on Improvements.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The Chicago City railway and the Calumet and South Chicago railway, south side surface lines, took the lead yesterday in preparing to build extensions and make improvements in accordance with the special ordinance passed on July 16.

Attorney Harry P. Weber obtained a decree from Federal Judge Wilkerson directing Leonard A. Busby and Edward N. Hurley, receivers for these companies, to make the extensions deemed necessary to comply with that ordinance. Early next week Weber will apply to the Illinois commerce commission for its approval, and as soon thereafter as particular extensions are decided on notice will be given the aldermen on the specific program contemplated.

Court Provides for Expense.

The order of the federal court provided not only for the spending of the money—probably about $3,000,000—but named an available and ample source from which to obtain the cash. The order said that the receivers may take the cash from the current money in their hands or from the special renewal fund, or partly from both sources.

"Unless the Chicago Railways company, which operates the north and west side surface lines, indicates that it is making progress in the same direction before next Monday," said Ald. J. B. McDonough, chairman of the council local transportation committee, last night, "I shall inquire what their intentions are and why they have not taken the precautionary action to prevent delay in building the extensions. The sole reason for passing the ordinance of July 16 was to obtain improvements and extensions before the consolidated transportation company accepts its franchise.

Wilkerson Leaves for Europe.

"The receiverships of the surface line companies are pending before Federal Judge Wilkerson and he left for a vacation in Europe today until about the middle of next September. If an order of court is necessary to permit the receivers to spend money, I do not understand why the Chicago Railways company has not asked for it."

It is understood that it is not absolutely essential that the north and west side lines obtain an order of the federal court. A city lawyer suggested yesterday that the receivers, if they have the cash, can make the extensions and apply to Judge Wilkerson on Sept. 25 for approval of their action, or they may apply to some other judge for an emergency order, or they might rely on an order of the Illinois commerce commission and obtain court approval later.

Cash Situation Outlined.

The last statements of the board of supervising engineers indicate that the north and west side surface lines do not have half as much cash in their special renewal fund as have the south side lines. The west and north side lines are paying for buses out of this fund and it is not expected to have any accumulations for a period.

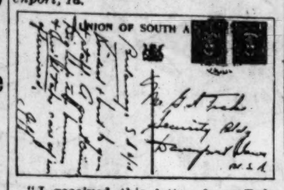
The elevated lines are not in receivership. No one has questioned their ability to obtain their share of the $12,000,000 required for improvements under the July 16 ordinance, but no announcement has been made that it has been raised or that a plan of getting it has been prepared.

Some aldermen apparently are becoming anxious that work on improvements shall be started and authorative announcement made that the preliminary steps are being taken. One alderman said yesterday that he will ask for information at the council meeting next Tuesday.

INTERESTING LETTERS

If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune, stating name of place where it was mailed and some information about the writer of the letter.

Letter received by G. H. Ficke, Davenport, Ia.



"I received this letter from Bulawayo, Rhodesia, South Africa," Mr. Ficke writes. "It came from Mr. P. G. Jefferson, a traveling representative of the Canadian Pacific."

"Bulawayo, a hospitable frontier city of South Africa, is the metropolis of that vast territory of 440,000 square miles that was long the palatinate of the British South Africa company, and is named Rhodesia after the tireless empire builder who garnered it for his nation. The memory of Cecil Rhodes pervades the city. His statue stands at the crossing of the principal street; the government house is on land that was once his; the Matopos dam is his work; the Rhodes farm is nearby, and his tomb is in the stern Matopos hills, a few miles away.

"A lonely granite summit there appealed strongly to him for the far-spreading panorama which he once called a 'view of the world,' and during his lifetime he set it aside to be 'forever the resting place of those who have deserved well of their country.' Here he himself was buried beneath a plain brass plate that bears the laconic epitaph that he wrote for himself: 'Here lie the remains of Cecil John Rhodes.'

"Bulawayo is usually reached either through Port Elizabeth, known as the 'Liverpool of South Africa,' or through Durban. From the port travel leads via Johannesburg and Pretoria to Bulawayo, and from there on for a trip to the Victoria falls, which might be called the Niagara of Africa if it were not that the comparison is misleadingly inadequate. These falls are twice as high as Niagara falls and ten times as wide, set deep in a tropical jungle, and are incomparably more beautiful."

DENY BAIL TO ALLEGED SLAYER.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 24.—[Special.]—Police tonight were baffled by the finding of the body of Miss Frances Thompson, 26, and pretty, in a closed and locked sedan. She apparently had taken poison, but the car parked in a suburban street, was locked from the outside.

DR. MUEHLBERGER PLEDGES CARE IN CORONER'S CASES

New Chemist Tells Plans as He Takes Office.

Dr. C. W. Muehlberger, assistant director of the scientific crime detection laboratory of Northwestern university, took up his duties yesterday as coroner's chemist with the declaration that accuracy and carefulness are the first essential of success. He was appointed Wednesday by Coroner Bundesen to succeed Dr. Ralph Waldo Webster, who died on July 2.

"One little error might permit a murderer to go free or take the liberty or life of an innocent man," Dr. Muehlberger said in telling of his plans. "So much may depend on so little that I intend to use the utmost care in all my examinations.

Little Slip Is Great Hazard.

"I recall a slip made by a toxicologist in a famous case of a dozen years ago. He assumed that a powdered rather than a liquid poison had caused a certain clothing stain and, as it turned out, the entire case practically hinged upon this point.

"One mistake of this kind can ruin an expert's usefulness as shrewd lawyers would always recall that mistake in future cases where he is called upon to testify. In dealing with poisons, examinations of stains and analyses of substances that may be of importance in determining whether a murder has been committed and the guilt or innocence of any one, the utmost in precaution should be taken. A little extra time given to the study of matters presented to a coroner's chemist is always well spent."

Former Wisconsin Expert.

Dr. Muehlberger was for five years state toxicologist for Wisconsin. He came to the Northwestern university laboratory last March as assistant to Col. Calvin Goddard, ballistics expert. He is a native Chicagoan and he received his doctor's degree at the University of Wisconsin.

"While Coroner Bundesen has always given the fullest coöperation to our laboratory my appointment as coroner's chemist will bring the two departments closer together," Dr. Muehlberger said. "Through my having charge of the coroner's laboratory that department will always be in close harmony with the work being done by Col. Goddard.

Help Preserve Evidence.

"After all, the vast majority of murder cases in Cook county involve the use of firearms rather than poison. Only in rare instances is a poison used with murderous intent. Most poison cases are suicides. I know of only two or three trials in Chicago where the defendant was accused of murder by administering poison.

"In my new position I can be of much service in aiding in the identification of bodies and preserving every shred of possible evidence. It's an opportunity to give excellent service and I accept it as such."

Col. Goddard announced the addition to the consulting staff of the crime detection laboratory of Dr. A. J. Pacini, a Chicago scientist who maintains a light laboratory at 9 South Clinton street. The uses of ultra-violet light crime detecting facilities are added to the resources of the university.

BELCASTRO FREED BY COURT.

James Belcastro, so-called king of the bombers, arraigned yesterday in the South State street court on a charge of disorderly conduct, was discharged by Judge Matthew D. Hartigan when Detective William Drury and John Howe, who arrested him, said they had no evidence against him.

FIGHT TO AVERT ANTHRAX SPREAD AFTER MAN DIES

Health department action against the possible spread of deadly anthrax germs was taken yesterday by Dr. Gottfried Koehler, assistant commissioner of health. John Block, 48 years old, a laborer living at 1227 Holt street, died on Wednesday from anthrax infection, after working on a truck farm near Niles Center.

Dr. Koehler's investigators learned that Block had recently purchased a cheap shaving brush and the brush, and others like it, were taken to the department, where the bristles were ground, suspended in a salt solution, which was injected into guinea pigs to determine if there were germs in the brushes. Forty-eight hours may elapse before the results of this experiment are determined.

Anthrax germs are most often found on cattle and hogs and in animal hides. Block's was the first case reported here in five years, according to the health department records. From 1920 to 1925 thirteen cases developed, several deaths following. Last night Dr. Koehler sent investigators to the Niles Center truck farming region to determine if any infected animals could be found.

MRS. BLANCHE DUNN
7519 St. Lawrence Ave., Chicago

You can put Konjola, the new and different medicine, to the test knowing that tens of thousands—many of them residents of Chicago—have proved beyond the shadow of a doubt that Konjola is a REAL medicine. Read, now, the grateful words of Mrs. Dunn:

"About ten years ago I had typhoid, and this left my stomach in bad shape. I suffered so much gas and bloating that many a time I had to remove my clothing. I could not eat fruit of any kind. Neuritis attacked my limbs. I tried so many different medicines that I can not remember them all. But now, after taking five bottles of Konjola I do not have any trouble with my stomach, and the neuritis pains are much better."

CHANGING FASHIONS IN PHILANTHROPY.

The Chicago Community Trust has just issued its annual report showing capital assets of more than $3,000,000. The trust distributed its income, $93,000, in varying amounts to sixty-seven educational and charitable institutions in 1929.

The Community Trust, when organized, was a step in advance of the prevailing method of giving away money. It had been the fashion to give in perpetuity to particular institutions or for particular purposes. Bryan Mullanphy of St. Louis in 1851, for example, left a large sum the income of which was to be used for the relief of distressed homesteaders traveling by covered wagon to new homes in the west. The building of railroads and the settlement of the west rendered his gift superfluous within 15 years. Hundreds of similar instances could be cited from the time of the Greeks, who set up perpetuities for the support of the Delphic oracle, to our own day. It has been hard for some men to grasp the fact that the world is not static and that a good cause today may be no cause at all tomorrow. The day laborer in Chicago today is in many respects vastly better off than the most powerful emperor was a few hundred years ago. In a world which changes so rapidly it is plain that no bequest for a specific purpose is certain or even likely to have meaning for generations after the donor's death.

The Community Trusts in Chicago and elsewhere were created in recognition of the fallacy of perpetuities for specific purposes. The income from money turned over to the trusts may be earmarked for a particular institution, but if the trustees conclude that the institution is no longer deserving of support they may change the beneficiary. This is good as far as it goes, but as a method of philanthropy it is also outmoded. The newer ideal, as exemplified in the giving of Mr. Rosenwald, the Rockefellers, and Mr. Couzens, is to free trustees still further, permitting them to decide not only how the income is to be used but also whether to use part of the principal as well as the income if they see a clear need for doing so. Mr. Rosenwald and Mr. Couzens have gone even farther: they have required that the principal be exhausted within a few years.

Mr. Rosenwald has said there is and can be no such thing as a perpetuity, and to set one up is to defy common sense. Changes in the value of money, expropriations, and war are among the influences which have defeated previous attempts in this direction. He says, too, that the setting up of perpetuities often prevents the maximum good being accomplished with a given sum of money. You can accomplish with half a million dollars today what you may not be able to do with the interest from half a million from now till the end of time.

The report of the Chicago Community Trust seems to be grist for Mr. Rosenwald's mill. The income, less than $100,000 in all, was distributed to nearly 70 beneficiaries, an average of less than $1,400 each. The chances of achieving anything with gifts of this size are not great. Much more could have been accomplished if the money, principal as well as interest, had been available for expenditure as the trustees deemed advisable. The trust's report stresses the need for relief for unemployment this year, but nothing is likely to be accomplished, either in a fundamental attack on the problem or in temporary relief of the thousands of jobless in Chicago with so meager a sum as the income makes available.

If trustees are given the right to spend principal as well as interest, future generations, of course, would have to provide funds for their own philanthropies. We do not regard this as an argument for perpetuities, but rather as one against them. Why should men today seek to provide for generations yet unborn, whose needs no one living today can imagine? As Mr. Rosenwald has said, good-will will not die with this generation; rather make the most of the money now available for public uses and let the philanthropists of the future do as much in their day and generation.

To keep pace with the times the Community Trust might well emphasize its willingness to accept outright gifts to be spent, principal and interest, at the discretion of the trustees. As we read over the list of their names we are satisfied that the money will not be squandered.

A GREAT REFORM PROPOSED.

The dean of St. Paul's cathedral in London, known to fame as the "gloomy dean," addressing a Wesleyan conference at Leeds, asserts that what Americans spend on luxuries in two years would pay the entire British debt. The Wesleyan congress must have numbered many Americans, and a word to the wise is sufficient. We think Mr. Joy of Detroit and Mr. Peabody of Massachusetts should have this information conveyed to them without delay. A two year Ramadan should be proclaimed at once by the debt cancellationists, the Sulgrave Manor society, the Pilgrims, and the English Speaking union. If Uncle Shylock will forego all his luxuries for that brief period the British taxpayer will be relieved of his woes, with which the world is now resounding, the dukes can brush up their palaces and parks, the earls need not sell their Rembrandts and Van Dykes to American vulgarians.

The very reverend dean estimates that about $10,500,000,000 is spent annually in the United States alone on what the speaker calls luxuries. True, such waste is not unknown in France, England, and elsewhere, but Americans are, as in other matters, the chief offenders.

The dean also says that the real grievance of the workingman is not that he is hardly worked or poorly paid, but that he has to produce luxury goods of no real use, by which he loses his self-respect. Thus by foregoing luxuries in the United States we can pay the British debt and restore to our workingmen their self-respect. All the workmen who work in the motor industry, which turns out so many million luxurious passenger cars, the workmen in the moving picture industry, the makers of silk stockings and lingerie, of cigarets and cigars and chocolates, of gramophones and parlor radios—all these humiliated slaves of human luxury can then be free to dig coal or enjoy other forms of self-respecting labor. The pay may be even less than it is for that service now, but hard work and poor pay is not the workman's grievance, the very reverend dean informs us.

Here is a plan that cannot fail to appeal to both countries involved. The British swell goes out of debt in two years and the American workman loses his "real grievance" and is restored to the joy of self-respecting, if modestly remunerated, labor. Let's go.

VIRGINIANS SPEAK FOR OUR INHERITANCE.

The resolution sponsored by fifty of the leading lawyers of Virginia for repeal of the 18th amendment is noteworthy, not merely because of the standing of its authors, but because it adds to the increasing emphasis placed upon the constitutional aspects of the prohibition experiment. This aspect was obscured at the time of the adoption of the 18th amendment, when the nation, including even the natural guardians of constitutional principle, the lawyers, was concentrated upon the catastrophe of the European war. It is neglected today by laymen generally and studiously ignored by the professional prohibitionists as well as by those supporters of prohibition who are still preoccupied with the evils of the liquor traffic and fear any radical change in the present method of dealing with it involves a return of the saloon.

It is therefore of the greatest public service that men learned in the law should direct public attention to the profound questions of government and constitutional principle which our departure from them acutely raises. There has been no deeper or more far reaching issue in our history than that presented by the 18th amendment, and this is admirably stated in the proposed Virginia resolution, which declares that the amendment is "contrary to the basic principles of our form of constitutional government, is subversive of the reserved powers of the several states and of the retained rights of the people, and is destructive of the principles set out in the Declaration of Independence and the federal bill of rights."

It is gratifying to know that the profound wisdom and statesmanship which the mighty sons of revolutionary Virginia so richly contributed to the foundation of the nation and to the rich heritage of American law and liberty have neither been forgotten in the modern state nor lack devoted champions among its citizens.

THE CONGRESSMEN VISIT THE REDS.

Congressman Hamilton Fish's committee of congressmen investigating communism tried to get an intimate view of two summer camps of the comrades near Newburgh, N. Y., and in each received the community hoot. The brethren were opposed to displaying their home life to the inquisitors, although it might be thought that if the Marxian idea would work out well at any time it would in the summer in the valley of the Hudson when the berries are ripe and the farm truck is coming along just over the fence.

Congressman Fish's committee may not be wholly of an open mind, but two Edens along the river or close by would be impressive. The comrades, instead of washing their shirts and policing their camps for visitors, indicated that they did not want to persuade any one that communism works out to better purpose than capitalism. The congressmen being given the hoot will probably make an adverse report and the soviet cause will be set back for another year or two in this country.

Editorial of the Day

[New York Evening Post.]

To find out "The Truth About Chicago" a correspondent for the London Saturday Review has been visiting that picturesque city. He reports that he sought everywhere to witness the crimes of violence which, he supposed, would make his visit win him "a reputation as an intrepid adventurer." He went to every spot where death was supposed to lurk—"just outside the loop," in the black belt, "back of the yards," and in dark alleys in the Sicilian district. His verdict is:

"Everywhere I heard tales of murder, hijacking, bombing of private houses, robberies, deaths of gangsters, and other such dislocations of routine. But after some days I, with my own eyes, had seen nothing more hair raising than a 'burlesque' show in a fairly sordid quarter, which was reputed to be the last limit of vice (all America adores that word), and which would have sent the country visitors to many a London revue fast asleep within ten minutes. And a man preaching anarchy at one end of Washington square to an audience of another man preaching communism at the other end of Washington square."

Yet, on the other hand, "St. Valentine's day was celebrated by a particularly brutal machine gun massacre of seven gangsters lined up with their faces to a garage wall, not five hundred yards from where I was staying."

These verdicts sound contradictory. They are not. "The Truth About Chicago" is that its far famed crime is gang crime, racketeer crime, prohibition crime, and that the average citizen who keeps out of these circles is as safe as he is in New York or Boston.

A VITAL POINT.

The inspector had been asking questions at the school until everybody was tired of hearing him.

"Now," said he, "you may ask me some questions if you like."

No one stirred, till at last a little hand went up and Jane asked, wearily: "Please, sir, what time does your train go?"—Flesherton Advance.

WORKERS AND EXERCISE.

At a certain establishment one of the bootblacks is almost as broad as he is long, and his equator exceeds his polar length by some inches. An inquisitive customer, as he sees the serving man approach, wonders how a hard working shoe shiner can retain such curves. When the process of shining begins his wonder ceases. About the only manual labor involved is daubing on a little blacking, and that is made easy by the use of almost self-applying liquids. The old time bootblack has evolved into deus ex machina. He stands by, eying the job appraisingly, but moving few muscles. As he watches and directs the machine an electrically driven fan cools his fevered brow. I assume his brow is fevered because something should be and nothing else is.

The inquisitive customer, having nothing else to engage his mind, changes himself into a philosopher, the fan keeping him cool meanwhile. Does the workingman get enough exercise in this machine age? This was the first question for which he sought an answer. A train of philosophising unfolded. Tending a machine, if it is fatiguing, must be so because of monotony. No muscles use up their glycogen and flood themselves with lactic acid. At most, but a few muscles participate in the day's work. How are the other muscles to get enough work for their well being? What will be the effect on the race of this lack of muscle development on the part of so many of the people? How long before the average man will be flabby, soft, and undermuscled?

The workingman has learned that he must eat heavy meals with many calories and much proteids. How long can a man's kidneys stand such a diet if the day's work demands but little muscle work?

The customer's mind veered around a bit. Maybe this evolution in bootblacking might have some advantages from the standpoint of the race. Here was a fat man who could not have been a bootblack when the old method was the vogue. He was pathologically obese and he was not fitted for any job requiring manual labor. The new style bootblacking opened up a possibility for him. Does it not do the same for cripples and for the aged?

KEEP BABIES AT HOME.

S. R. writes: I contemplate spending two weeks' vacation on a farm upstate with my children. I have a boy 3 months of age, a bottle baby, and I was wondering whether it was advisable for me to go away, whether I am taking any chance with him on the change of milk. I was away a few years ago when one of my other boys was the baby's present age. I had a great deal of trouble despite the fact that I boiled all his milk and water.

Hope you will give me advice in the affirmative, as I have three other small boys to whom it will be greatly beneficial to go away.

REPLY.

The best place for a baby is at home. Rarely can one get milk good enough for a baby anywhere else. If you are determined to go, proceed as follows: Pick out a house that is cool and roomy. Avoid places that are dirty and infested with flies. If you can get pasteurized milk from a town use it instead of a farm supply. See to it that the kitchen is supplied with a good refrigerator.

KEEP MIND BUSY.

B. R. writes: Please tell me how to overcome the bad mental habit of going over and over the same thing in my mind.

REPLY.

Replace this bad mental habit with a good one. Keep your mind busy with reading, conversing, observing, and train your thinking apparatus.

ANOTHER ECZEMA CURE.

M. B. G. writes: I should like to help Mrs. W. B. B. by telling her about my son's experience with eczema. He began having it when he was a baby and he had it for years. His arm looked like a sponge. He stopped eating sweets and his eczema disappeared. He has been free from it since, for nearly a year.

COLLECTING JUDGMENT.

Chicago, July 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—The court decided in my favor in judgment of $10 for furniture sold. The case was decided May 7. How can I collect the judgment? The man is employed by a railroad at high salary.

C. P. F.

The first step would be to serve a garnishee demand notice on the employer and employé. You can secure printed forms from a stationer. If this does not bring settlement within the period named in the notice, you should employ an attorney for garnishment. Since most railroads make a practice of insisting that their employés protect them against garnishment, we suggest that you notify the debtor that unless he settles at once you will take this step. This may effect settlement without any further trouble.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ALL NIGHT PARKING.

Chicago, July 19.—[Friend of the People.]—Why is the overnight parking law not enforced between Cicero avenue and Lavergne avenue on Wrightwood? Twenty or more machines park in the street all night, blockading other traffic.

A. C.

The captain commanding this district reports: "I detailed a lieutenant on the middle watch and a lieutenant on the 12 o'clock watch to investigate this complaint and both stated that they have made several trips around this section but find no automobiles parked all night in the section complained of. Ford crews and post men have been instructed to see that there is no all night parking of automobiles in the section complained of as well as in other parts of the district."

Acting Police Commissioner.

THE NEIGHBOR'S PHONE.

Chicago, July 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A had a business, but had no telephone. B, a neighbor, allowed him the use of his phone and also received messages for him under the name of A's firm. In case of any trouble, as failure or disappearance of A, can B be held responsible or held by creditors, etc.?

A. F.

Not on the bare facts stated.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

HOW CAN THEY PRY CLAUDIUS LOOSE? (OR, HAVE THEY?)

That seems to be the great question nowadays. The G. O. P. is worried sick over it and it's just too bad. Claudius Huston, the chairman of the national Republican committee, simply does not resign, although day succeeds day and night succeeds night and the weeks pass into months, and still Claudius hangs on to his job with a hammerlock hold that there seems to be no way of breaking. They have hinted to Claudius to resign, they have asked Claudius to resign, they have begged Claudius to resign, but Claudius holds right on. At least he did up to the hour this item is written. If you happen to see on the front page that Claudius has finally let go, then you needn't worry about the thing any more. But it's hardly possible. Claudius is simply glued, cemented, and welded to his job. What to do? There's an election coming on in the fall and the proletariat do not like Claudius; but there he sits with both arms around his job. Over in Detroit the folks fired a mayor, but there doesn't seem to be any way of firing Claudius. Even if they fired him Claudius wouldn't believe it. Strong men might grab Claudius' eager fingers and pull them away with a job, but after they got his hands loose they'd find that Claudius had seized a toehold. And there he is hugging that job so tight that it's black in the face and choking for breath. What to do? That's the question; what to do?

ALL IN GOOD TIME.

When I was young, and musically inclined,
I longed to play at once, a rhapsody.
But my wise teacher said, "You cannot find
A short cut to perfection. When you learn
To play your scales as scales should be, and earn
The right to simple tunes—then we will see.
But first, do well the thing at hand, nor seek
To swim beyond your depth when you are weak."

I think of this, when there are those who crave
To pierce the future—tear aside the curtain
That hides that unknown land beyond the grave,
And speak to those who dwell therein. Again
I hear that teacher's voice. "And are you, then,
Through with the tasks you have been set, and certain
You have no more to learn?" Oh, futile strife!
To question Death before you master Life!

"I SAW YOU and your little Sealyham Thomas Atkins on the corner," writes Snootie Snuzan, "and you seemed to want to go north and the hound wanted to go south. I was passing in my motor and couldn't wait to see the end of the argument, but which way did you finally go?" We cannot recall the incident, Snootie, as that happens at every corner, but we would say offhand we went south.

ANTON CERMAK GIVES US A MAP.

We thank you, Anton Cermak, for the nice new auto map you sent us of the Chicago neighborhood. It will be a great help. But just one thing, Anton. You say, "Do not pass another car on a curve, at the top of a hill, at highway intersections, or at railroad grade crossings." Thank you very much, Anton, for the compliment, but we are rather gentle in our driving so far, and we have passed nothing but two baby buggies and an ice cream push cart. We passed the push cart three times. The man seemed to get cross because we passed him and he would speed up and pass us a little later. And once the push cart went past us on a curve. If he does it again we're going to ask a motor cop to give him a ticket.

LINDY says he can't get any degree of privacy down in Englewood, N. J., and is said to be considering moving Anne, the baby, and himself out to Tulsa, Okla., where he won't be followed around by gaping crowds every time he sets foot outdoors. Oh, colonel, why not move back to St. Louis? Gee, Lindy, that ought to be lonesome enough for you.

The Ecstatic Society Reporter.

[From the Trenton (Mo.) Republican-Times via Mon Tann.]

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dunkin, who recently launched their boat on the matrimonial sea for better or for worse, but hope to ride the waves of the tide that ebbs and flows, until called to their reward on the celestial shore, were given a charivari and shower on Saturday evening, May 3. There were 72 neighbors and friends gathered at their home six miles southeast of Trenton, where a pleasant evening was spent, even though the bridegroom was given a ducking in the water tank.

SOUTH DAKOTA ANNOUNCES it will ask Cal Coolidge, our brother colyumist, to rewrite the history of the United States to go on the mountain out there and that Gutzon Borglum will not be allowed to change it. Now that the matter is being aired again we can't help wondering if Gutzon isn't doing a little editing on Cal's column. Yesterday Calvin said: "To become equal to others we must go down or they must go up." That sounds to us a good deal like Gutzon. Or Bartlett, or Hoyt, or Bill Shakespeare, or something.

LAGNIAPPE.

WELL, IN ALL FAIRNESS it must be admitted that the Republican party is not exactly responsible for this terrible heat spell and the long drouth, but you can just bet they'll be blamed for it when the day of reckoning comes in November. And, anyhow, if the Farm Board can work miracles, why don't they go ahead and work 'em? Shouldn't be surprised if the Republican party was to blame after all.

AND NOW that the cops are chasing the tree sitters down, what'll we do now for excitement? Wonder if we can't find a dozen or so men to roll peanuts by pushing said peanut with the nose along the Boul. Mich.? Gosh! We must be amused.

TOO UNWIELDY

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 25, 1865.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The trial of Capt. Henry Wirtz, the inhuman rebel commandant of the Andersonville prison, where so many Union soldiers perished during the last two years, will commence tomorrow before Gen. Underwood's court martial. He is charged with refusing prisoners food sufficient to sustain life; forcing them to drink water into which prison offal had been thrown; chaining prisoners together until they died, and refusing to give them shelter from the heat and cold; in short, of murdering them by wholesale.

CINCINNATI, O.—In Probate court Judge Woodruff, though decidedly anti-slavery in sentiment, remanded Blind Tom, the Negro musical prodigy, to the custodianship of Bethune, his former master. Letters of guardianship issued to Mr. Cross, the claimant in Indiana, the court regarded as void. The parents reside in a state, Georgia, which has not yet thrown off slavery and has no law recognizing the parents as free people.

CHICAGO.—The launching of the giant crib for the east end of the lake tunnel was safely accomplished yesterday. It is forty feet and a half high and built in pentagonal form of logs one foot square. It was drawn out into the lake two miles. There the sluices were opened and it was allowed to fill with water and sink to the bottom of the lake. The tunnel itself when completed will be one of the wonders of the world, worthy of taking its place as the eighth. Aqueducts have been carried across valleys, but it remained for Chicago, itself a wonder of the world, to show how a water tight canal can be formed under the bed of a mighty lake.

JULY 25, 1900.

CHEFOO.—Gen. Li, commanding the Pei Tang forts, near Taku, reports to the British officer commanding at Tongku that a runner who left Peking on July 14 reports that city was in a state of absolute anarchy; that regular troops were fighting the Boxers and that the latter were getting the better of it; that the Maxim ammunition of the legation guards was exhausted; and that the guards recently rushed the walls and silenced the Chinese guns.

LONDON.—The new liner Deutschland arrived at Plymouth from New York after a record run of 5 days 14 hours and 6 minutes, despite the foggy weather for two days. The speed average was 23 knots for the entire voyage and the best day's run was 536 miles.

JULY 25, 1914.

LONDON.—Austria's ultimatum to Servia, in which demands are made that there shall be a cessation of acts which led to the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and the duchess of Hohenburg at Sarajevo on June 28 and that an answer shall be given within 48 hours has fallen like a bombshell in diplomatic quarters. The gravity and possibilities of the crisis between Austria and Servia are now recognized by diplomatists all over Europe. Further than war between these two nations, which, it is freely predicted, would involve all the Balkan nations, the gravest fears are based on the possible action of Russia and Germany. It is well understood that if Russia makes common cause with Servia against Austria, Germany will offer its arms to support the dual monarchy. Russia and France, the latter always the foe of Germany, are bound together in a dual alliance.

VIENNA.—Everything points to Austria's fixed determination to accept nothing but a definite "yes" or "no" from Servia in reply to Austria's ultimatum. All Austrian and Hungarian reservists abroad were warned by army authorities to be in readiness to join their regiments at 24 hours' notice.

PARIS.—Georges Clemenceau's paper, L'Homme Libre, says: "Never since 1870 has Europe been on the brink of a war of such magnitude." The Temps brands the Austrian note as arrogant.

POLAND'S DIFFICULTIES.

Chicago, July 20.—The editorial, "Voice of the Oppressed," is unjust and prejudiced in singling out Poland as an oppressor of its minorities. Poland's terrible mistake is the too liberal and very generous treatment of its minorities. Are the Jews, Germans, White Russians, and Ukrainians in the United States devoted to their own racial personality, as THE TRIBUNE says? No. They are in a hurry to be Americanized. That is as it should be! Every state must demand absolute, undivided loyalty to its own flag only, American here, Polish in Poland.

Poland had better follow America's example and try to Polandize its minorities by canceling all minority privileges if she is not to fall apart.

"Arrest on suspicion, long terms of imprisonment without trial, beatings and maltreatment in prison or upon arrest"—Ukrainian accusations against Poland, hastily believed and emphasized by THE TRIBUNE—are known and suffered in Chicago and in other parts of the United States. Lynchings, unequal treatment of colored citizens, and murders of innocent citizens on suspicion by prohibition agents all over the country are other sad and irregular occurrences not happening under an "iron dictatorship" in Poland, but in the United States, deplored by the government and people alike. Every state has its own troubles! The really oppressed minorities in Europe are the Poles in Germany and Lithuania and the Germans and Jugo-Slavians in Italy. The Jews must be considered in European countries as they are here—religious minorities within the nation of their residence.

THE TRIBUNE, believing in the equality of all free and sovereign nations, cannot demand rights for certain groups of citizens in Poland which could never be given to the same racial groups in the United States. The so-called "minority rights treaty"—an absurd imposition by the great powers on the smaller ones—must apply to all states or none. That makes the league impotent to solve the minorities problem. She has no right to violate the sovereignty of free nations by mixing in the internal affairs of Poland or Rumania and respecting the sovereignty of Italy or France or Germany.

A NEW SYSTEM AT THE LIBRARY.

Chicago, July 21.—Under the book recording system recently installed by the public library, the book borrower is compelled to register the books on his own card and the library record card. The books are then submitted to the library clerk, who inspects the work and stamps the date.

The library officials say that this saves time. I do not think that any time is saved because the book borrower has to stand in line three times.

I think the library officials have no right to force the taxpayers to do the work that the clerks are paid to do.

GRANT BEEBE.

FARM RELIEF.

Champaign, Ill., July 19.—A law requiring land owners to plow under enough legumes to maintain the nitrogen content of the soil would make farming profitable as it would require a third of all our tillable land in legumes and all plowed under to do this. Our present system means rapid ruin for our soils. Fifty years more of the present system and the corn belt soils will be almost worthless.

Every farmer would welcome such a law. The farm board should ask for such a law at once. They should also have a debenture bill and an equalization bill to be used when needed until the above system got to working. If we had an equalization bill now they could ship one hundred million bushels of wheat to the fifty million Chinese who are starving to death. The Chinese government would guarantee the payment of this wheat in five years rather than see their millions starve, and the farmers would get a hundred million dollars more for what wheat they sold at home than they will now for all of it.

W. S. VAN DORES.

OPEN AIR CONCERTS.

Highland Park, Ill., July 21.—As a reader of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for at least fifty years, I take the liberty of suggesting that some division of your publication take up the question of having band concerts at Grant park and in each section of the city. In doing this I believe that the enjoyment and appreciation of the people will be felt. Every large city in this country has free open air concerts with the exception of Chicago. New York gives fine programs in Central park. The Metropolitan Symphony orchestra has recitals on the Hudson. Philadelphia has the Philharmonic orchestra led by wonderful conductors. Other large American cities, particularly Los Angeles and San Francisco, also Portland and Seattle, draw large crowds to their great open air concerts.

A fee of from ten to twenty cents could be charged for admission. I know a number of friends who would contribute to the expense.

JULIUS E. WEIL.

AN ARTIFICIAL LAKE BREEZE.

Chicago, July 22.—Why not have some engineering group work out a series of propellers along the lake front or on some of the loop buildings to draw the coolness from Lake Michigan? Engineers made water run up hill in Chicago. Why not have a lake breeze any time and no more sweltering Chicagoans?

HENRY MOT JR.

A GREAT CARTOON.

Chicago, July 10.—Had I the gift of an unlimited vocabulary I would still be at a loss adequately to express my views and sentiments regarding our McCutcheon's cartoon in your paper of July 9 in commemoration of "John D.'s" ninety-first birthday. I feel satisfied all thinking people will want to preserve this volume of knowledge forever.

URGE UNIFIED TRAFFIC LIGHTS AS TIME SAVERS

Plea Made as South Park Board Fails to Act.

A progressive system of traffic lights on Michigan avenue was urged yesterday by the Chicago Association of Commerce, the Chicago Motor club, and the Chicago Surface Lines, after the failure of the south park board to act on the proposal to unify the three systems of traffic light on Michigan avenue.

"Due to the benefit accruing to traffic, it seems that the south park board would act wisely if it would cooperate with the city and the Lincoln park board in unifying the Michigan avenue traffic control system," Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, stated.

"Would Speed Traffic."

He declared that a progressive system of lights from 22d street to North avenue would increase the speed of rush hour traffic more than 100 per cent. He pointed out that north bound autos were stopped by a red light on the south end of the Michigan avenue bridge, operated by the city, and another red light just north of the bridge, operated by the Lincoln park board. This fault, he said, was due to the fact that the traffic light system on Michigan avenue is now operated by three separate systems.

A recent survey by E. J. McIlraith, traffic engineer for the Chicago Surface Lines, showed that a progressive system of lights would increase the average running speed of north bound traffic 50 per cent and south bound traffic 35 per cent. He said the high speed of traffic would be reduced, but that time would be saved by making possible a continuous speed of approximately 21 miles an hour.

Argues for Unified Control.

The proposed system of control, he said, would relieve the present backing up of traffic into Wabash avenue and State street and permit an even flow of vehicles from the loop.

Traffic experts of the Association of Commerce also recommend a progressive system of traffic control.

Coolidge Kin Wins $8,000 Rome Architecture Prize

New York, July 24.—[Special.]—Richard Coolidge Murdock, 25, a distant cousin of former President Coolidge, has won this year's prix de Rome award in landscape architecture, which has an estimated cash value of $8,000 and enables the winner to study three years abroad. Murdock was graduated from Cornell university in 1929. Although he now lives in Ossining, N. Y., Murdock was born in Woburn, Mass., and is descended on his mother's side from the Coolidges. He said he never had met the former President.

Victim of Soviet Points to Amtorg Head as Cheka Leader

New York, July 24.—[Special.]—The general manager of the Amtorg Trading corporation, the $100,000,000 unofficial buying agency of the soviet government here, today was declared to be a former squad leader of the Russian cheka, the secret police of the communist party.

He is Feodor Micyallovitch Ziavkin, who was a witness today before the congressional committee investigating Red propaganda here, and the man who said he recognized him was George Djamgaroff, monarchist sympathizer and operator of a Russian loyalist news service. He recognized him, he testified, by a hard slap across the face.

Goes Back to Revolution.

The story Djamgaroff told, as he sat erect, poised and sleekly groomed in the witness chair of the department of justice rooms on Lexington avenue, took the committee back to the last days of the vain struggle against soviet domination after the Russian revolution.

Djamgaroff was an officer of Russian Whites in the Don valley and, at Rostov on Don, was captured by the Reds. A flying squadron of the cheka took him in hand and their leader questioned him, and later slapped his face.

"I saw that man here this morning," said Djahgaroff. "He gave his name as Feodor Ziavkin and said he was the general manager of the Amtory Trading corporation. It is the first time I have seen him since my arrest."

Ziavkin was the the first witness on the stand today and Djamgaroff the last, but their testimony blended into one story. For Ziavkin told the legislators at the morning session that he came from Rostov and had held office there under the soviets. He denied, emphatically, that he had been a member of the cheka or the ogpu.

Document Forgery Investigated.

Djamgaroff's testimony came at the conclusion of a day spent on the so-called "Whalen documents" linking the Amtorg with Red agitation here. Two witnesses, called to clear up the long debated question whether the Whalen papers had been forged, immersed them in mystery as thick as Russian borsht.

One of them, Max Wagner, an east side printer, testified that he set up the type in which the letterheads among the papers had been printed, but that the paper of the documents was not his stock. The man for whom he did the job he said, seemed to be an attaché of a Russian Royalist newspaper.

The other witness, John A. Spivak, reporter for an evening tabloid, swore Wagner had admitted he did the printing of the documents, but made no mention of the different papers. It was a mystery that roused some animosities, for, when the committeemen pressed the examination of Spivak over the objection of Representative John E. Nelson of Maine, Mr. Nelson got up and walked out on them. He didn't want to hear the stuff.

Tells of Printing Order.

The Whalen documents, published by the ex-police commissioner as genuine, since have been called forgeries, intended to discredit Amtorg.

They comprise letters purporting to have passed between employés of the Amtorg, soviet officials in Russian and agitators here on propaganda matters.

Wagner testified that about seven months ago, a man he knew as a frequenter of the offices of a Russian Royalist paper came to his shop and asked him to set up some letterheads with the same legend as used by Amtorg.

The lettering was indicated on a hand written scrap of paper and no type was indicated. Wagner made six proofs, which the man later carried off. He did not return.

But when the committee put before him what appeared to be the originals of the Whalen papers, he identified his type, today.

"It is not the paper I used for the proofs," he said, "but this is the type I set up."

U. S. MISSIONS IN CHINA FLEE WAR ZONE IN LAUNCH

SHANGHAI, July 24. — (AP) — A launch flying the American and British flags brought to safety the group of British and American missionary workers in the Min river valley.

Leaders of the warring factions, through whose lines the rescue launch traveled, assisted British and American authorities and the boat was not molested on its trip from Yenping to Foochow.

Withdrawal of these workers virtually ended missionary activity in northern Fukien province. Reports from the interior said various missionary properties had been occupied by the native warring factions, making missionary work impossible.

DROWNS AFTER CRAMP ATTACK.

Walter Schor, 26 years old, 901 Dakin street, a waiter at the Knickerbocker hotel, was seized with cramps yesterday afternoon while swimming off Gleniake avenue beach, and drowned before help could reach him. The body was recovered by Beach Guard Nore Munson, 4620 Hazel avenue.

FIREBUG HUNTED AFTER FIRES IN 3 RIVERSIDE HOMES

Investigation of the firing of three homes in Riverside since Saturday has convinced Chief of Police Clarence Neuchafer that a pyromaniac is at work there, he announced yesterday. Two of the houses were burned to the ground. The third was saved through the alertness of a caretaker.

All the homes are in Riverside's most fashionable section. The first one fired was that of Mrs. Hermina Schimak, realty broker, at 133 Herrick road, which was burned early Saturday. The house, of 16 rooms, was a Riverside landmark. Mrs. Schimak was away. The loss is estimated at $20,000.

On Wednesday the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Johnson, 209 Bellepiaine road, a half block from the Schimak residence, was destroyed with a loss of $14,000. The Johnsons were out of town.

Nelson Schimmel, a caretaker for Henry B. Babson, village trustee of Riverside and president of Babson Brothers' mail order house in Chicago, noticed a man with a flashlight in the rear of the Babson home at 230 Long Common road early yesterday and after the man had disappeared flames burst out in a room on the second floor. Schimmel called the fire department and the blaze was extinguished, with not more than $200 damage. Chief Neuchafer has detailed an extra squad to hunt for the firebug.

HOME ROBBED OF $8,000 GEMS.

Albert Meyervitz, 6200 Kenmore avenue, yesterday reported to the Summerdale police that his home had been robbed of $8,000 worth of jewelry.

Science Puts Into Sugar-Coated Tablets

All the Benefits of Cod Liver Oil

No human being can keep in touch with all the amazing scientific developments of today. For instance, have you heard of the robot (mechanical man) which steers a steamship better than the most skillful pilot?

Or have you heard of the new process by which the wonderful flesh, bone, strength and energy increasing elements (vitamins) are taken from pure Norwegian cod liver oil and put into tablets whose only taste is their sugar coating?

This wonderful discovery—McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets, sold by all druggists—is at least as beneficial as the best liquid cod liver oil and a whole lot easier to take, digest and assimilate.

A ten-year-old New Jersey boy picked up amazingly fast on McCoy's, gaining 10 pounds in 21 days and delighting his mother with his all-round physical improvement. Thin, weak, nervous, rundown and underweight men, women and children can take McCoy's with complete confidence. For they are developed by exceptionally skilful and experienced chemists.

Furthermore, McCoy's have been tested and approved by the Good Housekeeping Bureau of Foods, Sanitation and Health. And all druggists guarantee them—60 tablets 60 cents.

It cost $408.46 less to heat this two-flat building with coal than any other fuel

COAL HEAT COSTS LESS

Coal Heat Costs Less in theory as well as practice. John Ankner, who owns this two-flat building at 3625 Bosworth proved it. Thinking that the added convenience of fuel B would make up, for what he thought, would be a very little added expense, he installed all the costly equipment required to handle it. For two years that "little added expense" just doubled his fuel bills. Mr. Ankner took out the burner and is again getting maximum value with coal heat.

In the tables below, the costs of his experiment are analysed. The $60.00 added to the cost of fuel B represents the yearly depreciation on an investment that cost him approximately $600.00 and whose life is 10 years. The $25.00 is charged to current and gas to operate the special burner. The $10.00 is charged to service.

Had he burned fuel C, his experiment would have been even more costly. As the table shows, in addition to spending $675.00 for fuel, he would have had to rent a burner at $60.00 a year.

To heat this building with three different fuels, these yearly expenditures would be required:

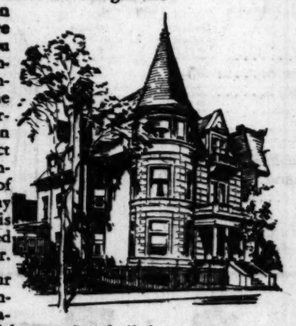
Fuel A (Coal)		Fuel B
24 tons	$8 a ton	4589 gal.	7¢ a gal.
	$192.00		$321.23
Kindling	5.00	Depreciation	$ 60.00
Ash removal	15.00	Current, gas,	25.00
	$212.00	Service	10.00
			$416.23

Fuel C
901,000 cubic feet	75¢ per 1000
	$675.75
Burner rental	60.00
	$735.75

Your heating problem is exactly like that of Mr. Ankner's. By burning coal you can make proportional savings . . . savings that can't be underrated. In Mr. Ankner's case, the difference between coal and fuel B over a period of five years would amount to $1,021.15; the price of a trip to Europe. The difference between coal and fuel C, over the same period, would amount to $2,618.75; the price of a good motor car.

Your savings with coal are just as substantial. Particularly when you consider that with coal heat, in addition to economy, you are getting the safest, the evenest, the quietest heat you could buy at any price.

These savings and these advantages are only to be had in their fullest measure when the coal you burn has been honestly graded and honestly weighed. The Chicago Coal Merchants Association is pledged to protect you in these essentials. Every load of coal sent out by any of its members is weighed by a bonded public weigh master.



Make sure that your merchant is a member of this Association; then you will be certain of all the savings coal heat has for you.

Mrs. Gladys H. Bevans Tells Daily How to Guide Children

The Nine Hundred Block

BY KATHARINE HAVILAND TAYLOR

SYNOPSIS.

In the nine hundred block, with its sordid dwellings, moved gentle, lovely Theresa Colt and her mother, Mrs. Colt, under the watchful eye of Mrs. Baum, neighborhood reporter; also Johnny Deane, who left a home of wealth to make good for the girl to whom he secrets, since meeting Theresa, he is engaged. He has found employment painting automobiles. Theresa does typing at home to support herself and mother. Mrs. Colt encourages Billy Treadway, a rich bachelor beau of her girlhood, in his attentions to Theresa. Theresa's father, Arnold Ames, married again after Theresa's mother divorced him and married Barrington Colt, who recently died. The father now has a belated desire to help his daughter, but his wife threatens to leave him if he does. He arranges with Harold Gale, a friend, to secretly give Theresa work.

Johnny Deane had determined not to tell Theresa of his love for her until he had broken his engagement, but does not keep his vow. Theresa returns his love.

Billy Treadway takes Theresa to a Christmas dance at the new country club, where she sees her father.

Johnny sends his laundry to a neighbor and Mrs. Baum, noting the Paris and London labels, believes Johnny to be a prince in hiding.

INSTALLMENT XVII.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS.

In his room again Johnny wrote a message for his father on a card. "Dear dad," it read, "I am sending you a piece of lounging robe I wear in the shop. I thought you might like it for your memory book. Merry Christmas. Johnny." Years before Johnny had put Xs after his signature in his letters to his father. Motherless, he had been packed off to school very early. He felt a little sheepish, doing it now, but he appended a line of Xs. He was beginning to see his father—as well as himself—from the new world he had made for himself. Truly, we must all stand a bit away, in order to see any picture clearly; the value of certain figures, and ourselves of the group, posed in these portraits.

Saturday was the most exciting day Theresa had ever had in her life.

Mr. Gale came in with a sheaf of new work; this consisted of her copying from a telephone book, the names of those who had telephones in Yoe. She had meant to be extremely dignified with him; but try that, if your heart is warm, at Christmas—instead of upon your piano.

Theresa thawed as his face mirrored his sheepish shame.

Billy had told her that Harold Gale was courting Arnold Ames' wife's niece; and Theresa realized that the moment at the club dance must have been difficult for him. And she and Billy had looked on the niece—pointed out by Billy—and Theresa had wondered why Mr. Gale loved her. "Is she nice?" she asked of Billy; for of course it was the spirit that counted; Theresa was as certain of that as she was of God and of loving—Johnny.

Billy had responded that Miss Mildred Smith had the disposition of a hyena with an ulcerated tooth and that her charities would make Hetty Green seem a female Andy Carnegie.

"Then I don't—quite understand," Theresa had murmured. [Mildred was anything but pretty.]

"You wouldn't," Billy said grimly, and he had cast one of the glances at her that she had come to dread; one of the "soft ones." They made her draw away . . . want a hot bath; to soak long in it and to forget Billy, who at other times was "so nice!"

Mr. Gale, the morning of that exciting Saturday, had a package under his arm.

"I have been asked to deliver this to you," he said [business done], "by a friend; and if you feel—for any reason—that you must return it, I will take it back to him. If you can keep it—and it will mean much to him if you can—I will—ah—convey your appreciation to him——"

"I don't know who could send me a present through you that I could take, Mr. Gale," she pointed out a little stiffly.

"Perhaps you will if you'll look at it, Miss Ames."

She opened it and as Mr. Gale stared from a window into that which he termed "the ghastly street." There was quite a long silence after she opened it. He turned from the window as she said, "I'm going to ask you, Mr. Gale, to carry a thank you note for me . . . the next time you come in——"

Gale was not a sensitive, but he knew something of what that note would mean to Arnold Ames. "Could you have it ready if I stopped in for it this afternoon?" he asked.

"Yes."

"Very well" [Harold Gale reckoned swiftly], "I'll be in about four. I'm walking this way toward a tea, anyway——"

"Thank you, Mr. Gale. I'll have your work out Tuesday."

Gale moved toward the door; at the door he said, "Merry Christmas," to which he added, "but—I forgot—I'll see you again."

"I can use two of those wishes," Theresa answered. "Alone again—her mother was out shopping—she looked at the long, narrow purse that had been sent her by Arnold Ames. And at the card that had come with it. On this her father had written—unsteadily—" My dear Theresa—if you can take this, you will add a great deal to Christmas for me. A. A."

It really was a beautiful bag. She turned it over. Perhaps it had a mirror inside. She opened it. There was a mirror inside, and a bond, a thousand dollar bond. She blinked—looking at it. Then—some one tapped at the door. She put the bond away quickly and covered the bag with hers. An A. D. T. boy stood in the hall, laden with offerings. There were roses peeping from pinned papers, and two square packages.

"I don't think you've come to the right place," said Theresa.

"Bellevue court; Miss Ames," the boy responded. He set the loot upon the floor inside the door. Theresa gave him a quarter without the usual feeling of worry. You could do things like that—with a thousand dollar bond in your purse; a thousand dollars printed on stiff, crinkly paper! She was still a little dizzy and inclined to feel that she would wake up when her mother turned over in bed to make the spring squeak.

The boy went off more elated than when he had come. He "hadn't expected no tip from the place." And alone once more Theresa opened the packages. Johnny had numbered them boldly. No. 1 was a small forsythia blooming in a yellow jardiniere that had come from Spain and looked it. On the card with this was written only "Merry." No. 2 of the offerings held a small rose bush, which blooming white, stood in a Cantigalli pot; on the card that came with this Johnny had written, "Christmas." No. 3 held a box of candy and its card was written "To." No. 4 held books, and the card on them said, "You." No. 5 was in an envelope atop the books and from this Theresa read the finish of the continued story, and "My dearest. I love you! I worship you! I'm on my rotten old knees to you! Your SWEETHEART, Johnny."

With hands trembling, she assembled the entire message to re-read it. She was very glad her mother was shopping] and after that, she put all the cards inside her brassiere, where they scratched a bit . . . but beautiful cards! And then she cried a little; she couldn't seem to help it.

Her mother came in and she was quite nice about Johnny's offerings. "He has a sort of taste, hasn't he?" she questioned, condescendingly, as she surveyed the jardinieres; "it was kind of him."

And she was touched by Arnold Ames' gift.

"You think I should keep it, mother?"

"You're his daughter, Theresa, and—to this point—he's done nothing for you! Nothing!" [Bitterness, creeping in.] "And when I think of my own girlhood as the twilight thickens! Nothing was too good for poppa! A carriage from Baltimore when we entertained. Carriages always on the station . . . I can see poppa, bowing as he helped some lady into her carriage. . . . The old world gentleman and now——"

Her eyes swept the room, her lips curled.

"I never understood about poppa and his cutting me off . . . I was so sure in him! Poppa was hasty . . . I admit poppa was hasty, but he always repented his little tempers—and to think that he died without——" [Elsie had shed her wraps] "let mother see that bond——"

Theresa opened the bag to give it into her mother's hands.

"Open that box, dearie; mother bought a few caramels . . . I feel, with an appetite such as is mine, that I must coax it. You can cash this, dearie." Elsie waved the bond.

"I don't quite want to——"

"We need so much; my coat . . . I was humiliated having Helen see it the other night. I saw her look at it. . . . And you'll have to buy me another. I know that. And you should have——" [heat rising once more from him. I know that. And you should have——" [heat rising once more from him. And up to this moment he'd never done a thing for you—his one—daughter!"

"But this was lovely," Theresa put in hastily. She wanted—and so much—only nice feeling in this wonderful, ecstatic, shaken day.

"True——" Elsie Colt agreed, sighing. She spoke of a fur coat she could pick up for "close to nothing"; it was just, she said, her size.

"But if we do sell it, or whatever one does, I do want to save a good bit of it, mother. It will keep us from that dissy, frightened feeling of being too close to the edge of a precipice——" Theresa put in weakly.

And Thus Ends London's Social Season.

LONDON, July 24.—(AP)—Raincoats and umbrellas constituted the fashion display today at the royal garden party at Buckingham palace—ordinarily a scene exhibiting the summer's smartest chiffons and organdies.

A cold drizzle fell with the beginning of festivities and both the king and queen and their guests, fortified with umbrellas, donned heavy coats over light attire and paraded about the forty acre garden, undaunted by the weather. Only when the drizzle became a downpour did they seek refuge in the tea tent.

The garden party, which is the official close of the London season, was supposed to have been called off in case of rain, but splashes of sunshine until the last moment gave the authorities hope that the affair could proceed under favorable conditions. It is Britain's boast that the royal garden party has never been canceled because of rain.

Among today's guests were the bishops who had been attending the Lambeth conference, including the greater part of the American delegation and their wives.

Rev. Robt. S. Johnston New St. Louis University Head

St. Louis, Mo., July 24.—(AP)—The Rev. Robert S. Johnston, S. J., professor of postgraduate theology in the Chicago Diocesan seminary at Mundelein, Ill., is the new president of St. Louis university, announcement was made today of his appointment to succeed the Rev. Charles H. Cloud, S. J., who a month ago was appointed provincial of the Jesuit province centering at Chicago. Father Johnston spent most of his career as a Jesuit at the Florisant seminary here. From 1911 to 1927 he occupied the chair of dogma in the school of theology. He is expected here next week to assume his new duties.

ZARO AGHA VIEWS NEW YORK; EXPERT DOUBTS HIS 156 YEARS

New York, July 24.—[Special.]—While Zaro Agha, native of Kurdistan and resident of Istanbul, reputed to be the oldest man in the world, was enjoying the sights of New York today, serious doubt as to the accuracy of the claim that he is 156 years old was expressed by Arthur Hunter, chief actuary of the New York Life Insurance company.

Mr. Hunter said there was no evidence that any human being had ever lived longer than 105 years and that the Turk certainly was not 100 years old and probably not over 90.

"The fuss which is being made over the Turk who states that he is 156 years old," Mr. Hunter said, "is amusing to those who have any knowledge of the extreme age to which persons live."

"It will be noted," Mr. Hunter added, "that all of those who claimed extreme old age in recent years lived in countries where no documentary proof can be obtained. One of these is a native of Manchuria who in 1923 was said to have been granted an old age pension by the Chinese government on proof that he was 163 years of age.

"The finest example of longevity which was quoted by the leader of a cult devoted to living at least 100 years is that of a Herzegovinian born in 1773, who fought to free Serbia from the Turks when he was 155 years old.

"The case popularly quoted to prove that persons can live to a very old age is that of Thomas Parr, who was buried in Westminster, his claim to fame being based solely on his assertion that he had lived to the age of 152. The most careful search made in the various registers and diocesan records failed to find anything which would substantiate his statement.

"There is little doubt that the limit of human life is as great today among civilized persons as among primitive folks or among our remote ancestors. I agree with Dr. Louis I. Dublin, a leading authority on the subject of mortality statistics, in his recent statement that the span of life as opposed to the average length of life has, so far as we know, changed little or not at all since remote antiquity."

Silence Squad Hunting Noises in New York

110 Volunteers Will Report to the Police.

New York, July 24.—[Special.]—Imbued with the belief that nocturnal vigilance is the price of peaceful slumber, a silent "noise squad" began patrolling the streets of the city tonight, and from now on will be on duty eight hours daily, part day and part night, in quest of flagrant violators of the new anti-noise laws.

Each member of the squad, made up of 110 persons, has been trained in city ordinances and is familiar with their applications and knows just what constitutes a violation. Every district in the city will be covered by the squad and violators will be reported to the police in the respective districts for summary action.

These 110 men who constitute the silent "noise squad" are voluntary workers whose identities will not be disclosed. They work solely in the interest of a quieter city.

"Effective cessation of unnecessary noises is expected as the result of the new noise squad," Edward F. Brown, director of the noise abatement commission, said today. "The 110 men making up the unit know what constitutes flagrant violations of the anti-noise law. They are not snoopers in any sense of the word, but honest, fearless and competent citizens who are confident that flagrant noises are a detriment to health, and know how to aid in the abatement of the nuisance."

Pageant Will Depict American History from Days of Columbus

A pageant in which over 1,000 Chicago children will depict the leading events in America's history from the discovery to the world war was planned by the Daughters of the Republic yesterday at a meeting in the Congress hotel. It probably will be held in September. The Daughters of the Republic, founded in 1917 by Miss Letitia M. Baldwin, has as its purpose the securing of jobs, providing clothing, food and lodging for unemployed ex-service men. Among its patronesses are Mrs. Robert H. McElwee, Lake Forest; Mrs. Clyde M. Carr, Mrs. Watson F. Blair, Mrs. C. E. Kohl, Mrs. Edward I. Cudahy, Mrs. Bertha Baur, and Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick.

Hoover Resumes Trips to Rapidan Camp for the Week-Ends

Washington, D. C., July 24.—With the senate out of session, President Hoover is to take a more extensive week-end rest at his lodge in Virginia, leaving the White House tomorrow after noon lunch and returning early Monday.

Last year three day excursions to the Rapidan lodge were frequent, but important matters this summer have confined the chief executive more closely to the White House, and only over the Fourth of July has he stayed at his mountain camp more than two days.

Instead of the long procession of automobiles that in the past has trailed the President, this week-end he will be accompanied only by the secret service car and that carrying Lawrence Richey, his secretary, and Capt. Joel T. Boone, White House physician. To minimize the danger to accidents guest cars will go singly.

Although the President has declined a motorcycle escort, the roads through Virginia to his camp will be more thoroughly patrolled to curb speeding.

Dorothy White Hoover Broker's Bride, Is Report

While no indication was forthcoming yesterday as to whether the wedding of Mrs. Dorothy White Hoover, divorced wife of H. Earl Hoover, the vacuum sweeper manufacturer, and James Childs Baker, Chicago broker, had taken place in New York as they announced was their plans when they obtained a license there on Wednesday, it was taken for granted last night by their Chicago friends that they had carried out that intention. Both are residents of Glencoe. At the home of Mrs. Hoover at 1801 Green Bay road, servants said they did not know when she would return. Mrs. Mildred Baker, former wife of the broker, who obtained her decree two weeks ago, denied a rumor that she was to be married soon to a Kansas City man by asserting that she "didn't even have a beau." Both her former husband and Mrs. Hoover have been visiting in the east for some time, she said.

Myers Assumes Duties as Head of School Board

In the midst of flowers banking the executive offices as a welcome from department heads, Lewis E. Myers, newly elected president of the board of education, assumed the duties of office yesterday. Thanking his friends and co-workers for their congratulations, he said: "I am grateful for your kindness, but I am a business man, am going to run the board of education as a business institution, and flowers and congratulations embarrass me."

Questioned concerning his plan for rigid economy and for deriving new revenue from a source which has not been revealed, Mr. Myers would not discuss his future program. Two problems, he told the department heads, would receive first attention—the restoring of credit and the provision of adequate physical equipment for the schools, with special attention to the seat shortage.

Davie Lee, juvenile motion picture star, now 5½ years old, made Chicago a visit yesterday with toy shops as his special interest. He arrived on the Santa Fé Chief at the Dearborn station accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Frank Lee, and older brother, Frank Jr. Davey said he likes being an Indian in his newest picture, "Squealer," better than being Sonny Boy in his previous one. He was eager to be on his way to Pittsburgh, where he will start a vaudeville tour.

Portland, Me., July 24.—(AP)—Donations of $500,000 to Bowdoin college and $100,000 to the Maine General hospital here by Cyrus H. K. Curtis, Philadelphia publisher, were announced yesterday. Neither President Kenneth C. M. Sills of the college nor Charles H. Payson, treasurer of the hospital, would discuss the details of the gifts. Both said they would prefer to have Mr. Curtis give out such information.

Charities Vacation Party.

Off for Lake Bluff to enjoy a two weeks' vacation in the summer camp away from the heat and hustle of the city went 180 women and children from the congested districts yesterday. The party left over the Chicago and North Western railroad and were sent by the United Charities of Chicago. Today 125 boys with six counselors will go to Salem, Wis., as a Union League Boys' club party sponsored by the United Charities. They will return from camp on Aug. 7.

THE STAGE

DAVID BELASCO, who might easily be called the First Producer of the American theater, is seventy-seven years old today, and feels like celebrating the anniversary energetically. So, when interviewed in Atlantic City where he is launching "Dancing Partners," his first play of the season, he announced that this was going to be the busiest year of his career.

"I am starting work immediately on four new productions," he declared. He proceeded to prove it with titles, names of players, dates and other details necessary for a formal proclamation.

After "Dancing Partners," which will have a New York première Aug. 4, is off his mind, Mr. Belasco will turn his attention to a comedy called "Tonight or Never," written by Baroness Lilli Havatny. Helen Gahagan has been coaxed away from her plans for an operatic career for the leading rôle.

Then will come a play, as yet untitled, for Beth Merrill, in whose right to stellar rank Mr. Belasco firmly believes. It was written by Patrick Kearney, who adapted Theodore Dreiser's "An American Tragedy." Mr. Belasco describes this piece as a dramatic comedy rich in humor as well as emotional values.

The fourth work on the Belasco schedule, to be staged after the Christmas holidays, will be "The Berg," by Ernest Raymond, an English journalist. C. Aubrey Smith will have the leading rôle. His last appearance under Belasco auspices was in "The Bachelor Father," a few years back.

Then, to round out the list, will come a dramatization of "Laughing Boy," a Pulitzer prize novel by Oliver La Farge. The stage version has been made by Otis Chatfield-Taylor, younger son of Hobart C. Chatfield-Taylor.

"Retire?—Only when God wills it," Mr. Belasco said when asked how long he was going to keep it up. "I am young yet because I have dreams and ambitions. I say that I am twenty-one—but I feel only ten."

Discovered, after careful searching by skilled investigators: a new play to give Chicago's only summer show ["Sisters of the Chorus"] a little competition. It is called "The Grub Street Virgin," and it will be acted at the Civic Art theater, on North Clark street, Saturday and Sunday nights, by the McGuire Players. Helen Durno wrote it out of her experience as a sob sister.

William Brenton, who has had three years of experience with Stuart Walker's companies, has been engaged as a member of the Goodman theater's repertory company. His line is "juvenile leads." Incidentally, he is a son of the dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, in New York City. . . . Edward Massey and Tony Brunton are other names in Hubert Osborne's list of possibilities.

Molly Picon, star of Yiddish musical comedies, will lead the new variety program at the R. K. O. Palace theater, beginning tomorrow. For the last five years she has flourished at the Second Avenue theater, New York. . . . Peter Higgins is the featured personality for next week at the State-Lake. He's a tenor. . . . Scouts for the colored revues which are now being organized in New York—a new "Black Birds" is one of them—are making note of the talents of Nora Holt, who is singing at the Regal, out in the darker section of the south side, this week. She graduated from the night clubs of Harlem to the music halls of London and Monte Carlo.

George White, producer of the "Scandals" series of revues, is threatening to bring action against the League of New York Theaters on the ground that its plan to regulate and control the sale of theater tickets by brokers is a monopoly in restraint of trade. "Virtually a blacklist," Mr. White calls it. A certain Bernard Sandler has already filed a complaint with the attorney general of New York, asking for a dissolution suit against the league, and says that if the state does not act he will seek to obtain an injunction. First Patent Asked for Plant Under New Law

U. S. Hopes for More Men Like Burbank

Washington, D. C., July 24.—(AP)—Already one application for a patent on a newly discovered plant has been filed with the patent office under the new law extending to plant discoverers and developers rights heretofore granted solely to industrial inventors.

Many more applications are expected by Patent Commissioner Thomas E. Robertson within the next few months. The act was designed as an incentive to plant breeders, who previously developed hundreds of varieties of agricultural products and received little compensation for their labors.

Robertson cited the horticultural developments of the late Luther Burbank, as an outstanding example of a breeder failing to profit adequately for lack of protective rights in his own products.

It was contemplated that the act would encourage independent breeders to propagate varieties of plants that would be resistant to drought, disease, and cold, thereby assuring constant development of the nation's food supply.

Previously all the growers could hope for was payment for a few new productions within a year or two after the new plants were developed. Under the new law the patentees will have the exclusive right to propagate their plants for 17 years.

Most of the plant breeding and development in this country has been dependent upon government funds appropriated for agricultural experiment stations.

The new law was sponsored by Representative Purnell, Republican, Indiana, the important agricultural organizations, Thomas A. Edison and Mrs. Luther Burbank. Edison predicted that it would result in the development of "many Burbanks."

Two important aims of the act are to guarantee protection to the developers of a suitable substitution for rubber, and make way for improvement in the unexplored medicinal plant field.

Plants that have been on the market and tuber propagated plants cannot be patented under the act. However, new and distinct varieties resulting from bud variation; mutants, resulting from seedling variation by self pollenization of species, and hybrids, resulting from seedlings, of cross pollenization of two species— or varieties, or of a species and a variety, can be patented.

These plants necessarily must be asexually reproduced in order to have their identity preserved, since seedlings would not retain the character of the new plants.

In considering patents, the patent office maintains a confidential attitude until a decision is reached.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUDAPEST, July 23.—A radio war is on between Czecho-Slovakia and Hungary. The Czechs object to Hungary's broadcasting of irredentist propaganda among its million nationals now forced to live under Czecho-Slovakian rule.

The Prague government has ruled that Hungarians in Czecho-Slovakia may tune in on the Budapest station, but they must turn their radios off the moment that station starts broadcasting the Hungarian national anthem, as is done each day at the close of the program.

A Hungarian landowner in Slovakia was the first to feel the pinch of the new law. He had a loud speaker in his garden which was not far from a street. He went into his house for a moment and while he was there the Budapest station signed off with the usual national song.

Angry Czech gendarmes heard the hated hymn and came running. The careless landowner was lodged in jail. He was tried in court yesterday and sentenced to one month in jail.

Sally's Crowd Finds Delight at the Palace

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Five acts of the best kind of vaudeville plus a three star movie that kept my hundred young guests shrieking with laughter made our party at the R-K-O Palace theater yesterday afternoon a huge success. To start the afternoon right and to give us an extra pleasure we hadn't counted on, Georgie Price, the juvenile star, came out to meet us and had his picture taken with us. We liked him immediately and when a short time later we saw him across the footlights, we couldn't get enough of his funny stories and clever impersonations of a lot of famous actors we had seen and heard of.

We found "Dangerous Nan McGrew" just the kind of a movie to see on an afternoon when the sun is beating down and the temperature is quickly flying upward for it takes you to the frozen north where scenes of snow clad forests and winter sports make you forget the heat. Helen Kane, as a member of a medicine show troupe, was delightful and Stuart Erwin, the comedian, with a saxophone he could almost play gave us a million laughs. There's lots of excitement and a few tense moments in the picture, too—the capture of the bank bandits, dangerous Nan's shooting, and the chase that brings the film to its successful and happy ending.

After the feature, there were Mickey Mouse and more vaudeville acts. Louise Groody was charming and we loved her dancing and singing. She sang some of the old numbers, too, that were so popular a short time back when she was starring in "No, No, Nanette."

But three hours of show is a big bill of fun and it comes to an end no matter how much you are enjoying it. My suggestion that we depart met with protests and cries of "O, Sally, can't we wait to see Georgie Price again?" and "Don't say we have to leave!" But leave we did, unanimously agreed that it had been a marvelous party and some of my guests even went so far as to say: "It's the best show I ever saw."

TRAVELING IN EUROPE

The wedding of Miss Ruth Pollard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Pollard of Oak Park, to Russell Hopkins Sutcliffe of Cleveland, O., took place on July 15 at the residence of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Sutcliffe have gone to Europe for their wedding journey and will reside in Cleveland after Sept. 10.

Good Posture Takes Years Off Mature Woman's Figure

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Is the posture improving? Or, do you just go on thinking you're going to make the grade with a pretty face and a slender ankle?

Nobody's denying that with a pretty face and a net ankle you can travel quite a way, but when you're traveling, why not do it in swell posture style? I heard a model applicant at a wholesale place being laughed at rather cruelly for her conceit in applying for such a job as showing off dresses with her figure. The truth is there was nothing wrong with the figure. It was one of those lean ones many of us are denying ourselves to obtain. But the shoulders titlted leeward and the lower part of her anatomy in back went the opposite way and she was, from a profile eyeful a semi-circular sort of woman.

One good hitch of the chest and the girl might have got a job. She had the face and the ankles.

You may not have any ambition along the young lady's line—but they do be talking about posture in beauty circles, or rather in circles where beauty is discussed, and women with claims and without are under the miscroscope. Of course, they don't call it posture. They say: "Look at the way that one walks." Or, "Look at the swell back." Or, "Isn't she the awkward critter?" etc., etc.

As I may have said some ten thousand times before, you can fool some of the critics some of the time about the calendar secret, but if you want to fool them for a long time, don't forget about that trick of carrying yourself like a young sapling. Whether you're plumper than a sapling is supposed to be, it doesn't matter. Large women look years younger if they walk smartly and hold themselves well. There are no lumpy shoulders or second chins or protruding tummies to give one away.

I may be kind of a nut on this subject of youth in the way the figure is held rather than in the way it is held down. But you must agree that rounded shoulders and lumpy stomachs are not youth-arresting, now are they?

Youth was not the model applicant's trouble. She had plenty of it. But she didn't have that thing that sells a dress with one look at it. She did not have the grace, the ease nor the movement that makes an eager customer of a woman observer. Pull up the chest, pull back the abdomen and the rest will take care of itself.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Boquets.

My neighbor has a beautiful flower garden and over the back fence I told her how I admired the tulips, as they had just bloomed out. About a half hour later I saw her coming up the walk with a large bouquet of the tulips and I dashed out thinking that she was bringing them to me, saying: "O, you should not have cut them just for me as I didn't mean for you to." And I went on and finally she came to and said that she did not cut them but that my small son had cut about fifty of them and she was only coming over to tell me so that I could punish him. Needless to say I sure did punish him. H. C.

Ashes of Killed Flyer Scattered Over Airdrome

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 24.—A tragic ceremony took place today following the cremation of the body of Lieut. Col. Henderson, pilot of the ill fated airplane which collapsed Monday, resulting in the death of a number of British society celebrities. The ashes of the dead airman were taken up in an air liner, in which his widow and mother were passengers, and scattered over Croydon airdrome.

Hand Made Bricks for Washington Home Replica

Washington, D. C., July 24.—(AP)—Brick making on colonial standards has been revived at Wakefield, Va., to insure that the reproduction of the birthplace of George Washington will be as exact to the last detail as is possible. The national park service reported yesterday the bricks are being made of native clay by hand so they will duplicate in appearance the brick of the old Washington homestead where the first President was born nearly 200 years ago.

Society Girls Taking Tennis in Serious Way

BY THALIA

Some of society's young women are achieving reputations for their proficiency at tennis. These include Theodosia Smith, daughter of Mrs. Theodore White Smith of 24 Scott street; Marianna Ruffner, daughter of the William Ruffners of Highland Park; Helen Fulton, daughter of Mrs. Frank D. Fulton of Winnetka; Marion Clow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Clow of Lake Forest; Kay Healy, and Frances Weary.

All of them are entering the tennis tournament to take place next week at the Lawsonia Country club with the finals to be played off on Aug. 2 and 3. The assemblage competing will include some of the best players in the country, with representatives from Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Iowa, Missouri, Texas, and South Dakota.

"Theo" Smith, who has been competing in one tournament after another since late last winter, is this week in a tournament at Grand Rapids, Mich., and she just returned a little while ago from another one in Memphis. Helen Fulton has won trophies in various parts of the world. She spent the winter in Europe with her mother, and played in many of the events on the French Riviera.

Miss Clow, who will go up to Lawsonia on Monday, will be accompanied by her mother, her sister, Miss Helen Clow, and their house guest, Miss Della Neff of Pasadena, Cal.

The Inland Lakes Yachting association is holding an invitation regatta for Class E boats next Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday at Lawsonia, also, so the clubhouse will be filled for the week, and there will be house parties in most of the private houses. The sports activities will close with a dinner dance on Saturday night for the tennis players and regatta skippers.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren A. Fairbanks, who take turns living in Chicago and Indianapolis, Ind., are leaving the latter city this week to spend the remainder of the summer at Wianno, Mass. Their daughters, Miss Edith and Miss Cornelia Fairbanks, are to accompany them. They will be in the east until fall, and plan to occupy their apartment at 1500 Lake Shore drive for the winter season as they did last year.

They will find Wianno at its gayest just now, with yachting and golfing the chief daytime occupations, and dances and moonlight sailing parties the popular evening pastimes. The Edward C. Crossett family is also at Wianno, and Miss Betty Crossett has been winning some of the yacht races with her Tomboy. The Arthur Doles of Evanston arrived at the Wianno club last week to remain until August, when they will take possession of their own place.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Kirk of 203 East Chestnut street are to depart next Wednesday for a three weeks' trip to Nova Scotia. They plan to be at Digby, Nova Scotia, for part of the time, and will also spend a few days at Quebec and at Montreal.

Mrs. Bernard F. Rogers Jr. of Lake Forest, who is spending the summer in the east with her family, has been visiting Mrs. Lowell M. Chapin at her estate at Locust Valley, Long Island.

Many of the prominent doctors in town are going to attend the International Pediatric meeting to be held in August in Stockholm, Sweden, and several of their wives are going along also. Dr. and Mrs. Clifford G. Grulee of Evanston sail on the steamship Duchess of Bedford next Wednesday. They will go first to England and Scotland, and will then cross to Bergen, Norway, going later to Stockholm. Dr. and Mrs. Edward Oliver and Dr. and Mrs. Anderson Aldrich of Winnetka are others who plan to attend the convention and do some traveling.

Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Christopher of Winnetka are not going to be present at the conference, but are sailing in late August for a 6 weeks' trip through France and Switzerland.

Mr. and Mrs. William Horne have been in Washington, D. C., this week, staying at the Wardman Park hotel.

Mrs. Miles Trammell of 220 East Walton is back from a visit with Mrs. O'Neill Ryan at Harbor Point, Mich. Mr. Ryan and Mr. Trammell joined the two for the last week-end.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, July 24.—Mrs. F. Trubee Davison, Mrs. Ward Cheney and Artemus L. Gates are en route to Europe on board the Europa.

Mrs. Ottomar H. Van Norden, who is at Oyster Bay for the summer, had guests for luncheon in the summer garden of the Plaza today.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. V. Hoffman, who are bound for Europe on the Mauretania, will go to Scotland for the August shooting.

Mrs. William A. Prime and Miss Cornelia Prime will return from Colorado Springs next Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George de Benneville Keim gave a dinner at the Ritz-Carlton, followed by supper and dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tuckerman are due from Europe next week on the Ile de France.

If You're Cool, Help Ice Fund of Algonquin

If you were out in a sailboat skimming the cool waves of the lake, or driving away to the country quiet, or spending the evening at some electrically cooled theater last night, you probably didn't notice how the back o' the yards folk were feeling the heat.

But if you had passed through the congested districts from twilight to midnight you would have seen the same story on every street. Whole families sitting on the steps, mothers fanning and talking with their neighbors about "how hot it is and baby so sick and all." The children racing up and down the street too hot to go inside and try to sleep in the little boxlike rooms where two windows are a luxury.

There is relief, however, for tenement families in THE TRIBUNE Camp Algonquin and free ice funds.

Ten dollars sends a mother or child to Camp Algonquin for a two weeks' vacation. Your gift to the ice fund provides ice daily in the homes of needy families. Your gift is instrumental in saving babies' lives because ice will keep milk fresh and sweet. The drain on both funds occasioned by the extremely hot weather and hard times brought on by unemployment conditions makes necessary the appeal for a greater number of friends for both funds this year. Will you help by sending a gift to either of the funds?

Through a typographical error J. F. L. was credited for a $60 gift instead of $50 in yesterday's acknowledgments, and the day's total should have been $167, which, with the previous acknowledgment of $2,045.12, made a total of $2,212.12 for Wednesday.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., July 24.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Hoover have been having as their guests Senator Reed Smoot of Utah and his bride, formerly Mrs. Alice Taylor Sheets of Salt Lake City. The couple left for the senator's home in Provo City, Utah. They soon will go to the Hawaiian islands as planned before the special treaty session called the senator to Washington.

Vice President Curtis has made his plans for a visit to his home in Topeka, Kas., for a fortnight. On his return here he will proceed to Newport to be the guest of Mrs. George Mesta of Pittsburgh, New York and Washington, who has leased the villa of Mrs. Henry Clews, the Rocks, for the season.

Navy Officer Marries John Holabird's Niece in Washington Church

Announcement was made yesterday in Washington of the marriage of Laura Caton Towne to Lieutenant Commander Charles Baltimore Calvert Carey, United States navy. This was of interest to Chicagoans, as the bride is the daughter of the late John Caton Dean Towne and Mrs. Jane Holabird Towne. The bride's mother is the daughter of the late William Holabird and the sister of John Holabird, both Chicago architects.

The bride's father was a grandson of John Dean Caton, a pioneer Chicago lawyer, from whom he inherited a fortune.

The wedding ceremony was performed in St. John's church, Washington, on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Towne and her daughter recently returned from a trip to China. It had been expected that the ceremony would take place there, while Commander Carey was with the Asiatic fleet, but the plans were changed.

Mrs. Jane Holabird Towne and her daughter have been living in Washington for the last few years. Mrs. Towne's former husband, who died in 1929, had married, in 1925, the widow of Ward A. Vilas.

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

You can have a well baby this summer if you know how to take care of it. Mrs. Bevans will send you the necessary information on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Having planned, as was suggested yesterday, how your boys and girls are going to help you during their vacation, the next thing to arrange for is their diversion. I might say in passing that all these suggestions work out as well with the only child as with a larger family—and usually result in an interesting and happily companionable time.

Now for the diversions. There are many things that city-bound children can do in the summer if they have an interested mother and father to help engineer things. First, let us take outdoor diversions. If you love outdoors yourself and you are determined that your children shall spend as much of the summer outdoors as possible, you'll surprise yourself by the many ways in which you can make it possible and still stay in the city.

Of course the first things that come to your mind are trips away for the day. There are the beaches and the big parks, the woods and the lakes for which you may need to start early in the morning with a picnic lunch. If you're wise you'll try to start back before the crowded hour and before the children are too tired.

Next, if you're enterprising, you'll find out where the children can play ball, tennis, croquet, row, etc., in the smaller and larger parks. Besides these places some cities have converted their unbuilt lots into public tennis courts for which a small sum is charged on the less crowded hours of the week days. For the older children there are outdoor concerts in the afternoon or evening.

Some cities have nature trips that are organized for children. For instance, the Children's Museum of Brooklyn is entering upon a regular program of field trips for children.

In addition to these two possibilities there are other more casual ways in which you can keep your children out under the sky.

On some days, if you have some hand sewing or darning to do, letters to write, or a special book to read, tuck this under your arm, let the children take their books or airplanes or the young ones a small toy or doll clothes, and spend just a few hours in the park without any special aim or picnic idea other than to be away from four walls.

And do as much of your outdoor tripping as you can on week days, instead of leaving it all for Saturdays and Sundays when most of the world is compelled to go.

Danes to Visit in U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COPENHAGEN, July 24.—A new link of friendship between the United States and Denmark was established today. A society of 80 Danish farmers sailed for New York aboard the Danish liner Frederick Denottende to visit relatives in the midwest states.

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

Typical hot weather brings with it problems of keeping lawns and gardens green. Sprinklers and hose nozzles play steady streams of "fire prevention" aqua during the evenings and late into the night, taxing the pumping and reserve water supplies of suburban towns as well as the Chicago water system.

But there are several precautions in this artificial watering that should be noted. In the first place, those who water the flowers and grass in the heat of the midday sun are giving it the same treatment they give spinach on the kitchen stove, and only the hardy rooted plants can survive such attempts at boiling. This is decidedly harmful. Water only in the shady spots, if daytime watering is done.

In the second place, those who were unable to keep their lawns green during last week's severe sunning are just wasting their water now. Once the grass turns brown, all manner of watering will not bring it back, but merely stay the damage and keep the root system alive until they can grow out again in the fall.

Again, when the skies are cloudy, or we get some relief in the form of rains, that is not the time to put the hose away—keep it going. No rains this time of year are heavy enough, except in rare exceptions, adequately to regain the loss of moisture in the ground. A severe wetting before a rain will mean that the rain can be immediately absorbed into the subsoil where the roots need it.

Surface soil moistening is as harmful as any possible flooding, experienced gardeners aver. Such moisture is taken up in the next warm day, and the roots get little or none of it. The wise lawn keeper is not mowing his grass these days, letting the root systems have every advantage of the shelter from longer grass. Others are mulching new seedings or bare spots to conserve the moisture and prevent cracking.

Bear in mind this counsel of a Chicago park official of many years experience—a few well soaked waterings are better than more frequent moistenings. The latter is a waste of time and money. Don't flood the lawn, but move the sprinkler frequently to allow the water to soak in, then add some more.

Launching a New Idea for Summer Weddings

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—A number of sylvan weddings have marked this Paris season. It is smart, this year, to be married in the little country church by the old priest who christened you, and to walk thither from your feudal château followed by a procession of intimates and family retainers.

Naturally, sweet simplicity is the order of the day, but Paris élégantes buy their simplicity from the most sophisticated couturiers and they pay for it much more than its weight in gold; for usually it's made of some diaphanous fabric, lighter than the proverbial thistle down.

Mlle. Basia Sienkiewicz, one of the smartest debutantes of the season, has launched something totally new in the way of summer wedding gowns. She chose to be married in a pale pink georgette frock from Worth; her wedding veil was pale pink tulle to match and she carried a bouquet of pink roses.

But what was even more of an innovation was the fact that the eight bridesmaids, including Mlle. Jacqueline Rothschild and Mlle. Hélène Worth, all wore pale pink dresses exactly like that worn by the bride, only theirs were of organdy instead of georgette and huge pink horsehair lace hats decked with roses replaced the veil.

Next Sunday Is Italian Day at Ravinia Park

"An Afternoon of Italian Music and Composers" has been arranged by Louis Eckstein for next Sunday afternoon. This program will be given by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Eric De Lamarter conducting. John Weicher, violinist, will be the soloist. A feature will be the appearance of Giuseppe Castruccio, Italian consul general, who will deliver a short address.

Mr. De Lamarter's program will include Cherubini's overture to "The Water Carrier" and four movements of Sgambati's "Symphony Opus 16." The "Marcia Reale," the national anthem of Italy will be played as will as likewise the "Intermezzo" from "The Jewels of the Madonna" by Wolf-Ferrari. This concert, like all of the concerts at Ravinia, will be open to the general public.

To Judge in Contest.

A. E. Winship, editor of the Journal of Education, has been chosen by County Superintendent of Schools E. J. Tobin as one of three judges who will select winners in the Cook county thrift contests for school children. Two other judges, one to be a financier, will be appointed in the near future. Candidates will be judged on savings, physical improvement, initiative and self-control.

High Cost of Babies Keeps Young Couple in Childless Home

BY DORIS BLAKE.

They are a couple, 27 and 25 respectively. They were married three years ago. The husband was earning $75 a week, the wife $45, at the time of their marriage. The same salaries exist today.

Now their problem is how to finance a baby. They have decided they need some new interest in life—but can they afford it? both husband and wife ask. They have enjoyed for three years a scale of living commensurate with the combined incomes. Because many years stretched out before them the idea of saving beyond an insurance policy held by the husband seemed unnecessary.

They have a beautiful little apartment, including an expensive radio, a grand piano, and a collection of what is referred to as "good pieces" of furniture. They have, in other words, a lovely setting for Junior, also large doubts as to whether they could carry him along on seventy-five a week.

The wife, of course, intends to stop working in the event of a decision in Junior's favor. With the unsettled times, job insecurities and everything, she questions the wisdom of staying at home now.

A few facts about baby financing gleaned from the home making center of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs, might be of interest right here. It is estimated by the investigating body that a couple living on $60 a week needs an additional income of $700 a year to finance the first baby, and for each additional baby a similar increase per year is needed. To afford three children the bureau estimates that a husband marrying on $60 a week needs to have his salary almost doubled at the end of ten years. At which figuring, no doubt, countless thousands of maws and paws throughout the land would do considerable gasping, if not broad haw-hawing.

The number of parents rearing three children on a $120 week income is small compared to the number managing on a great deal less. So that the figures here presented are not offered with our indorsement as a guide. But at least they do bring up the subject of baby financing and the need of thinking of babies in advance as more than blue eyed little strangers come to bless the home.

They have to be fed, clothed, housed and "repaired," sometimes. They have to be counted in on the budgeting. They were better saved for. If the wife of the $75 a week worker had but saved ten dollars a week toward her baby fund out of her working wife salary it would be a pretty well endowed infant, as new infants go, wouldn't it?

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S AND MISSES' DRESS.

This smart frock has flared sleeves, and the molded bodice, wrapped around the figure with side front closing, aids in giving that slender appearance. The dress simulates a hip yoke, belted at a normal waistline, and the curved seaming at the front detracts from the width. The skirt is circular and shaped so it achieves the smart, low, flared fullness. Shantung, linen, shirting, flat silk crêpe, and printed dimity are chic materials.

The pattern, 2556, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch material with 4¾ yards of binding.

Your poise and charm are safe in summer with this deodorizing protection

Kotex deodorizes . . . it is indispensable in summer . . . when danger of offense is so much greater.

SURELY no dainty woman cares to risk offending in this most personal way. Especially when all risk is so easily avoided . . . by simply depending on Kotex for your sanitary protection.

Kotex deodorizes completely, by a safe, sure method. And goes on deodorizing as long as it is worn. What a priceless comfort, especially in summer!

Fashioned to fit

There are other important ways in which Kotex contributes to your summer comfort. Kotex is skilfully shaped, to fit without a bulge or revealing outline. Wear your lightest frocks every single day.

Kotex is not made of cotton, but of a remarkable substance known as Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding. This is the substance used by 85% of America's leading hospitals, because of its marked superiorities as an absorbent.

Cellucotton is light, soft, cool . . . yet powerfully absorbent. It absorbs five times more than an equal weight of cotton! And absorbs away from the surface, which prevents packing and chafing. This is why Kotex keeps its freshness and resilience so long.

All drug and department stores have Kotex. Just ask for "a package of Kotex" without further explanation. Kotex Company, Chicago, Illinois.

KOTEX IS SOFT . . .

1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.

2—Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.

4—Disposable, instantly, completely.

"We now know that flies, instead of being harmless, are in reality highly dangerous, and that a single fly may be the cause of typhoid fever and many other illnesses."

It has been conclusively shown that house flies carry the germs of cholera, typhoid fever, infantile diarrhea, dysentery, and other communicable diseases.

Now you understand why a child over whom you have watched most carefully may come down with a sudden illness which you cannot understand. Often that sickness has been brought into your home by apparently harmless common house flies. What is your best protection?

Drop in Beef Prices Varies Widely in City

Steaks, Chops Continue in Heavy Demand.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Retail cuts of beef are selling this week in Chicago at prices varying from 9 to 32 per cent under those of a year ago, with the cheaper roasts and stewing meats selling at less than cost of production, a three day survey of local markets by THE TRIBUNE shows.

An unusually heavy demand for steaks and chops, particularly porterhouse and round stakes, has kept these meats from a descent in prices that brought beef to the lowest this week it has been since the war. Even these have been reduced by retailers in nearly every section of the city canvassed. The basic reason was said to be a drop in demand for meats over several months, rather than overproduction on the farm.

Earlier reports were issued by Chicago packers showing larger stocks of beef dressed and in coolers than for many years. A sharp break in prices paid to live stock producers continuing for the last five weeks was said to foreshadow lower beef prices for several months to come.

Beef Grades Differ.

Sirloin steak was being sold at prices ranging from 35 to 55 cents, porterhouse at from 42 to 70 cents a pound, and round steak varied from 38 to 60 cents. Grades of beef differ so widely that consumers were warned against judging entirely by price, as some stores were found selling cheaper grades of meat at reduced prices to cause buyers to believe all prices had been cut.

The shanks, soup bones, roasts, boiling and stewing meats were selling at from 6 to 35 cents per pound, the most of this cheaper beef being priced at from 20 to 29 cents. This was said by retailers and wholesalers to represent a loss to all but the consumers, since such cuts were in little demand. This in turn was being made up by charging more for the steaks and chops in popular demand during warm weather, they reported.

Little variation in prices of meats exists between communities of comparable buying power, whether in the north, west or south sides, the survey showed. There were differences of from 5 to 20 cents per pound in prices of the same grades of meat, depending on the locality, however. In general, in outlying sections or in individually owned markets catering to special trade, higher prices are charged, with extensions of credit, delivery, and other services. In streets where stores are close together, selling for cash in competition with chain groups, prices are changing daily with the wholesale changes, it was found.

Study Shop Costs.

There are 3,072 meat markets listed in the Chicago directory. The Chicago Retail Meat Dealers' association lists 6,000 places which handle meat. Of this 6,000 about 2,000 change ownership each year, the association reports. An accountant employed by this association last year reported that an inspection of the books of 39 "above the average" meat shops showed a net profit for the year of 3.5 per cent.

In this accounting, it was found that 77.6 per cent of the year's income from sales went for cost of goods sold, wages took 12 per cent, rent 2.2 per cent and other expenses, paper, twine, delivery, credit, etc., were 4.6 per cent. The average gross business per year was $67,000. The trained meat cutter can make from $45 to $75 per week, depending upon volume of business handled and managerial ability, the association reports.

Proprietors of most of the markets surveyed indicated they had noted declines of from 20 to 35 per cent in size of sales made per customer this year as compared with last, which they credited to curtailment of expenses or unemployment.

Restaurant Prices Unchanged.

Restaurant prices have not changed materially during recent months. J. J. Reaney, secretary of the Chicago Association of Restaurateurs, said that "menu prices will be slow to come down, just as they are slow to rise, because the restaurant manager cannot change prices without assurance they will remain steady for some time."

Patrons are not so anxious about the nickel or dime difference in price as they are about receiving a satisfying meal and good service, he said. Competition of the delicatessen and home kitchen will in time force lowered menu prices, while larger portions and extra dishes will be added at present menu prices, he asserted.

Food Talk.

Any housewife who occasionally serves good home made rolls to her family or guests is hailed as a capable cook and a discerner of foods that please the palate. There is something about the flavor and appearance of the home made variety that make them superior to any one can buy. If you do not believe this, try offering a plate of fine rolls, half bought and half home made, and see which are chosen first. Even the mediocre home made product can get by in a glorious fashion in some families.

Now, this is not meant to be an argument against good bakery rolls, because I have no complaints to make about their quality and economy. It is to remind the housewife that she has an opportunity to add an interesting note to her week-end meals. Just the preparation of rolls is a change from a humdrum affair of serving a bought product day in and day out to an interesting effort that will surprise and delight all.

The appreciation of family and guests is enough to encourage any woman to want to make rolls. So, why not plan to make some this week-end? They are not hard to make. A little patience and care will enable you to proudly say, "I made them myself."

The first essential is to secure a good recipe, then follow its directions to the letter. You may not see the importance of recipes. Nevertheless, they are most essential. In this day and age we cannot make delicious rolls like our grandmothers without a recipe.

Careful experimental cooks have spent years and have standardized grandmother's measurements and conditions for us. Now we are given exact formulas that will enable any woman to duplicate grandmother's successful results.

Here is a recipe that has been carefully worked out. By it we make rolls that please the most critical. A special effort has been made to write the directions accurately. If you follow them exactly you should be able to make perfect rolls, if not at first, at least after two or three trials.

Lets It Help Her Serve the Meals.

BY SALLY LUNN.

Whoever invented the first tea cart deserves a vote of thanks from the housewife. Maybe he didn't think, at the time, that he was introducing more than an extra piece of furniture to add to the room, but in fact he started the idea of saving steps.

There are many kinds of tea wagons: tall ones, low ones, sturdy ones, weak ones, ornate ones, plain ones, convenient ones and inconvenient ones. Therefore, in the selection of one it is necessary to study and test the cart for all these points. A useful one will be sturdy, as nice as the pocketbook can afford, but never ornate with little gadgets to get in the way, and, most of all, convenient. Extra shelves below the table top are exceedingly useful in saving steps.

Versatile in Its Uses.

Two weeks ago we talked about the place of the tea cart in an afternoon tea. But even though the name is connected with tea and probably the first one was used exclusively for tea, ingenious minds have devised a myriad of other uses.

The most important of these uses is in connection with the serving of a meal, especially a large dinner. First, the entire service can be placed on the tea wagon and pushed to the table. Here the silver, glasses and dishes are removed to the table. The courses of the meal can also be brought to and from the table in this manner. In the home where the housewife has to do all the work herself, the idea that she can remove all the dishes from one course without having to make several trips is a welcome one. The time and labor she saves will make the difference between a tired woman at nine o'clock and one still eager to join the fun.

Lightens Labor.

At afternoon parties of all kinds, too, one can save long steps between the kitchen and living room.

In the evening when entertaining and the hostess wishes to serve some simple refreshments such as ice cream and cookies or a drink, she will find it a great convenience to call her tea wagon into service.

RECIPE FOR ROLLS

HOME MADE ROLLS.

1 cake compressed yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water
2½ tablespoons butter, melted
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
2 cups milk, scalded
7½ cups bread flour [about]

Soak yeast in ¼ cup lukewarm water. Add melted butter, sugar and salt to milk heated to the scalding point. The liquid should be cooled to about 86 degrees F. (which is not quite lukewarm). Add yeast and mix thoroughly, then add flour until dough is stiff enough to knead.

Knead vigorously for 10 minutes or until the dough is not sticky, is elastic and has a satiny surface. In a warm place (about 85 degrees F.) free from draughts of air, let rise for about 1½ or 2 hours. If the dough recedes when the hand is thrust into it, it is ready to punch. This means to fold the dough over two or three times and allow it to recede as much as it will.

Cover and let it rise again for 15 or 20 minutes. Pinch off even sized balls for rolls, or roll out and cut with a biscuit cutter. Shape in any desired way, place on an oiled tin and let it rise in a warm place, preferably a closed container that has a pan of warm water on the bottom to supply steam and keep the outer surface of rolls moist.

Let rise until bulk has increased about 2¼ times. This will be accomplished in 40 to 45 minutes if the temperature of rising is around 90 degrees F. Bake in a 425 degree F. oven [hot oven]. Total time of making and baking should not require more than 4 hours. Yield: 3 dozen rolls. One roll: Total: 105 calories; protein, 12 calories; fat, 14 calories; carbohydrates, 79 calories.

5,000 PICKING MICHIGAN'S WILD BLUEBERRY CROP

Sault. Ste. Marie, Mich., July 24.—[Special.]—More than 5,000 people have invaded the sand plains of Michigan's eastern peninsula to pick what is estimated to be a million dollar wild blueberry crop. The first shipments already have been sent out to Chicago, Detroit, and other metropolitan centers.

In spite of a few scattered frost retarded areas, Chippewa and Luce county's blueberry crop today was characterized by state conservation officers and shippers in the blueberry areas as being a bumper crop which will net Chippewa county $500,000 and an equal amount to Luce county.

Berry pickers are swarming to the plains where the berries grow in profusion upon the ground. At Strongs, a little village with a population of a little more than 500, the outlet for thousands of acres of blueberry plains, it was reported that 1,000 pickers are at work, with the number increasing daily as more of the crop ripens, and that the crop this year will far exceed that of 50,000 crates shipped from Strongs last year, netting the shippers there $150,000.

The berries are of the low bluish variety, with their squatty stalks a blue mass of large, sweet berries. Where the berries grow are plains dotted with short and stunted pines stretching away into the distance for miles, plains that are seldom invaded except by berry pickers during the season from July 20 to Sept. 1.

It was estimated that the shipments to large cities will exceed last year's by more than 30 per cent.

Iowa's 1929 Yield of Popcorn Increased Twofold, Is Report

Des Moines, Ia., July 24.—Iowa, the leading state in pop corn production, will have twice as large a crop this year as was raised a year ago, according to estimates released by the state department of agriculture here. The state is expected to have 80,000,000 pounds of ears on about 50,000 acres of land, as compared with 40,039,000 pounds on 26,263 acres in 1929.

CAROLINA STATE SENATOR IS SHOT AS HE PREDICTED

Had Told Governor That He Feared Ambush.

Moncks Corner, S. C., July 24.—(AP)—E. J. Dennis, state senator of Berkeley county, was shot down and probably fatally wounded on the street here today. The 54 year old senator, long a dominant figure in Berkeley's turbulent politics, was rushed to a Charleston hospital.

Governor Fears Further Trouble.

Extraordinary precautions to prevent further trouble were taken by Gov. John G. Richards, who ordered his entire force of twelve state constables here, together with sheriffs and deputies from nearby counties.

The senator was a candidate for reelection in the fall election. He had held this office, with the exception of one four year term, for about 20 years.

It was revealed today that Senator Dennis had informed Gov. Richards yesterday he was positive he would be ambushed at an early date. He had requested the chief executive to send National Guardsmen to Berkeley for the Aug. 26 primary.

In 1929, Senator Dennis was tried on a charge of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law. He is a close friend of Gov. Richards and was generally credited with being instrumental in the removal by the governor of the county sheriff a few months ago.

The shooting of Senator Dennis came within a few weeks of an attempt to assassinate Glenn D. McKnight, reputed king of the bootleggers in the notorious "Hell Hole swamp" area of Berkeley county. McKnight for a time served as a federal prohibition agent.

Recovers from Wounds.

McKnight was felled with a charge of buckshot as he stood at his garage door near his home here a few weeks ago. He was thought fatally wounded at first, but recovered in a Charleston hospital. A state constable, J. Lom Anderson, was arrested and charged with the shooting, as was Jeremiah Wright, Moncks Corner man, who was on parole after having been convicted of participation in a triple killing four years ago in which a brother of McKnight was a victim.

Less than a month before the McKnight attack, Legrande Cumbee, 18, was slain from ambush, and his father, Sabb Cumbee, seriously wounded, while riding through Hell Hole. Wilbur Cumbee and Will Kales are in the penitentiary awaiting trial in connection with this affray.

HAUGEN DENOUNCES LEGGE'S SCHEME TO CUT WHEAT ACREAGE

Mason City, Ia., July 24.—[Special.]—Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, ought to be disposing of the surplus wheat in this country instead of going about the middle west urging farmers to reduce their acreage, according to Congressman G. N. Haugen, chairman of the agricultural committee in the house and advocate of the equalization fee form of farm relief.

"Had the farm board bought up the surplus and disposed of it on foreign markets, the tariff would have become effective and an American market level established," the congressman said.

"This proposal to reduce the acreage goes against the grain of the average farmer who has worked hard to develop his land and is not effective unless there is a substitute crop.

GAS FIRM HEAD DENIES EVASION OF INDIANA TAX

Indianapolis, Ind., July 24.—[Special.]—Louis H. Joers, manager of gasoline companies in northern Indiana adjacent to Chicago and involved in the gasoline tax evasion scandal, denied all reports of his personal participation in the affair when questioned here by Attorney General James M. Ogden.

When asked about money shown by the records of the Knickerbocker Refining company to have been paid to him, Joers declined to admit its receipt.

The conference ended with the intimation by Ogden that the next step would be instituting of criminal proceedings to determine how and why the tax evasion continued for many months without interference by state officials.

IT COSTS WOMAN BATHER $15 TO DISROBE IN AUTO

Mrs. Betty Kaplan, 40 years old, 7636 Eastlake terrace, paid $15 yesterday for having used her sedan in which to disrobe Sunday afternoon at the Evanston beach. Police Magistrate Harry H. Porter of Evanston levied a $10 fine and $5 costs on the testimony of Policeman Edward Witt, who testified that she wore a blanket and nothing else.

Mrs. Kaplan declared she was fully clothed, and wrapped herself in the blanket because she was chilly.

"Hm!" said the magistrate, recalling that the temperature had hovered near the 100 mark.

FARM BOARD FOR MODIFICATION OF PACKERS DECREE

Washington, D. C., July 24.—[Special.]—The federal farm board, through its chairman, Alexander Legge, today went on record as favoring modification of the consent decree which prohibits the Chicago meat packers from selling their products at retail.

Mr. Legge stated that the farm board members are entirely in sympathy with the board's live stock advisory committee which urged the board, in a report yesterday, to use its efforts toward having the consent decree modified. He added, however, that he could not see that the board could do much about it, as "it's a question the courts are going to settle."

Case Pending in Court.

Proceedings commenced by Swift & Co. and Armour & Co. for modification of the decree are pending in the District of Columbia Supreme court. The argument of the livestock advisory committee was that both producers and consumers would benefit by allowing the packers to operate meat markets.

Asked if he did not think putting the packers back into the retailing business would not hurt the chain stores, Mr. Legge said he thought "it might be a good thing to hurt them a little for the benefit of the public." He added that the retail stores are "the worst link in the whole chain system."

Say Middlemen Get Profit.

"At least, with the packers in the retail business we would know whom to blame for any profiteering," he commented. "As it is now the farmer is getting 20 or 30 cents out of the dollar the consumer pays for his product and the string of middlemen is getting the rest."

Mr. Legge refused to reply to a counter attack made yesterday by Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national committee, following Legge's charge that the committee was playing politics in its attacks on the board. Shouse declared that Legge himself had adopted a "politician's alibi." Mr. Legge said today that he had not even read Shouse's charges and therefore had nothing to say about them.

CORN SUGAR MEN SEEK REPEAL OF RULE ON LABELS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 24.—[Special.] — Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde tomorrow will hear arguments upon a petition for a change in the food and drug act regulations removing the requirement for labels on prepared food products to show the presence of corn sugar.

An immediate and large increase in corn consumption with a consequent boost in prices paid to the farmer would result, according to sponsors of the petition, should Secretary Hyde act upon it favorably. He has full power to act on the question as the law merely provides that a food product must not be sold in a manner to create a false or misleading impression while the label requirement is a departmental ruling.

Used in Many Products.

At present, corn sugar may be and is widely used without label in candy, ice cream, bakery, and meat products, but the label is required on canned fruits and vegetables, beverages, jellies, and the like. No such label is required when cane or beet sugar is used.

The petitioner in the case is the Corn Products Refining company of Kansas City, a concern manufacturing more than 100 million pounds of refined corn sugar annually. Its brief has been filed by Attorney William G. Holt who will be present at tomorrow's hearing. Cane and beet sugar interests are expected to appear in opposition to the petition.

Industry Grows Rapidly.

Since 1923 when sugar was first successfully obtained from ordinary field corn the corn sugar industry has expanded rapidly. Approximately 86 million bushels of corn were used by the corn products industry in 1929 and during the last seven years this industry has consumed an average of 32 per cent of the country's carh corn. As cane, beet, and other sucrose sugar produced in this country fills only a fraction of the domestic demand, the corn sugar interests contend that there is a wide field for the use of their product.

BODY OF SUICIDE RECOVERED.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Louis Taylor and Charles Taylor, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years each in the penitentiary; Paul Ingraffia, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in Pontiac reformatory; Claybourne Uhles, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Pontiac reformatory by Judge D. J. Normoyle.

Three colored men, who were to have been executed last midnight, were temporarily saved yesterday by the filing of last minute insanity pleas. They are Leonard Shadlow, Leonard Brown, and Lafon Fisher, who in January, 1929, murdered Martin French, 70 year old guard at the Franklin Trust and Savings bank. The murder occurred during a robbery.

Attorneys for the defendants asked for 30 days' time in which to prepare expert testimony. The various judges to whom the cases were assigned—because each man has to be tried separately—refused this plea. They set the cases for the earliest possible day open on their calendars.

Fisher will be tried before Judge Daniel P. Trude on July 31. Brown's petition will be heard on Aug. 7, and that of Shadlow on Aug. 11. Judge Walter P. Steffen will preside over these hearings.

McCrary, Couch Are Semi-Finalists.

Record Card

Par	Out—453	443	544	—36
Perkins	Out—353	343	544	—34

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Johnny Lehman of Olympia Fields defeated Don Moe, the defending champion, 1 up on the 37th hole, in the quarter finals of the western amateur golf tournament yesterday at the Beverly Country club. Johnny ended the long and bitterly fought battle with a great shot from the rough to the green followed by a 25 foot putt for a birdie 3.

That wasn't the only epic encounter in a day packed with golf drama. After being 4 down at noon to Jack Westland of Sunset Ridge, T. P. Perkins, former British amateur champion, called upon all his reserve power and began cutting down the lead of the Chicago district champion. He squared the match on the 23d, won, 1 up, on the 35th, and went on to set a course record of 69. This was the first time during the tournament that any one has been able to shoot less than 72 on the long and treacherously trapped course.

McCrary Beats Novotny.

And to give the galleries still further thrills, Bob McCrary rallied from 4 down on the 21st to square his match with Gus Novotny on the 33d. Then he carried on to win, 2 up, on the last green.

There was only one player who had an easy time shooting his way into the semi-finals and that was Ira Couch of Glen View. He defeated C. M. Fish of Rockford, 6 and 5.

Today Perkins will block Lehman's march toward the throne from which he tumbled Moe while Couch and McCrary are fighting it out in the lower bracket. The championship will be decided tomorrow.

Lehman and Moe battled in sterling fashion throughout the day, Johnny took the lead on the first hole and never was headed thereafter, though Don kept coming up repeatedly to square the match.

Moe Squares Match Five Times.

Lehman went two up on the third. Moe squared things by winning the 4th and 5th and Lehman again forged ahead on the 7th. Don took the 12th and they were all even, but Johnny spurted to the front once more on the 14th and kept his advantage for the rest of the morning.

Moe squared the match again on the 29th, but Johnny took the lead on the first and went two up by holing a 30 foot chip on the 23d. They were all even when Moe won the 24th and 25th. Deuces on the 28th and 30th again put Johnny two up, but Moe won the 32d and 35th to square the match again. They halved the 36th in fives and Johnny's long putt ended the battle on the extra green.

The greatest moments of the day came during those last three holes. Johnny stood one up at the 35th tee, but his drive came to rest in a trap beside the green while his adversary was within seven feet of the pin. In his attempt to get out of trouble Johnny hit too hard and the ball carried over the far edge and down an embankment. He chipped back and conceded the hole when Moe's first putt was just short.

Moe Recovers from Rough.

That squared the match and they moved off to the par five 36th. It seemed that the encounter would end right here, for Moe sliced his drive into the woods while Lehman hit straight down the fairway and laid his second just 50 yards short of the green.

Don found his ball in the rough amid a grove of trees. It would never do to play a safe chip shot back to the fairway with the situation as it stood. He had no alternative but to attempt a terrific iron shot underneath the low hanging branches straight for the pin. Don made that shot, reached the green in three and halved the hole.

The situation was reversed on the 37th, for it was Lehman who sliced into the rough while Moe drove straight and was in perfect position for an easy approach.

Johnny saw his great opportunity slipping from him, for his ball was in a difficult lie, and in such an angle of the fairway that there was no way of rolling the ball up to the green. To get up there it would be necessary to loop a 175 yard shot over the traps which were directly between him and the pin, and if he were long or short, to right or left, the match was lost.

He took a spade mashie, pitched the ball high in the air and laid it 25 feet from the pin. Then he sank the putt for a birdie three and the match ended when Moe's 20 foot putt for a half pulled by the cup.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., July 24.—Our Cubs came to town today mindful of the slugging tendencies of the remarkable Phillies, who lead the world in hitting. So our boys stepped out and got themselves 13 runs in the first two innings, which in itself wasn't sufficient insurance in the light of subsequent events. The final score was: Chicago, 19; Phillies, 15.

In those first two inning 22 batsmen faced the Philly pitchers. Blair, up three times, made three singles, drove in four runs and scored two himself. Doc Farrell made two singles, drove in three runs and scored two himself. Besides Blair and Farrell, Cuyler, Dan Taylor and Hartnett each scored two runs in these first two innings.

It took 31 minutes to play the entire first inning. And it took 20 minutes to play the first half of the second inning. The game required 2 hours and 29 minutes. Although there were 34 hits—17 for each team—and 34 runs, there was not a homer, no triples, and only five doubles.

Phils Chased by Umpire.

Lest we seem to be praising the talents of the Cubs in the early stages, permit us to pass hastily to the Phillies' eighth, which not only produced seven runs but a near riot as well. The ordinarily peaceful Chuck Klein, Don Hurst and Manager Burt Shotten were chased from the ball park after the players had threatened to bust Umpire Jorda on the nose. The umpire trouble started when Klein struck out with two on in the big eighth.

The Phillies, whose second game yesterday was a 16 to 15 defeat at the hands of the Pirates, in which six pitchers were used, employed six throwers again today. The Cubs used four: Osborn, who didn't last to see a putout; Teachout, who became distressed by a rainstorm; Bush, who got knocked out in the eighth, and Malone, who took a lot of punishment before he got through. Because he was the only one who had anything at all, Teachout was awarded credit for the victory.

The rough and tumble spectacle enabled the Cubs to gain a half game on the Robins, who split even with the Reds. Tomorrow the Chicagoans will engage in the second game of the series. Osborn may be sent back and Collard is the best bet for the Phils.

That First Inning.

Here's the record of that prolonged first inning: Blair opened with a single to center and English walked. Cuyler singled to center, scoring Blair and putting English on third. Wilson walked, filling the bases. Dan Taylor walked, forcing in English. Willoughby was yanked and Elliott went in. Grimm rolled to Hurst, Cuyler scoring. Hartnett forced Wilson at the plate. Then Farrell singled to left, scoring Taylor. Hartnett stopped at second. Osborn singled off Elliott's shins, again filling the bases. Blair got his second hit of the inning, a single to left, which scored Hartnett and Farrell. English obligingly fanned.

In the Phillies' half of the first Sigman hit Osborn's first pitch for a single off the right field wall. Then O'Doul and Klein walked, filling the bases. Osborn was dismissed and Teachout went to work. Hurst fanned, but Whitney singled to right, scoring Sigman. Friberg singled to left, scoring O'Doul and Klein. Thevenow and Davis flied to Wilson.

The Cubs' second was just about as grotesque as their first. Cuyler walked and stopped at second on Wilson's single to right. The bases were full when Whitney's throw on Taylor's grounder was too late to get Wilson at second. Grimm and Hartnett walked, forcing in Cuyler and Wilson. Then Farrell got his second hit, a single to center, which scored Taylor and Grimm. Hartnett and Farrell moved up on Teachout's sacrifice bunt, and scored when Blair registered his third single in two innings. Blair moved to second while Friberg was throwing out English, and scored on Cuyler's single.

Shower Threatens Cubs' Win.

The last half of the fifth was played in a shower which for a time threatened to deprive the Cubs of a legal game. Klein walked in this session and stopped at second on Hurst's single to right. Whitney walked, filling the bases. At this juncture Manager McCarthy decided it would be well to get the side out and complete a legal game. So he sent in Bush. Friberg hit into a double play, Klein scoring, and then Thevenow popped to Blair. Then the rain stopped.

We won't take up your time by telling you about the late runs that came in small dabs, but we think you should know more about that eighth inning. Southern started it with a pop to Farrell, but O'Doul got the second of his successive doubles and scored on Klein's single. An error by Blair and a single by Whitney filled the bases. Friberg singled to center, scoring Klein and Hurst and putting Whitney on third. Thevenow singled to right center, scoring Whitney and putting Friberg on third.

MR. PEGLER HAS HIS SAY ABOUT MANDELL FIGHT

Points to Long Odds on Eve of Bout.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 24.—Sammy Mandell, who lost the lightweight championship of the world to Al Singer last week, has been thinking over the strange events of that Thursday evening in the Yankee stadium and he now entertains the suspicion that he was doped.

After ten years of association, he has just about decided to break off professional and social relations with his manager, Eddie Kane, in the belief that Mr. Kane neglected his interests.

However, it should be observed in this connection that he was on the point of divorcing Mr. Kane some time before the fight, and I say he has just about decided to part from him now realizing that prize fighters are greedy and inconsistent. He may decide over night to re-accept Mr. Kane as his manager in any future prize fights which he may engage in and also as his friend and counselor, just as he did a few weeks before the fight with Singer.

3 to 1 Is Long Price.

Still, the prize fight was conducted under very suspicious circumstances and without any definite opinion as to whether Mandell was doped, I presume it will do no injustice to relate certain matters.

The betting odds on the fight, laid by the professional gamblers on Broadway and accepted by other gamblers elsewhere about the country as a gauge of the probabilities, were 2 to 1 and even, on the night of the fight, 3 to 1.

Two to one is a long price against any creditable champion, and 3 to 1 was a scandalous price against a champion as skillful and ringwise as Sammy Mandell. It was true that he had made some rather significant fights within the last year from which a professional gambler might have deduced that the young man had gone by and was due to be beaten by Singer. Nevertheless, 3 to 1 was what the gambling profession called an overplay, and this price and the character of those who offered it naturally figured in the suspicions at the ringside.

I had visited Mandell at his training camp at Gus Wilson's boarding house several days before the fight and had found him boxing in heavy overall trunks indoors on a very hot day. He was sallow and not very energetic.

No Weight Trouble, Says Sammy.

After the workout, he lay in his dressing room, a small compartment in the gymnasium building, wrapped in two blankets. He said he was having no trouble taking off weight and that this was an old custom of his, steaming in blankets after his exercise. Mr. Kane also was quick to say that the matter of reducing to 135 pounds at 2 o'clock on the day of the bout was no problem to Sammy, as he was close to the weight, anyway. However, he did not say how much Mandell did weigh just then.

On the night of the fight, about 30 minutes before Mandell entered the ring, I went to his dressing room to ask him if it were true that he had been compelled to do a mile of road work on the cinder track of the Yankee stadium that morning, as reported along the press row, in order to take off the last few ounces.

The atmosphere of the dressing room was strangely solemn. There were policemen in uniform at the door and, within the room, lying on a rubbing table, wrapped in his black silk bathrobe, with his red gloves laced on his hands and folded across his chest, and with his eyes shut, was Mandell.

Beside him, gazing off in gloomy

"THE LAY OF THE HOSPITAL RACE."

ONE of the greatest, if not the greatest, bits of satiric sport humor is "The Lay of the Hospital Race," written by Hugh E. Keough, originator of this column, which he conducted under the by-name of "By Hek," until his death. Many former admirers of "Hek" at various times have requested its republication. Its length seemed to forbid. Now Friend Arch, sports editor, has promised space in the Sunday edition for reprinting.

The theme is a "jumpin' race" or steeplechase. To better understand this verse, we may remind that back in the old days the jumpers did not have the standing they do now. When a horse could not win on the flat, he often was turned into a jumper on the "coon dog" theory. The number was comparatively few, and the jockeys, likewise few in number, had only two or three races a week in which to earn a livelihood.

Under these conditions, the public became imbued with the idea, rightly or wrongly, that most such races were decided the night before in a caucus in some back room. This furnished the setting for "Hek's" verse.

Order your Sunday Wake from your newsdealer at once before the supply is exhausted. We will not be able to supply back numbers. Cut out the story, if you wish to save it. It will not appear again.

Primo's Departure.

Primo Carnera has been ordered to return to Italy for military duty and because he is an alien guest whose stay has expired, before American fight fans have learned just how good or how bad a ringster he is. Otherwise his stay has been a success, for it has yielded financial fruit.

Meeting a sequence of setups in this country in bouts concerning several of which sinister rumors were afloat, Primo was not called upon to show his wares against much class except the ageing and tired George Godfrey, from whom he won on a foul. In advance of that bout were reports that Godfrey would be stopped.

Carnera's claim to class rests on his two battles with Young Stribling, abroad, won and lost, respectively, by the foul route. Stribling, whose quick championship contenders, says Carnera is a hard man to fight and dangerous because of his size. It is probable Carnera is somewhat better than he is rated.

The visitor's manager laments that a year in the Italian army will ruin Carnera as a boxer. We do not see why it should. Perhaps this melancholy view was induced somewhat by prospects of the loss of a profitable meal ticket. Carnera, if he returns after military service, will be a drawing card for at least one bout—for more if he can display any ring attributes besides size.

Carl Reynolds and Greg Mulleavy collaborated yesterday at Comiskey park to accumulate five runs between them, which would have been enough to give Ted Lyons his fifteenth victory of the season, even if the rest of his White Sox mates hadn't seen fit to cooperate. The rest of the Sox cast, however, insisted on lending welcome but unnecessary assistance and as a result, the score was White Sox, 10; Washington, 4.

The Hose, led by the ubiquitous Reynolds and Mulleavy, fell on four pitchers for fifteen hits, including three triples and two doubles.

Crowder to Oppose Thomas.

Thomas will pitch the second of the series with the Senators today, while Crowder will face the Sox.

The Senators started out as though they intended to dispose of Lyons immediately. After Rice had grounded out to Watwood, Judge shot a triple to the far left field corner, the first of his three hits, and trotted home a minute later when Manush singled.

Mulleavy and Reynolds started their act in the Sox half of the first inning with successive singles, but failed to score because Jolley and Barnes couldn't do anything with Ad Liska's underhand shoots. Both the Senators and the Sox filed out in order in the second, but Lyons led off the third with a single to left. Watwood forced him at second, Cronin to Myer, and Mulleavy duplicated Watwood's forceout with a grounder to Judge. Reynolds came through with his second hit, a slow roller to short.

Liska Knocked Out.

Jolley then knocked Liska from the box with a terrific liner which cracked the Senator hurler on the knee and bounced to the Washington dugout for a two base hit, scoring Mulleavy. Liska retired and Burke went to the mound to fan Barnes for the third out.

The Senators made their final threat in the fourth when Myer started the fireworks by walking. West forced him, Cissell to Mulleavy, but when Bluege attempted to sacrifice, Lyons threw wide to second in an effort to force West and both runners were safe. Spencer singled to center, scoring West and went to second while Barnes was trying to get Bluege at third. Burke shot another single to the same spot and Bluege ran home, Spencer taking third. Rice cracked a hit through the box and Spencer scored, Burke taking second.

THEY'LL TRY AGAIN

Bill Tilden (left) and George Lott carry America's hopes of regaining the Davis cup from France in the opening singles matches at Paris today. Tilden, named for the American team only a few days ago, will meet Jean Borotra, whom he has defeated seven times. Lott is matched with Henri Cochet, star of the French team.

Tilden, Lott Meet French in Cup Play

PARIS, July 24.—(AP)—French tennis fans openly boasted tonight while the native officials agreed with them in less boisterous fashion that the luck of the draw bids fair to bring France two victories in the opening pair of singles matches of the challenge round for the Davis cup Friday afternoon.

Big Bill Tilden, ace of the United States team, drew Jean Borotra, the Bounding Basque, for the opening match which will start on the courts at the Roland Garros stadium. George Lott, Chicago youth, who will help the American veteran with the singles burden, faces Henri Cochet, world's ranking star, in the second match. The doubles team, as yet unnamed, will clash on Saturday, with the final singles, Lott against Borotra and Tilden against Cochet, on Sunday afternoon.

Tilden Yanks' Hope.

While the French are bubbling over with optimism, the American colony feels sure that Tilden's oft proven supremacy over Borotra—seven consecutive victories on grass and hard courts—will be shown again tomorrow, giving the challengers an even break in victories for the opening day, no one, either French or American, appears to grant Lott a chance against Cochet.

Frenchmen believe that Tilden's spell over Borotra will be broken tomorrow. They point for support to the Basque's duel with Tilden at Wimbledon where Borotra levened the count in sets at 2-all and led the fifth set four games to two without the advantage of the ten minute rest which he will get tomorrow if the match goes beyond three sets. Tilden pulled that battle out of the fire, but the French do not believe he can do it again.

Tilden appears to feel heavily the responsibility of his eleventh hour selection as a member of the American Davis cup squad.

Wilmer Allison, partner of John Van Ryn in America's first string doubles combination, made a particularly poor showing in practice today and the shoddy work of the young Texan buoyed the French up to the pitch where they no longer are willing to concede the doubles victory to the United States. They likely will send Jacques Brugnon and Christian Boussus, the French second string doubles pair, in an attempt to defeat the Wimbledon and American Davis cup champions.

RUTH HITS 36TH HOMER; YANKEES NIP TIGERS, 5-2

Cantrell Makes Debut as Detroit Pitcher.

Detroit, Mich., July 24.—(AP)—Guy Cantrell, who came to Detroit from Toronto this week, made his first American league start today and gave the New York Yankees a great battle before succumbing, 5 to 2.

Cantrell allowed eight hits, one of them a drive high into the bleachers in right center by Babe Ruth for his 36th home run of the season, putting him five homers and 17 days ahead of his 1927 record. When he set his great mark the Babe had only 31 on July 24 and did not make No. 36 until Aug. 10.

Roy Sherid of the Yankees did his best pitching with men on bases. He allowed only seven hits, but often was forced to bear down, as the Tigers had runners on in every inning. Sherid received good support, while Detroit errors allowed two Yankee runs to score. Score:

Foxx's Homer in 9th Helps Macks Beat Indians, 8-6

Cleveland, O., July 24.—(AP)—Jimmy Foxx's twenty-seventh home run of the season, delivered in the ninth inning with one man on base and the score tied, today won the first game of the series for the Philadelphia Athletics over Cleveland, 8 to 6. The drive went high into center field bleachers, scoring Cochrane, who had walked.

Simmons drove his twenty-third homer of the season over the right field wall in the first inning, scoring Fishop ahead, and Morgan slammed his twentieth circuit blow in the fifth, scoring Jamison and Porter ahead.

THE SHOCK ABSORBER PROBAK ZONE
PROBAK REG. U.S. PAT. OFF. MADE IN U.S.A.

Henry J. Gaisman, inventor of Kodak's autographic device, AutoStrop and Probak Safety Razors and the shock-absorbing Probak double-edge blades.

The
from the double-edge blade

HERE'S the reason for Probak's swiftly won popularity. Henry J. Gaisman—inventive genius—famous authority on safety razors and blades—discovered and banished bending shock and edge-distortion. After years of experiment he perfected a double-edge blade that always lays its keen edges straight and true along the guard.

Probak's butterfly channeling and duo-tempered steel absorb all bending shock and strain. Distortion vanishes before it reaches the shaving edges. Prove the amazing difference. FOUR YEAR OLD TO DO HER STUFF IN TRIBUNE SWIM

Complete Preparations for Sunday's Races.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Lucille Hyatt, 4 years old, can swim and dive better than many girls three times her age. Thousands who will watch Chicago youngsters in THE TRIBUNE races Sunday afternoon at Lincoln park will see this little lady dive from the ten foot board and paddle across the lagoon like a tiny Gertrude Ederle.

Lucille's father, C. A. Hyatt, director of Cermak park at Lyons, taught her to swim when she was 17 months old. At 20 months she gave her first exhibition. At 4 years she is expert, swimming a crawl and breast strokes in addition to diving.

Ookie'll Be There, Too.

Ookie Herbst of Stanton park is another of Chicago's youngsters who can be expected to make the veterans step for diving honors in a few years. Young Herbst recently celebrated his 10th birthday, but Sunday he's going to show the C. A. A. U. divers how to perform a one and a half front dive. Fred Bennett is his instructor.

Four women and six men have entered the Central A. A. U. diving events. Each will perform 11 championship dives. The winner is determined on points.

Fourteen hundred and seventy boys and girls are eligible for TRIBUNE merit badges. Each contestant who swims the 100 yard course will receive the award. The first four finishers in each of the four final races will be given championship prizes.

Fix Lanes Today.

The first of the barges was brought into the lagoon yesterday. This morning the lanes will be laid out, the diving board will be erected, and final preparations made for Sunday's contests.

HERE ARE MORE GOLF WINNERS IN TRIBUNE TOURNEY

New entries to THE TRIBUNE public links golf tournament continue to come in every day together with the results of first and second round matches. If your name has appeared in either the first or second round pairings and you have not already played your part of the match, go out to your favorite course and do so at once as your opponent will be waiting anxiously to see what success he has met with.

If you have not yet entered the tournament, there is still time. Play an 18 hole round on any course you wish and mail your card to the Tribune golf editor. Then you will be matched against an opponent of equal ability and you can fulfill your part of the engagement on your own links while he is doing the same on his. Here are the results of some of the second round matches:

Edison McEwen, La Grange, Ill., beat A. J. Fleisig, Lisle, Ill., 8 strokes.

A. M. Schweda, 1710 N. Artesian, beat J. T. Franco, 1428 East 66th place, 8 strokes.

MOON MULLINS—WHY, UNCLE WILLIE!

MY DEAR LITTLE GIRL, I'D THINK YOU'D HANG YOUR HEAD WITH SHAME, AFTER THE WAY YOU'VE ACTED.
OH WILLIAM, I AM SO SORRY. BUT WHY DIDN'T YOU TELL ME THAT HUSSY WAS OUT WITH MOONSHINE IN THE FIRST PLACE?
COME ON I'M DEAD TIRED AND I PROMISED MYSELF I'D BE ASLEEP BY TEN O'CLOCK.
HUMM- WAIT HERE A MINUTE, PRECIOUS, I'M GOING TO GIVE THAT DAME A GOOD PIECE OF MY MIND.
I'D BETTER GO AFTER HIM- WILLIAM'S GOT SUCH A MEAN TONGUE WHEN HE'S PROVOKED. AND I CAN'T AFFORD TO BE PAYING OFF ON ANY LAWSUITS JUST NOW.

HELLO LULU WHAT ARE YOU DOING AFTER TEN O'CLOCK?

Pegler Has His Say About Mandell Fight

and hostile contemplation of the nondescripts busying themselves on the affairs of other fighters on the program, sat Teddy Bodkin. Mr. Bodkin is a fat, bald, elderly man, who formerly was a meat salesman in Chicago and Rockford, Ill., and he is a nonprofessional in the prizefight industry. He knew Sammy when Sam was a novice and, like old Bill McCabe, who attached himself to Gene Tunney in the A. E. F. and gloried in Tunney's success, old Mr. Bodkin has been attached to Sammy as an unofficial and supernumerary manager throughout his career.

He beckoned for silence and from this I took it that Sammy was asleep, so I stooped and whispered, "What about the weight?"

"The weight was easy," said he. "I saved that bourbon for you until we broke camp yesterday morning, so I had to drink it myself. It was elegant bourbon. No kidding."

"I couldn't get up there again, but thanks," said I. "Did Sammy have to run a mile on the track to make the weight this morning?"

"No," he said, "he made it easy, I tell you. He's O. K. He's fine. He just took a little walk, like he always does in the morning."

At this point Sammy opened his eyes and mumbled something unintelligible, but his mouth was cluttered with the rubber protecter that fighters wear to shield their lips from laceration by their teeth. However, he seemed very drowsy. He put out his right glove to shake.

"I'm Fine," Sammy Says.

"I'm fine," said he. "No trouble about the weight. But that light hurts my eyes. Can I have a towel?"

Frank (Windows) Bagley, one of Gene Tunney's early managers, now a professional second without important fighters of his own, was attending Mandell, hired by Kane. He had no sentimental interest in Mandell.

Bagley unwrapped a roll of absorbent cotton, removing the blue paper from between the layers, and laid a strip of this across Sammy's eyes. Sammy then seemed to doze off again, with the fight not more than 15 minutes away.

When Sammy took the ring his face, usually alight with expression, was glum and lifeless. He was listless and it is not hard to believe him when he now reports that he was dazed, although I must recall that he and Bodkin both claimed he was all right fifteen minutes before.

Confirms Coma Statement.

In Mandell's corner were Kane, Bagley and Barney Furey, the old Negro trainer and second. A man who was sitting close there now reports that Kane squatted below the steps with a towel in his right hand and that Bert Stand, the secretary of the prize fight commission, yelled at him, "Don't throw that towel in there, Kane."

When Mandell first went down, out of three old hands at the fight business in his corner, nobody had the presence of mind or the will to signal him the customary advice to a dazed fighter to stay down for a count of nine. He was up at about the fourth second and Singer was on him again. And when he finally went down and out, it was none of his seconds, but the referee, Arthur Donovan, who raised his head, and with some of Singer's seconds started to move him to his corner.

Relations with Kane Strained.

Since the fight, Mandell has said he entered the ring oblivious to his surroundings and he claims to remember nothing that happened before the left hook to the chin except Kane's leading him out by the hand for the referee's instructions which he only faintly heard.

Kane was not with him much of the time in his training camp, but lived in a hotel off Broadway. Bodkin had ridden him off, so to speak, some time ago and, although Kane and Sammy effected a new agreement, it was plain that manager and man were not cordial.

Incidentally, after the fight, Kane still insisted that Sammy entered the ring feeling well, whereas Mandell by morning had decided on a much different story, insisting, now that something definite and mysterious had hurt him.

Mandell was a set up and any fairly aggressive lightweight would have knocked him out as easily as Singer did that night. Such things have happened before, but the most curious factor in this case is that all the leading gamblers in the Broadway delicatessen district were overwhelmingly confident long before ringtime that the championship would pass to Al Singer.

the stage was set for considerably more with three men on base and none out. Cissell walked and went to second while Ryan was beating out a roller to Bluege. Tate singled to center, and the bases were filled. Lyons popped to Myer, and then Cissell scored while Myer was tossing out Watwood.

The Sox put the game on ice in the sixth. Ryan walked and Lyons was safe when his grounder seeped through Bluege's hands. Watwood forced Lyons, Cronin to Myer, and then Mulleavy sent a triple to the center field wall, scoring Tate and Watwood. Reynolds tripled to left and scored when Spencer dropped Cronin's relay to the plate.

Successive singles by Barnes, Cissell and Fothergill, who batted for Ryan, gave the Sox a run with nobody out in the seventh and sent Burke to the showers, Brown replacing him.

Fischer took Brown's place on the mound in the Sox eighth and Mulleavy touched him for a double. He went to third on Reynolds' infield out and scored on Jolley's fly to Loepp.

Modern Age Cramps Birds' Nesting Styles

BY BOB BECKER.

Because farm tractors which shed gasoline fumes in the fields do not grow hair, the orioles in the middle west have had to find a new substitute for this nest building material. The crowding out of the horse by not only tractors but other motor vehicles has created a real shortage of horsehair in this country, so the orioles and other birds are forced to resort to string or twine to take the place of the missing material. Thus modern civilization upsets even nature's scheme of things.

Up our way the orioles have taken to string without a protest. One pair of birds next door built their nest with offerings of twine and today you can see some of it in the structure of the swinging home. We haven't seen the inside of this particular nest, but we are willing to wager that there is little if any horsehair in the outfit, whereas years ago the latter material would be present and probably little or no twine would have been used.

This is just one example of what is happening in the outdoors today because of the gradual changes being made by modernity. Some of these changes actually threaten the existence of certain wild animals and birds, while other advances already have wiped out certain species. For example, the gradual development of northwestern prairie lands into farm acreage threatens the breeding grounds of certain waterfowl. Some ornithologists are ready to predict that this movement dooms waterfowl hunting in this country on the scale which we have enjoyed.

Drainage projects are taking away thousands of acres of rest and feeding grounds which formerly belonged to waterfowl, thus creating another problem. Here in Illinois and other central prairie states millions of prairie chickens have vanished before the This bird cannot cope with the situation and is yielding to the pheasant, plow and the cultivation of farmlands.

MY DANDY BEATS SPEEDY TRIO IN TEXAS HANDICAP

Pansy Walker, Morsel, Dinah Rush Victor.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Close your eyes and imagine four horses heading into the stretch of a great race track noses apart. Try to see 11,000 spectators on their feet in the excitement. Imagine that a moment later the same four horses battle it out inches apart until they pass the line of finish. Then you have a picture of what happened in the Texas handicap yesterday at Arlington Park.

Old time race goers may tell you they've watched great turf struggles. Those old timers always have looked at some spectacle back 30 or 40 years ago that was a little better than anything that happens now. But you can bet your last quarter that they never watched anything like this Texas handicap at six furlongs which engaged four horses and which ended with My Dandy in front of Pansy Walker by a head, Pansy Walker in front of Morsel by a nose and Morsel in front of Dinah Did Upset by another nose.

Ran Close All Way.

And the most exciting part of the Texas was that the four horses ran closely grouped from the very beginning and that My Dandy when he scored his thrilling triumph had stepped over the three quarters of a mile course in 1:10 4-5 which is just a fifth of a second off the track record he made less than a week ago when he scored at long odds.

At the beginning Pansy Walker broke in front, Morsel was second, but My Dandy's long lank nose was bobbing up and down on the extreme outside. Midway in the back stretch Jockey Knight had taken My Dandy to the front, but Pansy Walker was fighting it out with Morsel. Dinah Did Upset was moving along and had closed so fast it was difficult to tell which was in front when the stretch run began.

Then came the spectacular battle down the stretch. My Dandy held his advantage but Pansy Walker and Morsel were challenging at every jump. Dinah Did Upset found a place next to the rail and she was going fastest of all at the finish. In a few more strides she would have won the decision. But My Dandy hung on long enough and despite his stout backing paid 8 to 5. The fractional time of the race was sensational as the first quarter was run in :22 3-5, and the half in :45 2-5.

Flyer Wins Jubilant Purse.

The winner of the Jubilant purse at a mile for 3 year olds came from unexpected sources when Flyer, owned by the Audley Farm stable took the track at the rise of the barrier and made the pace all the way. He triumphed over Miss Bess by three lengths the latter getting up in the last strides to beat Fortunate Youth out of second money. There had been a hot tip on Susie Jane but she tried to keep step for three-quarters of a mile then quit suddenly in the stretch.

Joseph E. Widener's silks were carried to another Arlington victory in the Summit Hunt which engaged 14 jumpers over the hurdle course at about a mile and a half. Indigo, a son of Stefan the Great, was Mr. Widener's representative and after the first three jumps he took the lead and his advantage was never threatened. He won by a wide margin from Benjamin L. Behrs' veteran Royal Play while Profiteer, a newcomer to the hurdle game, landed third money.

Fraulein Aussem Barred from U. S. Net Title Meet

BERLIN, July 24.—(AP)—The German Tennis association today refused Cecilie Aussem permission to compete in the American national championships on the ground that the American event coincides in date with an international championship tournament at Hamburg and the international women's team match between Germany and Great Britain at Berlin. Fraulein Aussem had planned to compete in the United States in mixed doubles with Bill Tilden and in women's doubles with Elizabeth Ryan.

Hungary Leads in Chess Tourney; Yankees Win

HAMBURG, Germany, July 24.—(AP)—With three rounds remaining, Hungary today led the 18 countries represented in the team tournament of the International Chess federation. The Hungarians were ahead of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Germany, Austria, and the United States. The Americans, pitted against Denmark, came away in the 14th round with another victory, 2½ to 1½. I. Kashdan and H. Steiner of New York won, and F. J. Marshall of New York drew.

Mrs. Lillian Zech of Tam o' Shanter yesterday advanced to the semi-finals of the women's Cook county golf championship with a burst of golf that not only smothered her opponent, Mrs. Mary Sager of Lincoln park, 7 and 6, but also set a new woman's record of 75 for the par 78 Jackson park course. She was out in 37 with three birdies and an eagle 3 at the second and came in in 38 with the aid of three birdies.

Mrs. Edith Wallace of Cherry Hills had little trouble scoring a 6 and 5 victory over Mrs. E. Henderson of Lincoln park, but Mrs. Rose Marshall of Marquette had to go an extra hole to gain the decision over Mrs. Rose Long of Jackson park, 1 up.

Mrs. C. Carnahan of Jackson park eliminated Mrs. Flo Jacobs, also of Jackson, 4 and 2.

A. L. Miller of Exmoor led the field of 174 in the annual Braves' day tournament at Briergate yesterday by scoring 159 to win the low gross prize for members and guests. Members' low gross was won by A. H. Harrison with 162.

W. L. Wallen won the low net for guests by scoring 181—39—142, and J. D. Harrison of the home club carried off the members' low net with 161—21—140. The 18 hole morning gross went to Elliott Evans of Edgewater for the guests with an 81, and to James Harrison for the members with a similar score.

J. J. O'Laughlin was the guest winner of morning low net, 97—27—70, and L. T. Gallager, 106—36—70, took the members' prize. Don Mercer won the afternoon low gross for guests with 80, and J. Halpin captured the members' prize with his 84.

Afternoon low net was won by Dr. Curtin of the visitors, 91—21—70, and L. Moore took away the members' prize in the event with 86—21—65.

After setting the pace up to the final round of the Women's Western Junior golf tournament at Evanston, Miss Lucy Jane Hedberg of Skokie yesterday was beaten 5 and 4, for the title by Miss Priscilla Carver of Mission Hills. Miss Hedberg won but one hole, the fourth, where she dropped a twenty foot putt for a birdie 3.

Miss Carver played par golf on the out nine, scoring 42 against her opponent's medal score of 45, to stand four up at the turn. The match ended on the 12th when Miss Carver sunk her par three and Miss Hedberg was in trouble on her tee shot.

GEHLBACH HOLDS BIG MARGIN OVER FLYERS IN DERBY

Little Rock Pilot in Houston First.

Municipal Airport, Houston, Tex., July 24.—(AP)—Eleven of twelve planes in the all-American Air Derby which sped away from Little Rock, Ark., this morning checked in here late today, paced by Lieut. Lee Gehlbach of Little Rock. Lieut. Gehlbach was far ahead of the field with elapsed time of 3:01.34 from Little Rock, and a total unofficial elapsed time of 15:22.22.

Gehlbach won $500 of the $1,000 lap prize offered here. Stub Quinby of Moline, Ill., took second money of $300 and J. R. Wedell of New Orleans the $200 third award.

Herman Hamer of Chicago, one of the entrants in the All-American air Derby, forced down today about fifty miles from Houston, arrived here tonight and said he would reënter the race tomorrow.

The planes will take up the race again beginning at 9 a. m. tomorrow. San Angelo, Tex., is the next control point.

Lee Schoenhair, referee, had no information about two or three other planes which were among the starters at Detroit, beginning point of the race, but pointed out that, regardless of their status, they were too far back to affect the outcome.

ROOMING HOUSE ROW ENDS IN A FATAL SHOOTING

A drinking orgy during which he engaged in a quarrel over his landlady's daughter, yesterday led to the killing of Harry McHugh, 27 years old, a sign painter, in a rooming house at 1458 West Adams street. The girl is Anna Settles, 30 years old.

Her mother, Mrs. Josie Coomce, runs the place, assisted by her brother, George Lombus. McHugh and Miss Settles had insisted they were married. Mrs. Coomce began arguing with McHugh about it Wednesday night. He became abusive and struck Mrs. Coomce. Lombus put him to bed finally.

McHugh got more liquor yesterday and renewed the argument. Lombus again interceded for Mrs. Coomce and McHugh left the house, to return with two companions, according to Lombus. They threatened to beat up Lombus, chasing him upstairs to his room. Lombus seized a double barreled shotgun and shot McHugh through the chest, who died almost instantly. The Des Plaines street police are holding Lombus.

GENEVA, July 24.—The number of unemployed in the world in May was greater than the entire population of New York City, it is estimated here on the basis of the most recent figures, published today in the July number of the labor office's International Labor Review.

Figures covering 26 countries, excluding the United States, for which statistics were not given, show for only this part of the world a total of 5,067,000 permanently unemployed and a total of 1,231,000 more temporarily jobless, making a grand total of 6,298,000. This grand total is 1,541,000 greater than the same figure for May, 1929.

Since many of the states give only the number of trade unionists or the number of registered jobless, and since only five of them include figures of temporary jobless—Germany, Britain, Belgium, Italy, and Poland, which alone total 1,231,000 in this category—and since such countries as the United States, China, Japan, and India are not included at all, it is considered the real total of the world's unemployed is much greater than 6,000,000.

CHICAGO STOCK MARKET SAILS INTO DOLDRUMS

Gains Erased in Dull Trading Day.

Chicago's stock exchange sailed into the doldrums yesterday. Prices eased downward, but the losses for the greater part were fractional. However, they were great enough to erase a considerable number of Wednesday's gains. On the whole the price range reflected the listless movement of the market—the turnover for the day was just a little better than 100,000 shares.

Libby-McNeil presented one rather active exception to the rule prevailing for the day. Trading in this stock reached a turnover of 7,350 shares, but selling at 15¾ there was no change from the previous close. Its high for the day was 16⅝. Activity in this stock was attributed to the recommendation by an advisory committee of the federal farm board favoring modification of the packers' consent decree which would permit the packers to enlarge the scope of their business. The recommendation was considered as beneficial to Libby-McNeil.

Share in Decline.

Utilities shared the general decline with Commonwealth Edison off 4 points to 300. Cities Service on reduced trading declined ⅝ to 28⅜. Middle West Utilities dropped off fractionally to close at 29⅞.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Midland United company has been called for Aug. 11 to consider a resolution passed by the board of directors proposing an increase in the number of shares of common stock authorized from 5,000,000 to 7,500,000. The purpose of the increase is to put the company in a better position to finance expansion. The company serves more than 700 communities, located chiefly in Ohio and Indiana.

In the automotives Auburn was off 3⅝ points to close at 124. Bendix was up fractionally to 33¾ and Perfect Circle was up 2 points at 32. J. F. Raleigh of Pines Winterfront stated that his company now has dealer orders on hand for more than 67,000 detachable winterfronts—a substantial increase over orders to date last year.

Investment trusts saw Insull Utilities preferred, second series, up 4 points to 95 on sales of 300 shares and National Securities Investment certificates advanced 4 points to 90. There was little change in the leaders in this division.

Activity Develops.

Some activity developed in Great Lakes Aircraft, the price advancing 1⅝ at 5¾ on a turn-over of 2,700 shares. United State Gypsum was off 1 to close at 43. Electric Household and General Theaters Equipment were off fractionally. Quaker Oats, which has been selling at 210 for some time, went up 2 points.

Alfred S. Burdick, president of Abbott Laboratories, reported earnings of his company for the first six months of 1930 were $254,800, as compared with $236,000 for the same period last year. The earnings are equal to $2.12 per share on 120,000 shares for the first six months of this year, as compared with $1.96 for the same period last year.

Radios were off fractionally. Grigsby-Grunow closed at 14¾ and Majestic Household was off 1 point to 35½.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, July 24.—(AP)—Rayon companies generally followed the lead of the Viscose company, the largest producer, in cutting prices today. Inquiries for rayon fabrics to be made are increasing. Notion goods were quiet and prices less steady, the falling off in cotton being a factor. Business is beginning to increase on some of the wool goods lines for spring. Italian silk is being bought freely by the continent, but America is buying little. Lack of cables from China silks markets is reported to be due to the unsettled political conditions in silk growing areas. Burlap continued quiet and easy.

PLAN $200,000 BUILDING FOR LINCOLN AVE.

BY AL CHASE.

Jacob Wolf, owner of the Wolf buildings at the intersection of Lincoln, Ashland, and Belmont avenues, has leased the three story addition at the corner, which he is to erect, to Hirsch & Co., clothing, for fifteen years and six months. The rental will be $310,000 for the term, or at the rate of $1,666.67 monthly. The lease starts in November, 1930.

The present Wolf building will have a story added to it, making it a three story structure with a frontage of 78 feet on Lincoln avenue. It will be uniform with the new unit, leased by Hirsch & Co., which is to be 30x35. Leichenko & Esser are the architects.

Will Cost $200,000.

The Wolf Furniture house, located on these premises for a number of years, will occupy the upper floors of the remodeled section. It also will continue to occupy the entire three story and basement building at the north end of the block, adjoining the structure to be remodeled.

According to the architects, the cost of new construction and remodeling will be $200,000. The exterior will be of stone. Completion is scheduled for about Oct. 1.

Morris E. Felwell, vice president of the Foreman State Trust and Savings bank, has purchased the ten room brick residence at 5012 Ellis avenue, lot 50x150, from Joseph L. Strauss, treasurer of the Columbian Colortype company. The price was not disclosed.

Real Silk Hosiery Mills.

Could you furnish me with an analysis of the stock of Real Silk Hosiery, and oblige?—G. H. J.

Real Silk Hosiery Mills, Inc., was formed in 1923 as successor to a company established in 1919. Its plants at Philadelphia and Indianapolis have a capacity of 100,000 pairs of hose and 18,000 lingerie garments per day. The entire production is distributed by a sales organization of 10,000 representatives who sell direct to the customer.

Net income in 1929 was $2,026,456, equal after preferred dividends to $9.31 per share on 200,000 common shares, par $10, against net income of $1,313,136, or $5.73 per common share, in 1928, and $545,852 in the year ended Sept. 30, 1927.

The company's net profit, before taxes, of $819,146 in the fourth quarter of 1929 set a new earnings record for any quarter in the company's history, but was only $16,606 above the corresponding 1928 quarter, when efforts of the new management had first begun to show results. On May 6, 1930, it was reported that the company's sales during the first four months of 1930 had run about 15 per cent ahead of the corresponding period of 1929. Plants were being operated on a 24 hour schedule, employing 4,700 men.

At the close of 1929 current assets were $7,488,470 and current liabilities were $2,899,228, leaving a net working capital of $4,589,242.

Common dividends were resumed Oct. 1, 1929, at a $5 annual rate. The stock deserves a fairly good rating.

Consolidated Gas, Electric Light and Power of Baltimore.

I have some money to invest and am interested in the new Consolidated Gas, Electric Light and Power company of Baltimore 4½ per cent bonds. Are these bonds entirely sound? Please give me some information about the company.—B. M. C.

Consolidated Gas, Electric Light and Power company of Baltimore furnishes gas, electric light and power to a population of more than 1,000,000, including the entire city of Baltimore and surrounding territory. It also supplies steam for heating to the central business district of Baltimore and furnishes all the electric power required for Baltimore street railways. Operating revenues have increased steadily for a number of years and net income has gradually grown from $4,089,560 in 1924 to $7,627,545 in 1929. Fixed charges were earned 3.76 times in 1929, 3.03 times in 1928, and 2.69 times in 1927. Dividends have been paid on the common stock without intermission since 1910.

The $7,500,000 first refunding sinking fund 4½s, series H, dated July 1, 1930, and due July 1, 1970, are equally secured with several series previously issued by a mortgage on all the property now owned or hereafter acquired.

Net earnings of $12,361,307 [before deducting $2,001,850 for depreciation] for the twelve months ended May 31, 1930, were 4.17 times annual interest charges of $2,966,605 on the total funded debt to be outstanding upon completion of this financing.

These bonds are regarded as sound.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Bullish Oil News.

Recent news from the petroleum industry has been decidedly bullish. The output of crude oil has been cut to the lowest level since 1928, and it is estimated that, with the current rate of consumption, from 350,000 to 400,000 brls of oil are being taken out of storage. Daily gasoline stocks are also being substantially reduced, and the belief exists that if the current trend is maintained it will not be long before higher prices will be justified.

Utilities' Technical Strength.

Utilities as a group have been more responsive to covering by the professional short interest. Considerable stock was sold by the bear element on the recent advance, and not much of it was covered in the sharp reaction of last Saturday and Monday. Consequently there has been a steady influx of bids just "under" the market. Such stocks as Electric Bond and Share, American and Foreign Power warrants, United Light and Power A and American Gas and Electric are reflecting more technical strength than they have for some time.

Aluminum Company.

Strong markets always lead to a withdrawal of offerings in Aluminum Company of America. Consequently the stock moves ahead sharply on a few hundred shares. Little of this issue is for sale at current levels. It is said that the Mellon interests are constantly adding to their holdings, especially during periods of market weakness.

BROKERS' LOANS SHOW SLACK IN USE OF CREDIT

Gold Drainage Has Little Effect.

BY O. A. MATHER.

A loss of upward of $22,000,000 in gold within a week, such as has taken place in this country in the last week, would cause some misgivings in a period of active business and expanding credit. However, in the present period of dull trade, slack credit demands, and easy money rates there is little fear that gold exports will have much effect on credit conditions unless the movement assumes considerably larger proportions.

Further slackening in the use of credit, both for speculative and commercial purposes, is shown in the weekly report on brokers' loans and the weekly statement of condition of the federal reserve system issued yesterday by the federal reserve board.

At the same time the New York reserve bank reported that gold exports in the last eight days have totaled $22,501,000 and imports have aggregated $1,457,000. More than $18,000,000 went to France and $5,500,000 was sent to Canada, while the imports came from Latin-American countries.

The report on brokers' loans showed a decline of $17,000,000 in the last week. This came as a surprise to Wall and La Salle streets, where a slight increase had been anticipated. However, the dull and vacillating stock market sessions recently have afforded little guidance for making estimates.

The last seven weeks have seen only one increase in brokers' loans, and the current total of $3,226,000,000 is lower by $875,000,000 than during the first week in June, and also is $2,682,000,000 lower than a year ago. In the last week interior banks have withdrawn $22,000,000 from the New York call money market and nonbanking lenders, including corporations, have taken down $17,000,000. The interior banks and nonbanking lenders are furnishing $904,000,000 and $2,204,000,000 less than a year ago, respectively. On the other hand, the New York banks increased their own loans by $23,000,000 in the last week and are lending $426,000,000 more than a year ago.

Dwindling use of commercial credit is shown in the fact that the member banks of the federal reserve system reduced their borrowings from the reserve banks by $16,460,000 in the last week, bringing the total down to $190,570,000. At the same time, the reserve banks absorbed credit by reducing their holdings of bankers' acceptances and government securities by $18,144,000 and $979,000, respectively. Note circulation declined $26,169,000 and deposits dropped $31,645,000.

Strengthens Position.

Gold and total reserves declined $6,516,000 and $3,174,000, respectively. But the ratio of reserves to liabilities rose to 83.2 per cent, compared with 82 per cent last week, thereby strengthening the position of the reserve system.

The New York Federal Reserve bank made no change in its 2½ per cent rediscount rate. Its report showed a decline of $4,510,000 in member bank borrowings, bringing the total down to $36,935,000. Bankers' acceptances receded $14,308,000 and deposits sagged $347,000. Reserves expanded $24,783,000 and the reserve ratio rose to 87.4 per cent, compared with 85.2 per cent a week ago.

The report of the Chicago reserve bank showed a decline of $1,154,000 in member bank borrowings, bringing this item down to $17,321,000. Bankers' acceptances receded $406,000. Deposits dropped $11,001,000. Reserves declined $13,328,000, but the reserve ratio remained unchanged at 85 per cent.

CHILE COPPER MAKES SECOND DIVIDEND CUT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 24.—Directors of the Chile Copper company today made a second reduction this year in the dividend when they ordered a quarterly distribution of 62½ cents a share, thereby placing the stock on a $2.50 annual basis. On June 27 the board made a cut to a $3 basis by declaring a quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share. The stock formerly paid $3.50 annually.

Dividends have been reduced very generally by the copper companies this year following a slump in the demand for the metal and a sharp break in the price.

Follansbee Brothers declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents on the common stock, placing that issue on a $2 annual basis, against $3 previously. The firm reported first half net profit of $4,353, against $999,660 a year ago. June quarter net was $103,426, against net loss of $99,073 in the previous three months and net profit of $597,088 in the second quarter of 1929.

Dividends omitted included American Scottish Investment company, 30 cents quarterly; Burdines, Inc., preferred of 50 cents quarterly; Charlton Mills, $2 quarterly common dividend; Credit Alliance corporation common and A stock, 25c each, and Merchants' Petrol company, 2 cents on the common.

Opponents of Steel Merger Probe Proxies

Youngstown, O., July 24.—(AP)—Opponents to the merger of Youngstown Sheet and Tube company with Bethlehem Steel corporation in court today probed alleged considerations involved when proxies were given for stock to be voted in favor of the merger at the meeting of stockholders last April 8.

The proxy upon which they spent most time was that given by the John Stambaugh estate for more than 12,000 shares, at about the same time that the Youngstown company signed a three year lease on offices in the Stambaugh building, owned by the estate.

William B. Hall, trustee of the estate, denied on the stand that the lease had anything to do with the proxy. He also denied any discussion with President Eugene G. Grace of the Bethlehem corporation in connection with the lease. Elton Hoyt II., partner in Pickands, Mather & Co., Cleveland ore firm, was a witness for the second time during the day, when attorneys for the Cyrus S. Eaton interests, the merger foes, called him to relate a discussion pertaining to occupancy of the Stambaugh building by the Youngstown company which, he said, took place between Grace and John Stambaugh Jr. in the presence of Hall.

Another witness was Carl W. Ullman, who testified that 71,058 shares held by the Dollar Savings and Trust bank were voted in favor of merger ratification on motion of James A. Campbell, a member of the bank's executive committee. Campbell is chairman of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company.

Eugene G. Grace, president and director of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, definitely denied tonight that the officers of the Bethlehem Steel corporation are preparing to drop their plans for a merger with the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company.

ELECT TROUP PRESIDENT OF CHICAGO CURB

Clarence G. Troup, resident partner of Lamborn, Hutchins & Co., yesterday was elected president of the Chicago Curb Exchange. He succeeds Adolph Kempner, who resigned on account of ill health. Mr. Troup, who has been vice president of the exchange, has been in the brokerage business for about twenty-five years. He was long associated with Arthur Lamborn & Co., sugar dealers. He came to Chicago about seven years ago.

C. G. TROUP. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mr. Kempner was active in the organization of the Curb Exchange two years ago and he served as its president from its inception. He has been a member of the Board of Trade since 1890. Mr. Kemper has been associated with the Uhlmann Grain company since Jan. 1, 1929.

SUIT AGAINST SOUTHERN SUGAR CO. IS DISMISSED

Tampa, Fla., July 24.—(AP)—Bankruptcy proceedings against the Southern Sugar company, a $20,000,000 concern with headquarters at Clewiston, Fla., were dismissed in federal court today by Judge Akerman.

B. G. Dahlberg, president of the company, and other officers were in court with the company's records ready to disprove charges of insolvency. Representatives of creditors holding $2,000,000 worth of claims against the company also were on hand to join with the sugar company in fighting the bankruptcy.

Judge Akerman overruled a motion by attorneys for certain minor creditors for a continuance and ordered the case to a final hearing at once.

"I am not going to put myself in the position of wrecking this concern by any delay," he declared.

The complaining creditors cited their unpreparedness to question the witnesses or examine the company's books today, whereupon Judge Akerman threw the case out of court.

NATIONAL CASH REGISTER CUTS WAGES 10 PCT.

Dayton, O., July 24.—The National Cash Register company has reduced wages 10 per cent for all classes of workers in both the Dayton, O., and Newark, N. J., plants. A statement to employes announced that current business depression necessitated the action.

The company's annual two weeks' vacation will begin Saturday. This procedure has been in effect for the last several years and does not reflect any unusual condition.

Employes are on a five day week schedule. The number of employes on the pay roll remains at the same approximate average as for the last ten years.

Rubber Producers Favor 25 Per Cent Restriction

New York, July 24.—(AP)—A total of 112 crude rubber producers, representing 38,905 tons of production, have declared themselves in favor of proposals of the Rubber Producers association to restrict all Dutch East Indies rubber producers, including native, to 75 per cent of the 1929 crop, according to private cable advices to the rubber exchange of New York. The plan, however, was opposed by 21 producers representing 25,992 tons, including 11,800 tons belonging to American producers.

FACTORY PAY ROLLS, EMPLOYMENT DROP TO NEW JUNE LOWS

Washington, D. C., July 24.—(AP)—Factory employment and pay rolls in the United States declined to new low levels during June and industrial production decreased.

The federal reserve board added today on its summary of business and financial conditions for June and July, that the volume of building contracts awarded was large and that prices declined sharply while money rates continued downward.

Wholesale commodity prices showed a more rapid decline in June than in any other recent month and were about 10 per cent below the level of a year ago. Prices of many important agricultural commodities and their manufactures also dwindled while those of leading imported raw products, such as silk, rubber and coffee, reached new low levels.

There were further declines in iron, steel and copper, but prices of raw wool, hides, and raw sugar increased slightly in June.

"The June industrial production showed a further substantial decrease and the board's index, which is adjusted for ordinary seasonal variations, declined to the lowest level since last December," the report said.

"Output of steel ingots declined in June and early July more than is usual at this season, while automobile production was sharply curtailed to a level considerably below that of the same period of the last two years.

"Cotton consumption, already at a low level, declined further in June. Output of bituminous coal and copper continued in small volume. Wool consumption and shoe production increased slightly and cement output, as in the preceding month, was at a low level.

"Factory employment and pay rolls decreased further in June. The number employed at steel plants and in the automobile, agricultural implement, and cotton goods industries declined more than is usual at this season, and employment in woolen goods and lumber industries continued at unusually low levels."

BOND TRENDS HOLD FIRM AS RAILS SET PACE

New York, July 24.—(AP)—Under the leadership of obligations of railroads operating in the southwest, carrier bonds developed real strength on the New York stock exchange today. The market as a whole showed no reversal of the firm trend, which has carried the price level upward at a consistent but slow pace, and the increased demand for prime rails provided impetus for broadened activity. The volume of sales was the best in two weeks, approximating $9,855,000.

Confirmation of reports that the Southern Pacific railroad was seeking control of the St. Louis, South Western railroad, having already acquired a large minority interest, turned the spotlight on carrier bonds of roads in that section. Unusual activity in several issues developed and net gains ranged up to nearly 2 points, and a dozen or more new 1930 high marks were established.

RCA-VICTOR EMPLOYS 7,000 MORE WORKERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 24.—Proceeding upon the conviction that there is nothing wrong with business or the country, the RCA-Victor company has just added 7,000 employes to the pay roll at its Camden, N. J., plant, expecting to bring the total number of employes up to 20,000 by Aug. 1, E. E. Shumaker, president of the company, announced today.

A daily output of 9,000 complete radio sets is the production goal the company has set for itself, Mr. Shumaker stated. It had been hoped, he declared, to achieve this mark by Aug. 1, but the company will have to be content to reach this schedule before the end of August.

BUCYRUS-ERIE AND U. S. INDUSTRIAL ALCOHOL SHOW HALF YEAR NETS

New York, July 24.—(AP)—The U. S. Industrial Alcohol company today reported for the first half net profit of $552,485, equal to $1.47 a share on 373,846 common shares, compared with $1,696,051, or $5.30 a share on 320,000 shares, in the corresponding period last year.

The Bucyrus-Erie company, for the first half had a net of $1,506,761, equal to $1.33 a share on 560,000 common shares, compared with $1,505,262, or $1.55 a share on 488,000 shares, in the first half last year.

REVEALS PLANS FOR ACQUISITION OF COTTON BELT

Southern Pacific Deal Confirmed.

New York, July 24.—(AP)—The Southern Pacific company, which already operates or controls nearly 17,000 miles of railroad in the southwest and along the Pacific coast, today revealed plans for adding the 1,800 mile St. Louis Southwestern (Cotton Belt) road to its system.

HALE HOLDEN.

Hale Holden, chairman of Southern Pacific's executive committee, confirmed reports that his company had obtained substantial, although minority, blocks of both the common and preferred stocks of the Cotton Belt, which operates in Missouri, Arkansas, and Texas, connecting with Southern Pacific at various points.

Mr. Holden added that an agreement, in the nature of an option, had been reached offering Southern Pacific the opportunity to increase its holdings in St. Louis Southwestern to a majority interest, subject to interstate commerce commission approval.

Complicates I. C. C. Plan.

Financial details of the transaction were not disclosed, but Wall street understood that part of Southern Pacific's purchase was the 135,000 share block of Cotton Belt voting preferred which New York Investors, Inc., an investment company, bought more than a year ago at $89 a share from Kansas City Southern when the latter company was forced to dispose of its holdings by Clayton act proceedings.

Southern Pacific's step complicates somewhat the interstate commerce commission's railway consolidation plan. This had allotted St. Louis Southwestern to the Illinois Central, but railroad circles believe that the Illinois Central will offer no opposition to the realignment now proposed.

There have been a number of moves of late by leading railway systems out of line with the commission plan, including the purchase of the Wheeling and Lake Erie by the Pennroad corporation, investment affiliate of the Pennsylvania railroad. Also the New York Central is understood to have acquired an interest in the Lackawanna.

Force Loree Disposal.

The control of the 1,800 mile Cotton Belt has been a point of serious contention. It was acquired not long ago by the Kansas City Southern as part of L. F. Loree's plans to merge the two roads with the Missouri-Kansas-Texas to form a southwestern system, but the interstate commerce commission made the Loree group dispose of its interest.

The Loree interest was sold to New York Investors, Inc., and Investment Trust. It amounted to 135,000 shares of voting preferred stock, which was tantamount to working control. This block of shares was recently taken over by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., bankers for the Southern Pacific.

Further purchases of the stock are understood to have raised Southern Pacific's interest to about 180,000 shares.

REORGANIZATION OF ENGINEERING FIRM IS SOUGHT

New York, July 24.—(AP)—Several months' effort to work out a solution of the financial difficulties of the International Combustion Engineering corporation is understood in financial circles to have developed several courses of action on which a decision soon may be made.

The concern, one of the largest of its kind in the world, with several plants in the United States and European countries, was placed in receivership last fall following the stock market panic which forestalled plans for new financing. The reorganization committee is understood to have several propositions, including a proposal to raise working capital by asking common holders to contribute.

The Foster-Wheeler corporation, according to current reports, has made a bid to absorb the International corporation through an exchange of stock. A third proposal is understood to be in an indefinite stage.

Highest Priced Bank Stock Withdrawn from Exchange

San Francisco, Cal., July 24.—(AP)—Common stock of the San Francisco bank was removed from trading on the San Francisco Curb exchange today. Exchange officials said the number of shares available for trading was too limited. Only one sale was made this year, when one share of the stock was sold for $13,500. The issue was said to be the highest priced stock on any exchange in the nation. In 1929 one share changed hands at $14,000. In 1928 seven shares were sold at prices varying from $13,000 to $15,000. There are only 1,000 shares outstanding.

Reduces Tank Car Price of Gasoline on East Coast

New York, July 24.—(AP)—The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey has reduced the tank car price of gasoline on the eastern seaboard one-half cent to 6¾c. The company said the reduction was a readjustment to bring its price in line with that quoted by other companies.

Metal Producers Suffer from Letup in Demand

BY SCRUTATOR.

Production of mineral wealth requires the labor of millions of men engaged in drilling and mining operations. They form a group who are accomplishing tasks as basic, so far as the present civilization's needs are concerned, as those performed by the agriculturists producing foodstuffs and vegetable fibers.

Speaking generally, the prices of their products have slumped as much in recent months as farm prices. Many industries bringing minerals from the earth are as much in need of help, considering the matter in the light of abstract justice, as agriculture is. So far, fortunately, no concerted effort has been made to have governments stabilize their prices, although there have been suggestions that the coal industry should be placed under government control.

Decline in Silver.

Coal, oil and natural gas are the fuel branches of the mineral industries. The last two are showing a steady increase in business as coal stands still or moves back. Yet even the oil business is confronted with overproduction.

It is the other branch, metals, that is striving against price conditions that are really stern. Likewise the metal producers are up against lessened demand that seems almost strange in a machine age. Silver is selling at the lowest price, or ratio to gold, ever known. Copper, lead, zinc and tin are moving slowly at prices far lower than those of a year ago. Steel and all other forms of iron, while not distressed, certainly are enduring slow business.

Once silver was money in the same sense that gold is. In the bimetallic currency standard gold value was 16 to 1 of silver. The corresponding values now are around 50 to 1. This although the production of silver to gold the world over since the discovery of America has averaged only 14 to 1. There is little chance to slow down the silver production to demand, as this metal is now largely a by-product of the extraction of lead, copper, zinc, and other minerals.

Other Metals Hit.

Within a year the price of steel billets at Pittsburgh has dropped from $36.00 to $31.00. Lead is off to 5.25 cents from 6.75 cents; zinc to 4.35 from 6.75 cents. Tin prices have dropped from around 47 cents to less than 30 cents. Copper that was selling at 18 cents a year ago and rose in 1929 to 24 cents has fallen until its price is 11 cents a pound. Finished steel prices are off $5.00 a ton, or around 9 per cent from a year ago.

It would be an ill wind that could blow no good to any one. Oil and natural gas are getting the benefit in cheaper pipes. Machinery makers are making favorable offers as a result of low metal prices. One Chicago industrialist was offered not long ago a contract for practically a whole reconstructed plant, with a proviso that he was to receive a discount if metals dropped still lower by delivery time and no increase if the metal prices rose. Continuance of such conditions may result in a wholesale scrapping of machines that are on the borderline of efficiency.

BOARD OF TRADE LISTS SHARES OF ROOT REFINING

The Root Refining company specializes in the manufacture of a high grade "anti-knock" gasoline, and is authorized to manufacture and distribute "Ethyl gas."

The company owns approximately seventy-five acres of land near El Dorado, Ark., on which are located its refineries and buildings, the refinery producing approximately 160,000 gallons of gasoline daily.

New York, July 24.—The share market took a breathing spell today. Leaders of the bull party seemed to feel that it might not be wise to try to force the new advance too rapidly in the face of continued uncertainties on the score of crops and business, so contented themselves with lending just enough support to dam any serious selling movement.

Price trends were generally toward lower levels, although a handful of favorites and any number of lesser lights managed to make some progress against the tide. The net changes for the most part were unimportant. From the looks of things professional speculators continued to dominate the situation, with a backlog of investment demand to take up the slack whenever sound stocks were to be had at concessions.

Yesterday's drastic cut in cattle quotations came as a surprise to the trade, in view of the abnormally small receipts on the market this week. Ar- rivals yesterday totaled only 6,000. The seven leading markets during the first four days show a decrease of nearly 30,000 compared with a week ago.

Losses of 50c were general, hundreds going into the afternoon rounds on even lower bids. Prime weighty beeves sold at $10.65, the day's top, while bulk of best steers sold at $7.50@9.50. Com- mon cattle of all weights entered new low price levels, some lightweights of good merit selling downward to $5.00. Cows and heifers sold 50c to $1.00 under last week's close and $2.50@ 3.00 lower than two weeks ago. Calves sold steadily to lower. Stockers and feeders declined in sympathy with the lower market for other cattle.

Hog Futures Firm.

Trading in hog futures was slow yesterday, but prices were generally firm with the previous session. Sep- tember light and medium grades sold at $10. Despite the erratic condition of the cash trade lately, hog futures have held comparatively firm all week.

Bids made for feeding lambs were attended into October, but none were raised above $7.00. About 3,000 feed- ing lambs of medium wool averaging 70@75 lbs were bid $6.75@7.00 for de- livery any time from August to Oc- tober, inclusive.

Hogs advanced 10@30c on active early trading yesterday, but medium and weighty kinds lost fully half of the gain during the afternoon, when most local interests balked at the up- turn. Top lightweight pork loins moved higher on the wholesale mar- ket, adding zest to demand for hogs averaging 200 lbs and lighter, while a break in heavy kinds strengthened the position of buyers holding back for easily prices late.

Top hogs advanced to $9.70, the highest since Monday, while the gen- eral average gained 15c at $8.80. Al- though the advance estimate at Chi- cago at 18,000 is 6,000 larger than last Friday's supply, the four western mar- kets expect only 25,000, against 31,800 a week ago.

Lambs Sell Steady.

Lambs met only fair demand, but price held steady due to small re- ceipts and fair eastern demand. West- erns were sorted at $9.50@9.75, while only two and wether natives obtained $9.60@9.25. Buck lambs were rejected from load lots and sold at $7.50@8.00 and culls sold largely at $5.00@6.00.

Aged and yearling sheep were sacrce and unchanged. Country demand for feeding lambs continued narrow and only a few of the best changed hands at $8.50@7.00.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 2,000 cattle, 18,000 hogs, and 12,000 sheep, against 1,888 cattle, 1,880 hogs and 10,462 sheep, the pre- vious Friday, and 1,849 cattle, 20,002 hogs and 4,897 sheep a year ago.
